Survey Sampling And Measurement:

Survey Sampling and Measurement N. Krishnan Namboodiri, 2013-09-03 Survey Sampling and Measurement contains the invited papers presented at the Second Symposium on Survey Sampling held at Chapel Hill in April 1977 The volume is divided into seven parts Part I makes a plea towards improving the quality of sample surveys via the creation of a computerized system of information on error estimates associated with the design and execution of surveys It also suggests a realistic agenda for future work in survey sampling practice and theory Part II contains papers dealing with specific methodological problems Part III examines selected problems of analysis of survey data The papers in Part IV deal with nonresponse undercoverage and related problems Part V focuses on time series analysis Part VI discusses applications of sample survey data and methods Part VII addresses the gap between current survey practices and recent theoretical developments It is hoped that this volume will be of interest to survey statisticians as well as to survey data users If it stimulates thoughtful and courageous attack on some of the unresolved problems in survey sampling its mission will have been amply fulfilled Proceedings, 1987

Measuring women's empowerment in national surveys: Development of the Women's Empowerment Metric for National Statistical Systems (WEMNS) Seymour, Greg, Heckert, Jessica, Quisumbing, Agnes R., Meinzen-Dick, Ruth S., Malapit, Hazel J., Paz, Florencia, Faas, Simone, Myers, Emily, Doss, Cheryl, Sinharoy, Sheela S., Cheong, Yuk Fai, Yount, Kathryn M., Hassan, Md. E., Vundru, Wilbert D., Moylan, Heather, 2024-06-03 Monitoring progress toward Sustainable Development Goal SDG 5 achieving gender equality and empowering all women and girls remains challenging unless we incorporate women's empowerment metrics into nationally representative and multi-topic surveys. To address this data gap, we designed the Women's Empowerment Metric for National Statistical Systems (WEMNS) as a streamlined empowerment module suitable for the 50x2030 Initiative, a global partnership that aims to build capacity and close the agricultural data gap in 50 countries by 2030, as well as other large multi-topic surveys. WEMNS measures women's and men's empowerment and is applicable to urban and rural areas and a variety of livelihood strategies, including farming, self-employment, wage labor, across countries in different stages of structural transformation. WEMNS is a counting-based multidimensional index composed of four domains: intrinsic agency, instrumental agency, collective agency, and agency-enabling resources. Each domain is measured with binary indicators derived from question sets in the WEMNS module. In this paper, we describe the development and testing of WEMNS and its components, including: 1) WEMNS's distinctiveness from other empowerment metrics; 2) the iterative approach used to develop and pilot the WEMNS module in Bangladesh, Guatemala, Malawi, and Nepal using cognitive interviewing, phone surveys, and face-to-face surveys; 3) analysis of quantitative pilot data; and 4) a summary of the findings from the cognitive interviewing. The paper concludes with a discussion of lessons learned and possibilities for further development of WEMNS and other empowerment metrics.

Surveying Subjective Phenomena Charles Turner, Elizabeth

Martin, 1985-06-14 In January 1980, a panel of distinguished social scientists and statisticians assembled at the National Academy of Sciences to begin a thorough review of the uses, reliability, and validity of surveys purporting to measure such subjective phenomena as attitudes, opinions, beliefs, and preferences. This review was prompted not only by the widespread use of survey results in both academic and non-academic settings but also by a proliferation of apparent discrepancies in allegedly equivalent measurements and by growing public concern over the value of such measurements. This two-volume report of the panel's findings is certain to become one of the standard works in the field of survey measurement. Volume I summarizes the state of the art of surveying subjective phenomena, evaluates contemporary measurement programs, examines the uses and abuses of such surveys, and candidly assesses the problems affecting them. The panel also offers strategies for improving the quality and usefulness of subjective survey data. In volume II, individual panel members and other experts explore in greater depth particular theoretical and empirical topics relevant to the panel's conclusions. For social scientists and policymakers who conduct, analyze, and rely on surveys of the national state of mind, this comprehensive and current review will be an invaluable resource.

Biometrika D. M. Titterton, 2001

The year 2001 marks the centenary of Biometrika, one of the world's leading academic journals in statistical theory and methodology. In celebration of this, the book brings together two sets of papers from the journal. The first are specially commissioned articles that review the history of the journal and the most important contributions made by papers in the journal to a number of important areas of statistical activity, including general theory and methodology, surveys, and time series.

The second group are a selection of particularly seminal articles from the journal's first hundred years. In the process, these papers give a full description of the general development of statistical science during the twentieth century. Summary of Snow Survey Measurements for Oregon United States.
