The Irish Stone Age Hallam Leonard Movius,1966 The Irish Stone Age Hallam Leonard Movius,1942 The Irish Stone Age Hallam L. Movius,2013-10-10 Originally published in 1942 this book was based upon archaeological fieldwork carried out by the Harvard Archaeological Expedition to Ireland from 1932 to 1936 The aim of the Expedition was to embody in the field three of the techniques of modern anthropology physical anthropology social anthropology and archaeology directed towards research on the same problem the origin and development of the races and cultures of Ireland Numerous illustrative figures and reference lists are also included This book will be of value to anyone with an interest in the prehistory of Ireland archaeology and anthropology The Irish Stone Age, Its Chronology, Development & Relationships Hallam Leonard Movius (jr.),1942 The Irish Stone Age, Its Chronology, Development and Relationship Hallam L. Movius,1969 A History of Settlement in Ireland Terry Barry,2012-11-12 A History of Settlement in Ireland provides a stimulating and thought provoking overview of the settlement history of Ireland from prehistory to the present day Particular attention is paid to the issues of settlement change and distribution within the contexts of environment demography culture The collection goes further by setting the agenda for future research in this rapidly expanding area of academic interest This volume will be essential reading for all those with an interest in the archaeology history and social geography of Ireland

The Early Writings of Harold W. Clark and Frank Lewis Marsh Ronald L. Numbers,2021-10-17 Originally published in 1995 The Early Writings of Harold W Clark and Frank Lewis Marsh is the eighth volume in the Creationism in Twentieth Century America series reissued in 2019 The book is a collection of original writings by the prominent creationist Harold W Clark and the biologist educator and young Earth creationist Frank Lewis Marsh Although both were significant figures in the anti evolutionist movement of the early 20th century unlike other members of the movement both Marsh and Clarke were trained scientists studying under eminent evolutionists of the time Both writers struggled to reconcile new scientific understandings of geology botany and palaeontology supported by Darwin s theory of evolution with their own creationist beliefs in genesis and flood theory Both scientists as such began to develop their own theories of evolution that remained in line with creationist beliefs This compact and unique collection includes the writings of Marsh and Clark from this period featuring some of their well known works on the subject including Back to Creation and Fundamental Biology This volume of original sources will be of interest to academics of religion natural history and historians of the 19th century The Quest for the Irish Celt Mairéad Carew,2018-03-29 The Quest for the Irish Celt is the fascinating story of Harvard University s five year archaeological research programme in Ireland during the 1930s to determine the racial and cultural heritage of the Irish people The programme involved country wide excavations and the examination of prehistoric skulls by physical anthropologists and was complemented by the physical examinations of thousands of Irish people from across the country measuring skulls nose shape and grade of hair colour The Harvard scientists mission was to determine who the Celts were what was their racial type and what element in the present day population represented the descendants of the earliest inhabitants of the island Though the Harvard Mission was hugely influential there were theories of eugenics involved that would shock the modern reader The main adviser for the archaeology was Adolf Mahr Nazi and Director of the National Museum 1934 39 The overall project was managed by Earnest A Hooton famed Harvard anthropologist whose theories regarding biological heritage would now be readily condemned for their racism Mair ad Carew explores this extraordinary archaeological mission examining its historic importance for Ireland and Irish America its landmark findings and the unseemly activities that lay just beneath the surface Ulster Journal of Archaeology ,1954 Beziehungen und Identitäten Gisela Holfter, Marieke Krajenbrink, Edward Moxon-Browne, 2004 Die Hauptthemen dieses Bandes sind Fragen der Identität in Österreich und der Schweiz sowie die Beziehungen zwischen diesen beiden Ländern und Irland Dieser Sammelband der ausgewählten Beiträge der 3 Limericker Konferenz für deutsch-irische Studien 4-6 April 2002 enthält versteht sich als Beitrag zur kontinuierlichen Erkundung und Hinterfragung europäischer Befindlichkeiten und Verbindungen im Wandel der Zeit Gemeinsam ist den genannten Ländern und die Auseinandersetzung mit größeren bisweilen bemerkenswerten Nachbarn welche historisch linguistisch und politisch ihre Spuren hinterlassen Thematisiert werden außerdem literarische Verbindungen Fragen der Mehrsprachigkeit der jeweilige Umgang mit der Neutralität und die facettenreichen Beziehungen die weit in die Vergangenheit zurückreichen The principal themes of the volume are questions of identity in Austria and Switzerland as well as relationships between both these countries and Ireland This volume contains selected contributions to the 3rd Limerick conference in Irish German Studies 4-6 April 2002 The contributors collectively and individually explore and analyse distinctive European mentalities as well as their connections and evolution over time The three countries share the experience of hugely influential and at times overpowering neighbours neutrality in foreign policy and links at many levels that reach far into the past Geographical Review ,1944 The Rise and Fall of Christian Ireland Crawford Gribben, 2021 The Irish experience of Christianity has never been simple or uncomplicated Here Crawford Gribben describes the ancient emergence long dominance sudden division and recent decline of Ireland's most important religion as a way of telling the history of the island and its peoples from earliest times to the present day Ireland's First Settlers Peter Woodman, 2015-12-31 Ireland's First Settlers tells the story of the archaeology and history of the first continuous phase of Ireland's human settlement It combines centuries of search and speculation about human antiquity in Ireland with a review of what is known today about the Irish Mesolithic This is in part provided in the context of the author's 50 years of personal experience searching to make sense of what initially appeared to be little more than a collection of beach-rolled and battered flint tools The story is embedded in how the island of Ireland its position distinct landscape and ecology impacted on when and how Ireland was colonized It also explores how these first settlers evolved their technologies and lifeways to suit the narrow range of abundant resources that were available The volume concludes with discussions on how the landscape should be searched for the often ephemeral traces of these early settlers and how sites should be excavated It asks what we really know about the thoughts and life of the people themselves and what happened to them as farming began to be introduced

Maritime Archaeology on Dry Land Richard Bradley, 2022-05-19 This book is about two islands off the coast of Continental Europe the seas that surrounded them and the ways in which they were used over a period of three thousand years Instead of the usual emphasis on finds in the intertidal zone it focuses on parts of Britain and Ireland where traces of the prehistoric shoreline survive above sea level It explores a series of Neolithic and Early Bronze Age sites which were investigated in the nineteenth and early twentieth centuries and have been largely forgotten These places were very different from the Iron Age ports and harbors studied in recent years How can we identify these special sites and what are the best ways of interpreting them The book considers the evidence for travel by sea between the settlement of the earliest farmers and the long distance movement of metalwork It emphasizes the distinctive archaeology of a series of coastal locations Little of the information is familiar and some of the most useful evidence was recorded many years ago It is supplemented by new studies of these places and the artifacts found there as well as reconstructions of the prehistoric coastline The book emphasizes the important role of enclosed estuaries which were both sheltered harbors and special places where artifacts were introduced by sea Other items were made there and exchanged with local communities It considers the role played by these places in the wider pattern of settlement and their relationship to major monuments The book describes how the character of coastal sites changed in parallel with developments in maritime technology and trade The main emphasis is on Neolithic and Early Bronze Ages uses of the seashore but the archaeology of the Middle and Later Bronze Age provides a source of comparison
