The Invisible City:

The Invisible City Pete Hamill, 2013-02-06 In this collection of thirty four sketches the author captures the extraordinary range of people experiences places and feelings that is New York City the city behind the glamorous facade of Manhattan inhabited by people who remember when this was a great big wonderful town and they were young in its streets These sketches many based on actual incidents take as their subject the smaller dramas of mankind the chance encounters and random episodes that inform one s life often twisting suddenly surprisingly at the end they convey strong feelings in little space Using all of New York as his broad canvas Pete Hamill recreates the baffling array of human emotions from sadness and nostalgia to home and love with affection grace and wry understanding The Invisible City Kyle Gillette, 2020-04-23 The Invisible City explores urban spaces from the perspective of a traveller writer and creator of theatre to illuminate how cities offer travellers and residents theatrical visions while also remaining mostly invisible beyond the limits of attention The book explores the city as both stage and content in three parts Firstly it follows in pattern Italo Calvino's novel Invisible Cities wherein Marco Polo describes cities to the Mongol emperor Kublai Khan to produce a constellation of vignettes recalling individual cities through travel writing and engagement with artworks Secondly Gillette traces the Teatro Potlach group and its ongoing immersive site specific performance project Invisible Cities which has staged performances in dozens of cities across Europe and the Americas The final part of the book offers useful exercises for artists and travellers interested in researching their own invisible cities Written for practitioners travellers students and thinkers interested in the city as site and source of performance The Invisible City mixes travelogue with criticism and cleverly combines philosophical meditations with theatrical pedagogy A Journey into the Invisible City Pasquale De Marco, 2025-05-04 A Journey into the Invisible City is a journey into the invisible city the hidden world of the homeless the mentally ill the addicted and the victims of violence It is a world that exists all around us yet we often fail to see it This book is a collection of essays stories and poems that explore the lives of the people who live in the invisible city It is a book that will open your eyes to the hidden world that exists all around us It is a book that will challenge your assumptions and change your perspective A Journey into the Invisible City is not an easy read It is a book that will make you uncomfortable It is a book that will make you angry But it is also a book that will make you hopeful It is a book that will make you believe in the power of the human spirit The invisible city is a part of our world and we cannot ignore it We must face it head on and work to create a more just and equitable society for all A Journey into the Invisible City is a call to action It is a call to action for all of us to do our part to make the invisible city visible We must all work together to create a world where everyone has a place to belong A world where everyone has a chance to succeed A world where everyone is treated with dignity and respect A Journey into the Invisible City is a powerful and moving book that will stay with you long after you finish reading it It is a book that will change the way you see the world If you like this book write a review on google books The Invisible City Frank Perlin, 1993 These five studies represent a detailed view of monetary production forms of exchange and processes of state formation They uncover the infrastructures of a common life that the author argues stretches across Asia and Europe and underlies all regional and local developments Kinshasa Filip De Boeck, Marie-Françoise Plissart, 2014-03-24 Reading African cities into contemporary theory reprint of a richly illustrated reference work In their internationally acclaimed publication Kinshasa Tales of the Invisible City anthropologist Filip De Boeck and photographer Marie Fran oise Plissart provide a history not only of the physical and visible urban reality that Kinshasa presents today but also of a second invisible city as it exists in the mind and imagination of its inhabitants They bring to light a mirroring reality lurking underneath the surface of the visible world and explore the constant transactions that take place between these two levels in Kinshasa's urban scape With the exhibition that accompanied the release of their Kinshasa book the authors won a Golden Lion at the 11th International Architecture Bienniale in Venice 2004 This beautifully illustrated publication is now again made available Based on longstanding field research it provides insight into local social and cultural imaginaries and thus in the imaginative ways in which local urban subjects continue to make sense of their worlds and invent cultural strategies to cope with the breakdown of urban infrastructure The Invisible City Ihor Bemko, Jerra Jenrette, Joseph Laythe, Sarah Thompson, 2014-01-01 Invisible City John Ingram Gilderbloom, 2008-02 A legendary figure in the realms of public policy and academia John Gilderbloom is one of the foremost urban planning researchers of our time producing groundbreaking studies on housing markets design location regulation financing and community building Now in Invisible City he turns his eye to fundamental questions regarding housing for the elderly the disabled and the poor Why is it that some locales can offer affordable accessible and attractive housing while the large majority of cities fail to do so Invisible City calls for a brave new housing paradigm that makes the needs of marginalized populations visible to policy makers Drawing on fascinating case studies in Houston Louisville and New Orleans and analyzing census information as well as policy reports Gilderbloom offers a comprehensive engaging and optimistic theory of how housing can be remade with a progressive vision While many contemporary urban scholars have failed to capture the dynamics of what is happening in our cities Gilderbloom presents a new vision of shelter as a force that shapes all residents The Idea of the City Joan Fitzpatrick, 2009-05-05 This collection of essays emerges from a two day international conference held at the University of Northampton UK It contains the best of the papers presented by 45 delegates from 12 countries UK India USA Canada Italy France Ireland Australia Romania Japan Germany Portugal involving both established academics and new scholars The collection is divided into three parts Part 1 Medieval and Early Modern Cities Performance and Poetry Part 2 Defining Urban Space the Metropolis and the Provincial and Part 3 Modern and Postmodern Cities Marginal Urban Identities The chapters explore the nature of the modern city in literature history film and culture from its origins in the early modern period to post modern dislocations and considers the city as a context within which literature is created structured and inspired and as a space within which distinct voices and genres emerge Much interest has developed recently on the city and its contexts but there is a tendency to focus on London for example there is the journal Literary London Interdisciplinary Studies in the Representation of London and the annual Literary London Conference a major conference that has run since 2002 This collection fills an important gap in the market by having a truly global focus Joan Fitzpatrick's The Idea of the City represents a fascinating snapshot of the current state of literary urban studies Conference proceedings can often seem diffuse or tokenistic but this collection offers unity on several levels For a start many of the contributors ask similar questions of their material approaching it with an informed awareness of the ways in which the city has been theorised as well as actually traversed from the medieval period to the present While one would expect work of this type and standard from established and widely published scholars such as Pamela Gilbert and Julian Wolfreys it is refreshing to see how new researchers are blending the cartographic with the psychological to raise important questions about the perception analysis and mythologisation of urban and metropolitan space The collection is impressively eclectic ranging from Petrarch's Avignon to modern Los Angeles and from 18th century Lichfield to operatic re imaginings of Venice As I said however the collection is unified at a deep level by the contributors shared interest in city writing and by their conviction that there is a complex relationship between space place and self This means that the book would be of use and interest to those working on individual writers including contemporary novelists such as Niall Griffiths on whom little has yet been published and in the more general areas of urban and cultural studies and critical theory. The collection as a whole allows the reader to revisit the ideas of influential works from the previous decade such as Keith Tester's The Fl neur 1994 Sophie Watson and Katherine Gibson's Postmodern Cities and Spaces 1995 and Susana Onega and John Stotesbury's London in Literature Visionary Mappings of the Metropolis 2002 It is therefore both a useful round up of established ideas from various city centred disciplines and a starting point for the fresh consideration of enduringly suggestive material Dr Nick Freeman Loughborough University Author of Conceiving the City London Literature and Art 1870 1914 In this substantial volume the editor has assembled an international line up of scholars working on the city from the Renaissance to the present This is an important and timely work that has depth as well as breadth Interdisciplinary and cross period collections like this which straddle several historical periods run the risk of appealing only in part to coherent scholarly communities but Dr Fitzpatrick has structured the collection in a way which plays to the strength of critics working within particular periods while clearly displaying the latticework of links between the book s strongly marked sections There is an excellent balance between historical and theoretical readings between textual and contextual approaches and between interventions that are author or text based and those that deal with broader themes and issues The range of contributors is matched by the richness and variety of perspectives I would strongly recommend this book to students working in the early modern period and also to those interested in modern developments It is a comprehensive intelligently organized and richly researched volume that is likely to be well received well reviewed and well read I will certainly be ordering copies for my own University library and including it on reading lists for future courses Professor Willy Maley University of Glasgow The Legend of the Invisible City of Kitesh and the Maiden Fevronia Nikolay Rimsky-Korsakov,1932 the City Vincenzo Ruggiero, 2014-09-19 For 2nd and 3rd year courses in urban sociology sociology of exclusion social stratification planning and cultural studies in departments of sociology and urban geography This book provides an in depth examination of social movements and urban life in European cities today Unique in its interdisciplinary approach it covers traditional areas of urban studies sociological concerns about the concept of change and the characteristics of social movements It presents current theory as well as discursive sections based around empirical work conducted in major European cities including London Paris and Berlin Econometric Advances in Spatial Modelling and Methodology Daniel A. Griffith, C. Amrhein, Jean-Marie Huriót, 2013-04-17 The purpose of models is not to fit the data but to sharpen the questions S Karlin 11th R A Fisher Memorial Lecture Royal Society 20 April 1983 We are proud to offer this volume in honour of the remarkable career of the Father of Spatial Econometrics Professor Jean Paelinck presently of the Tinbergen Institute Rotterdam Not one to model solely for the sake of modelling the above quotation nicely captures Professor Paelinck s unceasing quest for the best question for which an answer is needed His FLEUR model has sharpened many spatial economics and spatial econometrics questions Jean Paelinck arguably is the founder of modem spatial econometrics penning the seminal introductory monograph on this topic Spatial Econometrics with Klaassen in 1979 In the General Address to the Dutch Statistical Association on May 2 1974 in Tilburg he coined the term spatial econometrics to designate a growing body of the regional science literature that dealt primarily with estimation and testing problems encountered in the implementation of multiregional econometric models Anselin 1988 p 7 he already had introduced this idea in his introductory report to the 1966 Annual Meeting of the Association de Science Regionale de Langue Fran aise Architectural Intelligence Molly Wright Steenson, 2022-11-01 Architects who engaged with cybernetics artificial intelligence and other technologies poured the foundation for digital interactivity In Architectural Intelligence Molly Wright Steenson explores the work of four architects in the 1960s and 1970s who incorporated elements of interactivity into their work Christopher Alexander Richard Saul Wurman Cedric Price and Nicholas Negroponte and the MIT Architecture Machine Group all incorporated technologies including cybernetics and artificial intelligence into their work and influenced digital design practices from the late 1980s to the present day Alexander long before his famous 1977 book A Pattern Language used computation and structure to visualize design problems Wurman popularized the notion of information architecture Price designed some of the first intelligent buildings and Negroponte experimented with the ways people experience artificial intelligence even at architectural scale Steenson investigates how these architects pushed the boundaries of architecture and how their technological experiments pushed the boundaries of technology What did computational cybernetic and artificial intelligence researchers have to gain by engaging with architects and architectural problems And what was this new space that emerged within these collaborations At times Steenson writes the architects in this book characterized themselves as anti architects and their work as anti architecture The projects Steenson examines mostly did not result in constructed buildings but rather in design processes and tools computer programs interfaces digital environments Alexander Wurman Price and Negroponte laid the foundation for many of our contemporary interactive practices from information architecture to interaction design from machine learning to smart cities Transgression Julian Wolfreys, 2008-09-26 Julian Wolfreys introduces students to the central concept of transgression showing how to interpret the concept from a number of theoretical standpoints He demonstrates how texts from different cultural and historical periods can be read to examine the workings of transgression and the way in which it has changed over time The Defortification of the German City, 1689-1866 Yair Mintzker, 2012-07-09 In the early modern period all German cities were fortified places Because contemporary jurists have defined city as a coherent social body in a protected place the urban environment had to be physically separate from the surrounding countryside This separation was crucial to guaranteeing the city s commercial political and legal privileges Fortifications were therefore essential for any settlement to be termed a city This book tells the story of German cities metamorphoses from walled to de fortified places between 1689 and 1866 Using a wealth of original sources The Defortification of the German City 1689 1866 discusses one of the most significant moments in the emergence of the modern city the dramatic and often traumatic demolition of the city's centuries old fortifications and the creation of the Space as Storyteller Laura Chiesa, 2016-07-15 Walter Benjamin's Arcades Project suggests that space can open city become a storyteller if so plenty of fleeting stories can be read in the space of modernity where repetition and the unexpected cross pollinate In Space as Storyteller Laura Chiesa explores several stories across a wide range of time that narrate spatial jumps from Benjamin's tangential take on the cityscape the experimentalism of Futurist theatricality the multiple and potential atlases narrated by Italo Calvino and Georges Perec and the posturban thought and practice of Bernard Tschumi and Rem Koolhaas OMA Space as Storyteller diverts attention from isolated disciplines and historical or geographical contexts toward transdisciplinary encounters that mobilize the potential to invent new spaces of comparison a potential the author describes as architecturability Locating Right to the City in the Global South Tony Samara, Shenjing He,Guo Chen,2013-01-04 Despite the fact that virtually all urban growth is occurring and will continue to occur in the cities of the Global South the conceptual tools used to study cities are distilled disproportionately from research on the highly developed cities of the Global North With urban inequality widely recognized as central to many of the most pressing challenges facing the world there is a need for a deeper understanding of cities of the South on their own terms Locating Right to the City in the Global South marks an innovative and far reaching effort to document and make sense of urban transformations across a range of cities as well as the conflicts and struggles for social justice these are generating The volume contains empirically rich theoretically informed case studies focused on the social spatial and political dimensions of urban inequality in the Global South Drawing from scholars with extensive fieldwork experience this volume covers sixteen cities in fourteen countries across a belt stretching from Latin America to Africa and the Middle East and into Asia Central to what binds these cities are deeply rooted complex and dynamic processes of social and spatial division that are being actively reproduced These cities are not so much fracturing as they are being divided by governance practices informed by local histories and political contestation and refracted through or infused by market based approaches to urban development Through a close examination of these practices and resistance to them this volume provides perspectives on neoliberalism and right to the city that advance our understanding of urbanism in the Global South In mapping the relationships between space politics and populations the volume draws attention to variations shaped by local circumstances while simultaneously elaborating a distinctive transnational Southern urbanism It provides indepth research on a range of practical and policy oriented issues from housing and slum redevelopment to building democratic cities that include participation by lower income and other marginal groups It will be of interest to students and practitioners alike studying Urban Studies Globalization and Development Locating Right to the City in the Global South Tony Roshan Samara, Shenjing He, Guo Chen, 2013 Drawing from scholars with extensive fieldwork experience this volume covers sixteen cities in fourteen countries across a belt stretching from Latin America to Africa and the Middle East and into Asia Central to what binds these cities are deeply rooted complex and dynamic processes of social and spatial division that are being actively reproduced These cities are not so much fracturing as they are being divided by governance practices informed by local histories and political contestation and refracted through or infused by market based approaches to urban development Through a close examination of these practices and resistance to them this volume provides perspectives on neoliberalism and right to the city that advance our understanding of urbanism in the Global South City Living Zara Sagan, 2024-10-16 City Living offers a comprehensive exploration of urban existence delving into the practicalities challenges and opportunities of metropolitan life in the 21st century The book examines the intricate balance between urban infrastructure socioeconomic dynamics and environmental sustainability providing readers with a holistic view of modern cities as complex ecosystems Through a blend of historical context case studies and expert insights the book traces the evolution of urban environments from ancient civilizations to today s megacities It highlights how effective city living requires a delicate equilibrium between technological innovation social cohesion and environmental consciousness The narrative progresses from fundamental urban concepts to physical aspects of city living such as housing and transportation before exploring social dynamics and future urban models What sets City Living apart is its interdisciplinary approach connecting urban studies with economics environmental science and public health By combining academic rigor with real world examples and personal narratives the book offers valuable insights for urban professionals policymakers and curious city dwellers alike It not only analyzes current urban challenges but also presents strategies for creating more livable sustainable and equitable urban environments in an era of rapid global urbanization City Intelligible Frank Perlin,2020-03-02 City Intelligible seeks to integrate a transcendental philosophical anthropology of commoditisation before industrialisation with a social and cultural thus empirical anthropology of commodity production and exchange that is global thus inter cultural It treats commodification as a singular and privileged evidence of the universal status of human reasoning and one that grounds the translational character of human exchange throughout the early centuries and yet that simultaneously founds ubiquitous cultural differentiation The book constitutes therefore a refutation of the predominant tendency in the humanities to represent cultural difference as inhibiting the very possibility of effective intercultural translation It treats the factors of economic history as forms of cultural expression but determined in their turn by a continuum of complex societal formation from the very beginnings of intensive agricultural and social settlement It seeks to derive evidence for the universal foundations of human reasoning through analysis of the culture of commoditisation in marrying a thoroughgoing Kantian analysis with the historical evidence an approach aspiring to ground the very concept and possibility of a universal human cultural nature underlying all human differentiation
