Through the Reading Glass Suellen Diaconoff, 2012-02-01 2005 CHOICE Outstanding Academic Title Through the Reading Glass explores the practices and protocols that surrounded women's reading in eighteenth century France Looking at texts as various as fairy tales memoirs historical romances short stories love letters novels and the pages of the new female periodical press Suellen Diaconoff shows how a reading culture one in which books sex and acts of reading were richly and evocatively intertwined was constructed for and by women Diaconoff proposes that the underlying discourse of virtue found in women's work was both an empowering strategy intended to create new kinds of responsible and not merely responsive readers and an integral part of the conviction that domestic reading does not have to be trivial The Concept and Practice of Conversation in the Long Eighteenth Century, 1688-1848 Katie Halsey, Jane Slinn, 2009-05-05 This collection of essays brings together eighteenth century scholars from a variety of disciplines to discuss conversation in the eighteenth century as concept and practice At the heart of the volume is a simple question are eighteenth century conceptualisations of the role and purpose of conversation still relevant or useful to scholars and thinkers today This volume contains essays by leading scholars of the period as well as early career researchers and answers a need for a broad ranging discussion of the concept of conversation in the arts social sciences and humanities The long eighteenth century is a particularly fruitful starting point for work on this topic since ideas about conversation permeated all types of writing in this period from the early forerunners of scientific textbooks to philosophical dialogues The collection covers an exceptionally wide range of long eighteenth century authors artists lawmakers texts and works of art and although the focus of the volume is largely on eighteenth century Britain the volume takes note of the rich relationships between continental European thought and British intellectual life in the period and of the influence of British ideas in the newly independent American republic Emilie Du Châtelet Judith P. Zinsser, Julie Candler Hayes, 2006 Until recently the marquise Du Châtelet 1706 1749 was more remembered as the companion of Voltaire than as an intellectual in her own right While much has been written about his extraordinary output during the years he spent in her company her own work has often been overshadowed This volume brings renewed attention to Du Châtelet's intellectual achievements including her free translation of selections from Bernard Mandeville's Fable of the bees her dissertation on the nature and propagation of fire for the 1738 prize competition of the Académie des sciences the 1740 Institutions de physique and ensuing exchange with the perpetual secretary of the Académie Diderot de Mairan her two volume exegesis of the Bible the translation of and commentary on Isaac Newton's Principia and her semi autobiographical Discours sur le bonheur It is a measure of the breadth of her interests that the contributions to this volume come from experts in a wide range of disciplines comparative literature art history the history of mathematics and science philosophy the history of publishing and translation studies Du Châtelet's partnership with Voltaire is reflected in a number of the essays they borrowed from each other's writings from the discussions they had together and from their shared readings Essays examine representations of her by her contemporaries and posterity that range from her inclusion in a German portrait gallery of learned men and women to the scathing portrait in Fran oise de Graffigny s correspondence and nineteenth century accounts coloured by conflicted views of the ancien r gime Other essays offer close readings of her work and set her activities and writings in their intellectual and social contexts Finally they speculate on the ways in which she presented herself and what that might tell us about the challenges and possibilities facing an exceptional woman of rank and privilege in eighteenth century society

Educating the Child in Enlightenment Britain Mary Hilton,Jill Shefrin,2009
