Receptive Ecumenism and the Call to Catholic Learning Paul Murray, 2010-05-06 This volume proposes a fresh strategy for ecumenical engagement Receptive Ecumenism that is fitted to the challenges of the contemporary context and has already been internationally recognised as making a distinctive and important new contribution to ecumenical thought and practice Beyond this the volume tests and illustrates this proposal by examining what Roman Catholicism in particular might fruitfully learn from its ecumenical others Challenging the tendency for ecumenical studies to ask whether explicitly or implicitly What do our others need to learn from us this volume presents a radical challenge to see ecumenism move forward into action by highlighting the opposite question What can we learn with integrity from our others This approach is not simply ecumenism as shared mission or ecumenism as problem solving and incremental agreement but ecumenism as a vital long term programme of individual communal and structural conversion driven like the Gospel that inspires it by the promise of conversion into greater life and flourishing The aim is for the Christian traditions to become more not less than they currently are by learning from or receiving of each other's gifts The 32 original essays that have been written for this unique volume explore these issues from a wide variety of denominational and disciplinary perspectives drawing together ecclesiologists professional ecumenists sociologists psychologists and organizational experts A Survival Guide for Ecumenically Minded Christians Thomas Ryan, 1989 Systematic Theology Francis Schussler Fiorenza, John P. Ryan, 1993 Offering sage advice and practical guidelines Ryan shows how we can integrate the emotional physical and intellectual aspects of our lives into a relationship with God While based firmly on Christian tradition this book also draws enrichment wisdom and insight from other world religions bringing them to bear on Christian faith and practices Foreword by Henri Nouwen Being a Christian in Igbo Land Eze Ikechukwu, 2013 It is not always a comfortable position to question the position of a good majority However it is known that the majority can sometimes be wrong or see things differently It takes courage and a particularly critical mind to question the depth of the Christian Faith in a land seen as the future of Christianity in Africa As a Priest with some pastoral experience both in Africa and in Europe the Author is at home with the subject matter in this book He accepts the fact of the growing numbers in the churches but questions the depth of conviction in the face of the problems arising from the clash of values between Christian Faith and Igbo Traditional Religion He maintains that if God saw enough reasons to create men differently and revealed himself differently to them he God accepts that men have different understandings of his relationship with them and that they may relate with him using what is available to them their Culture and Tradition
