Power proponents advocating economic political and cultural self determination effectively mobilized Memphis's African American youth using an array of moderate and radical approaches to protest and change conditions on their campuses and in the community. While Black Power activism on the coasts and in the Midwest has attracted considerable scholarly attention, much less has been written about the movement's impact outside these hotbeds. In Black Power in the Bluff City, Shirletta J. Kinchen helps redress that imbalance by examining how young Memphis activists like Coby Smith and Charles Cabbage, dissatisfied by the pace of progress in a city emerging from the Jim Crow era, embraced Black Power ideology to confront such challenges as gross disparities in housing, education, and employment, as well as police brutality and harassment. Two closely related Black Power organizations, the Black Organizing Project and the Invaders, became central to the local black youth movement in the late 1960s. Kinchen traces these groups' participation in the 1968 sanitation workers strike, including the controversy over whether their activities precipitated events that culminated in Martin Luther King's assassination, and their subsequent involvement in War on Poverty programs. The book also shows how Black Power ideology drove activism at the historically black LeMoyne Owen College, scene of a 1968 administration building takeover, and at the predominately white Memphis State University, where African American students transformed the campus by creating parallel institutions that helped strengthen black student camaraderie and consciousness in the face of marginalization. Drawing on interviews with activists, FBI files, newspaper accounts from the period, and many other sources, the author persuasively shows not only how an emerging generation helped define the black freedom struggle in Memphis, but also how they applied the tenets of Black Power to shape the broader community. Shirletta J. Kinchen is an assistant professor in the Pan African Studies Department at the University of Louisville.

Primetime 1966-1967 Thom "Beefstew" Shubilla, 2022-05-05 The year 1966 was when many TV viewers all over America discovered the wonders of living in color. The 1966-1967 primetime television lineup was remarkable not only for the legendary shows that aired, but also because it was the first season in which every show on primetime across all three major networks was broadcast entirely in color. Celebrating this iconic year of television, this book covers every scripted episodic show that aired on the ABC, CBS, and NBC networks during the 1966-1967 season in primetime. It includes longtime favorites such as Batman, Bonanza, Voyage to the Bottom of the Sea, and The Lucy Show, and the notable shows that premiered that year such as Star Trek, The Monkees, Green Hornet, Mission Impossible, It's About Time, and the color revival of Dragnet. Organized by genre, each entry examines a show from conception to cancellation, and sometimes beyond, ratings, critical and fan reactions, and the show's use of color.
