

Inverted Pyramid of Journalism

The diagram is an inverted pyramid divided into three horizontal sections. The top section is the widest, the middle section is narrower, and the bottom section is the narrowest. Each section contains text describing its level of importance in journalism.

Lead: Most critical information, usually the who, what, where, when, and how. Information that must be conveyed in order to make communication successful.

Helpful, though not critical information. Contains additional facts and details that are revealed in order of importance. Information here is useful to an understanding of the story, but can be safely left out and still communicate the main message

Nice, but unnecessary information. Details for those most interested.
