The Kaleidoscopic Lens How Hollywood Views Ethnic Groups:

The Kaleidoscopic Lens Randall M. Miller, 1980 The Kaleidoscopic Lens Randall M. Miller, 1980 Film Theory Philip Simpson, Andrew Utterson, Karen J. Shepherdson, 2004 This major new collection identifies the critical and theoretical concepts which have been most significant in the study of film and presents a historical and intellectual context for the material examined Friend Or Foe? Michael J. Strada, Harold Martin Troper, Harold R. Troper, 1997 During the nearly sixty years of filmmaking the always uneasy and often fractious Soviet American relationship has been mirrored in Hollywood's portrayal of Russians and the Soviet Union Friend or Foe examines the portrayal of the Soviet Union in American film and shows how these films reflect the attitudes of Americans as well as how each portrayal changed with the often uneasy relations between the two countries The authors show how films as rich repositories of national consciousness can be analyzed to reveal time bound insights into popular fears and obsessions History lovers and film buffs will appreciate the tongue in cheek approach to many of the absurdist films Scholars in history film studies and political science will find the depth and breadth of research useful A filmography bibliography and photographs further complement the study

Discourses of Denial Yasmin Jiwani, 2011-11-01 Canada prides itself on being a tolerant and inclusive culture enriched by its official policies of multiculturalism gender equality and human rights Lulled into complacency by these national maxims the public is occasionally shocked by glaring acts of racist and sexist violence brought to their attention by the sensationalist media But nobody pauses to consider the historical antecedents and root causes of these tragedies Discourses of Denial uncovers how racism sexism and violence interweave deep within the foundations of our society Using examples from the lives of immigrant girls and women of colour Yasmin Jiwani considers the way accepted definitions of race and gender shape and influence public consciousness With a perspective both academic and activist she exposes how media representations of violence serve the status quo and fail to tell the whole story about racialized and gendered inequalities In linking race gender and violence Discourses of Denial makes an important contribution to our understanding of the complex and interconnected influences that shape the violence of contemporary social reality and that contour the lives of racialized women This book is of particular relevance to readers interested in the intersection of race gender and violence in our increasingly mediated society America's Asia Colleen Lye, 2009-05-24 What explains the perception of Asians both as economic exemplars and as threats America's Asia explores a discursive tradition that affiliates the East with modern efficiency in contrast to more familiar primitivist forms of Orientalism Colleen Lye traces the American stereotype of Asians as a model minority or a yellow peril two aspects of what she calls Asiatic racial form to emergent responses to globalization beginning in California in the late nineteenth century when industrialization proceeded in tandem with the nation's neocolonial expansion beyond its continental frontier From Progressive efforts to regulate corporate monopoly to New Deal contentions with the crisis of the Great Depression a particular racial mode of social redress explains why turn of the century radicals and reformers united around Asian exclusion and why Japanese American internment during World War II was a liberal initiative In Lye s reconstructed archive of Asian American racialization literary naturalism and its conventions of representing capitalist abstraction provide key historiographical evidence Arguing for the profound influence of literature on policymaking America s Asia examines the relationship between Jack London and leading Progressive George Kennan on U S Japan relations Frank Norris and AFL leader Samuel Gompers on cheap immigrant labor Pearl S Buck and journalist Edgar Snow on the Popular Front in China and John Steinbeck and left intellectual Carey McWilliams on Japanese American internment Lye s materialist approach to the construction of race succeeds in locating racialization as part of a wider ideological pattern and in distinguishing between its different and sometimes opposing historical effects Liesl Frank, Charlotte Dieterle and the European Film Fund Martin Sauter,2012-10-25 Setting out to provide a definitive history of the European Film Fund EFF the purpose of this thesis is as follows first to draw attention to the many exile and refugee organisations by examining one of them the EFF As a study of a refugee organisation founded as a result of Nazism my examination of the EFF not only fills an existing gap in film history as far as the EFF itself is concerned Refugee organisations in general have received scant attention by exile scholars By making one refugee organisation the focus of my inquiry I am also highlighting the presence of women in the topic of exile as two women Liesl Frank wife of the writer Bruno Frank and Charlotte Dieterle wife of the director William Dieterle were at the centre of the EFF My investigation of this organisation demonstrates that women played a much larger role in exile and exile communities than history and literature have thus far accorded them Additionally I show how the political situation after 1933 including apathy by the international community led to the founding of the EFF Lastly by shifting the focus away from figureheads of the migr community to below the line film artists technicians theatre artists and so on I foreground those refugees whose lives have hitherto been obscured by their more famous fellow migr s Unthinking Eurocentrism Ella Shohat,Robert Stam,2013-09-27 This excellent book corrects eurocentric criticism from media studies in the past by examining Hollywood movie genres such as the western and the musical from a multicultural perspective Frank Capra's Eastern Horizons Elizabeth Rawitsch,2014-10-16 Frank Capra has long had a reputation as being the quintessential American director the man who perfectly captured the identity and core values of the United States with a string of classic films in the 1930s and 40s including It Happened One Night Mr Smith Goes to Washington and It s a Wonderful Life However as Elizabeth Rawitsch argues Capra s construction of national identity did not occur within an exclusively national context She points out that many of his films are actually set in or include sequences set in China Latin America the Philippines and the South Seas Featuring in depth textual analysis supported by original archival research Frank Capra s Eastern Horizons explains that Capra s view of what constituted America changed over time extending its boundaries to embrace countries often far from the United States Complicating Edward Said s theory of Orientalism as a strict binary in which the West constructs the East as an inferior other it demonstrates that East and West often intermingle in films such as The Bitter Tea of General Yen and in Capra's orientation documentaries for World War II American servicemen Capra imagined a kind of global community albeit one with heavy undertones of British and American imperialism Investigating shifts in what Capra's America has meant over time both to Capra and to those who have watched and studied his films this innovative book offers a startlingly fresh perspective on one of the most iconic figures in American film history Framing Blackness Ed Guerrero, 2012-06-20 A challenge to Hollywood's one dimensional images of African Americans Native Americans in the Movies Michael Hilger, 2015-10-16 Since the early days of the silent era Native Americans have been captured on film often in unflattering ways Over the decades some filmmakers have tried to portray the Native American on screen with more balanced interpretations to varying degrees of success More recent films such as The New World Flags of Our Fathers and Frozen River have offered depictions of both historical and contemporary Native Americans providing viewers with a range of representations In Native Americans in the Movies Portrayals from Silent Films to the Present Michael Hilger surveys more than a century of cinema Drawing upon his previous work From Savage to Nobleman Hilger presents a thorough revision of the earlier volume The introductory material has not only been revised with updated information and examples but also adds discussions of representative films produced since the mid 1990s Now organized alphabetically the entries on individual films cover all relevant works made over the past century and each entry contains much more information than those in the earlier book Details include film summary nation represented image portrayal production details DVD availability Many of the entries also contain comments from film critics to indicate how the movies were regarded at the time of their theatrical release Supplemented by appendixes of image portrayals representations of nations and a list of made for television movies this volume offers readers a comprehensive and up to date overview of hundreds of films in which Native American characters have appeared on the big screen As such Native Americans in the Movies will appeal not only to scholars of media ethnic studies and history but also to anyone interested in the portrayal of Native Americans in cinema Racism, Sexism, and the Media Clint C. Intolerance Lise Noël, 1994-04-21 Since the sixteenth century intolerance has been defined primarily as the undue condemnation of an opinion or behaviour Liberation movements of the 1960s extended the notion of intolerance to the dimension of identity the oppression of another human being on the basis of what that person is No l argues that comparative analysis of the relationships of domination must therefore focus on all six parameters She analyses these parameters from the perspective of discourse the social production of meaning and finds that the discourse of intolerance validates the most brutal forms of oppression intolerance is the theory and domination and oppression are the practice She finds common patterns from one parameter to another and also from one country to another including Canada the United States Great Britain and France No l attempts to demystify the dominant discourse and to pick apart the logic of the dynamics which intolerance engenders She reveals the shared and distinguishing features of dominated groups examines the nature of relations between dominated groups and the Left and challenges the validity of using concepts such as difference to defend the rights of the oppressed Awarded the Governor General s Award for Non Fiction French in 1989 Intolerance serves as both a practical guide and a theoretical work for activists and those who help define the discourse The Latino/a

H. A. Williams, 1996 The image of the Irish in the United States changed drastically over time from that of hard drinking rioting Paddies to genial patriotic working class citizens In Twas Only an Irishman's Dream William H A Williams traces the change in this image through more than 700 pieces of sheet music popular songs from the stage and for the parlor to show how Americans opinions of Ireland and the Irish went practically from one extreme to the other Because sheet music was a commercial item it had to be acceptable to the broadest possible song buying public Negotiations about their image
