The Jewish Novel In The Ancient World:

The Jewish Novel in the Ancient World Lawrence M. Wills, 2015-03-11 Lawrence M Wills here traces the literary evolution of popular Jewish narratives written during the period 200 BCE 100 CE In many ways these narratives were similar to Greek and Roman novels of the same era as well as to popular novels of indigenous peoples within the Roman Empire Yet as a group they demonstrated a variety of novelistic innovations the inclusion of adventurous episodes passages of description and of dialogue concern with psychological motivation and the introduction of female characters Wills focuses on five novels Greek Esther Greek Daniel Judith Tobit and Joseph and Aseneth Drawing on a wide range of theoretical works he delineates the techniques and motifs of the Jewish novel shows how the genre both initiated and distanced itself from nonfictional prose such as historical and philosophical writing discusses its relation to Greco Roman romance and describes the social conditions governing its emergence and reception Wills also places the novels in historical context situating them between the Hebrew Bible on the one hand and subsequent developments in Jewish and Christian literature on the other Wills sees the Jewish novel as a popular form of writing that provided amusement for an expanding audience of Jewish entrepreneurs merchants and bureaucrats In an important sense he maintains it was a product of the novelistic impulse the impulse to transfer oral stories to a written medium to reach a more literate audience

The Jewish Novel in the Ancient World Lawrence Mitchell Wills, 1995 Wills focuses on five novels Greek Esther Greek Daniel Judith Tobit and Joseph and Aseneth Drawing on a wide range of theoretical works he delineates the techniques and motifs of the Jewish novel shows how genre both initiated and distanced itself from nonfictional prose such as historical and philosophical writing discusses its relation to Greco Roman romance and describes the social conditions governing its emergence and reception

The Novel in the Ancient World Gareth L. Schmeling, 2021-12-28 From classics and history to Jewish rabbinic narratives and the canonical and noncanonical gospels of earliest Christianity the relevance of studying the novel of the later classical periods of Greek and Rome is widely endorsed Ancient novels contain insights beyond literary theories and philosophical musings to new sources for understanding the popular culture of antiquity Some scholars in fact refer to ancient novels as alternative histories for they tell history implicitly rather than with the intentional biases of the historian The Novel in the Ancient World surveys the new approaches and insights to the ancient novel and wrestles with issues such as the development transformation and christianization of the novel Spirit inspired versus inspired by the Muses This publication has also been published in hardback please click here for details

Abraham Meets Death Jared Ludlow, 2002-12-01 This book examines the narratives of the two Greek recensions of the

The Literary Construction of the Other in the Acts of the Apostles Mitzi J Smith, 2012-06-28 Mitzi Smith engages the reader in explaining how as in the real world the characterization of the Others is used negatively in the biblical texts Smith shows how the concept of difference is constructed in order to distinguish ourselves from proximate others indeed the other who is most similar to us is most threatening and most problematic The process of Othering or Otherness is a synthetic and political social construct that allows us to create and maintain boundaries between them and us Thus this work demonstrates how proximate characters are constructed as the Other in the Acts of the Apostles Charismatics Jews and women are proximate others who are

Not Bread Alone Nathan MacDonald, 2008-09-25 In ancient Israel the production of food was a basic concern of almost every Israelite Consequently there are few pages in the Old Testament that do not mention food and food provides some of the most important social political and religious symbols in the biblical text Not Bread Alone is the first detailed and wide ranging examination of food and its symbolism in the Old Testament and the world of ancient Israel Many of these symbols are very well known such as the forbidden fruit in the Garden of Eden the abominable pig and the land flowing with milk and honey Nathan MacDonald demonstrates that the breadth biblical symbolism associated with food reaches beyond these celebrated examples providing a collection of interrelated studies that draw on work on food in anthropology or other historical disciplines The studies maintain sensitivity to the literary nature of the text as well as the many historical critical questions that arise when studying it Topics examined include the nature and healthiness of the ancient Israelite diet the relationship between food and memory in Deuteronomy the confusion of food sex and warfare in Judges the place of feasting in the Israelite monarchy the literary motif of divine judgement at the table the use of food in articulating Israelite identity in the post exilic period The concluding chapter shows how some of these Old Testament concerns find resonance in the New Testament

Resurrection in Mark's Literary-Historical Perspective Paul Fullmer, 2007-06-19 Through a careful reading of several ancient texts such as Chariton's Callirhoe Fullmer identifies an ancient storytelling convention with roots in the Homeric tradition in which narratives of death and revival accentuate significant points in a story In Mark's Gospel resurrection narratives accentuate the power of Jesus' ministry Mark 5:21-43 as well as the ironic disloyalty of Jesus' disciples as their failure is first assured Mark 9:14-29 and later realized Mark 16:1-18 The reader of this study will come to appreciate how the irony of the Gospel, a literary feature that is prominent in novelistic literature, is furthered by a novelistic application of the resurrection theme These observations affirm an identification of the genre of the Gospel as novelistic literature The study also examines themes of death and revival in texts of the Hebrew Bible, revealing a recurrent constellation of motifs In these texts Fullmer convincingly traces a prophetic resurrection topos with characteristics that are compared to an epic resurrection topos identified in the Homeric tradition He then demonstrates how the two topoi merge in later novelistic texts of Hellenistic Judaism such as the Gospel of Mark, witnessing to a widespread amalgamation of cultures that characterizes the Hellenistic period This study supports a growing appreciation of the ethnic hybridity of the context that produced Mark's Gospel, contributing to the work of scholars who question an often overdrawn dichotomy between Jewish and Greek culture in the Hellenistic period Moreover, the significant influence of epic non-biblical traditions upon the Gospel becomes manifest without an assertion of direct dependence upon Homeric epic Overall, the study provides a model for the examination of specific themes of the Gospel in light of related ancient literature, which enhances modern understanding and appreciation of Mark's story
