The Architect Reconstructing Her Practice:

The Architect Francesca Hughes, 1996 The Architect Reconstructing Her Practice examines how the introduction of women to the main body of architecture might bring about a reconstruction of the orders that pervade architectural production and consumption At a moment when the architectural profession is beginning to shift from its traditionally male domination The Architect Reconstructing Her Practice examines how the introduction of women to the main body of architecture might bring about a reconstruction of the orders that pervade architectural production and consumption In a collection of autobiographical essays in which practice is both the site and the vehicle for change twelve American and European architects reflect on the nature of critical practice and its relation to architecture The contributors were chosen not only for the distinguished quality of their work but also for the range of architectural practices they collectively encompass from the intersection of theory and philosophy to the intersection of building process and industry Together they present a compelling and provocative critique of architectural culture All show a willingness to transgress the various mediums and territories of architecture to recover and reopen certain discussions lost in the architectural discourse they have inherited

Women, Practice, Architecture Naomi Stead, 2016-01-08 The image of the architect is undeniably gendered While the male architect might be celebrated as the ideal man in Hollywood romantic comedies blessed with practicality and creativity in equal measure to impeccable taste and an enviable lifestyle the image of the woman architect is not so clear cut While women have been practicing and excelling in architecture for more than a hundred years their professional identity as constructed in the media is complex and sometimes contradictory This book explores the working lives and aspirations of women in architectural practice but more than this it explores how popular media newspapers magazines and websites serve to define and describe who a woman architect should be what she should look like and how she should behave Looking further into the way that professional characteristics are reinforced through awards like the Pritzker Prize the book demonstrates how idealised characteristics such as sensitivity and vision are seen to be neither entirely masculine nor feminine but instead a complex hybrid owing much to historic concepts of genius Drawing on history sociology media analysis and feminist theories of architectural practice the book will be of interest to all of those who seek to better understand the image and identity of the architect This book was published as a double special issue of Architectural Theory Review

Architecture and Feminisms Hélène Frichot, Catharina Gabrielsson, Helen Runting, 2017-11-10 Set against the background of a general crisis that is environmental political and social this book examines a series of specific intersections between architecture and feminisms understood in the plural The collected essays and projects that make up the book follow transversal trajectories that criss cross between ecologies economies and technologies exploring specific cases and positions in relation to the themes of the archive control work and milieu This collective intellectual labour can be located amidst a worldwide depletion of material resources a hollowing out of political power and the degradation of constructed and natural environments Feminist positions suggest ways of ethically coping with a world that is becoming increasingly unstable and contested The many voices gathered here are united by the task of putting critical concepts and feminist design tools to use in order to offer experimental approaches to the creation of a more habitable world Drawing inspiration from the active archives of feminist precursors existing and re imagined and by way of a re engagement in the histories theories and projected futures of critical feminist projects the book presents a collection of twenty three essays and eight projects with the aim of taking stock of our current condition and re engaging in our precarious environment worlds

Design and Feminism Joan Rothschild,Alethea Cheng,1999 The distinction between the spaces considered public and private or work and home is becoming more blurred Our streets parks dwellings and tools are designed to a one size fits all standard and the responses of the design community to meet diverse needs have been mixed at best Design and Feminism offers feminist critiques of these inadequate design standards and suggest ideas projects and programs for change

Architecture and the Public Good Tom Spector,2021-06 Why has explaining the value of the architecture profession proven so difficult The architecture profession can be well defended by demonstrating the public good which results from its protected practice Although the book believes in this approach this approach immediately raises the thorny questions of just who is the public and what is its good To answer these questions to explain why the profession has done a poor job explaining itself and to propose a fresh perspective are the challenges set out in this book The book dissects the internal weaknesses and external forces which have prevented architects from asserting their value to the public explains how the concept of the public is itself widely misunderstood investigates the shifting boundaries of the public and private realms and proposes a series of measures by which we can assess and improve an architectural work s publicness Through a renewed focus on the public good that everyday architects are capable of as a profession the book charts an ultimately optimistic program for the architecture profession s renewal

The Figure of Knowledge Sebastiaan Loosen,Rajesh Heynickx,Hilde Heynen,2020-10-01 It is a major challenge to write the history of post WWII architectural theory without boiling it down to a few defining paradigms An impressive anthologising effort during the 1990s charted architectural theory mostly via the various theoretical frameworks employed such as critical theory critical regionalism deconstructivism and pragmatism Yet the intellectual contours of what constitutes architectural theory have been constantly in flux It is therefore paramount to ask what kind of knowledge has become important in the recent history of architectural theory and how the resulting figure of knowledge sets the conditions for the actual arguments made The contributions in this volume focus on institutional geographical rhetorical and other conditioning factors They thus screen the unspoken rules of engagement that postwar architectural theory ascribed to

Women in Scandinavian Landscape Architecture Svava Riesto,Henriette Steiner,2024-12-02 Women were active in landscape architecture in Scandinavia throughout the twentieth century yet little is known about their contribution This volume therefore asks where are the women in Scandinavian landscape architecture It thus presents new knowledge about women's contributions to the shaping of modern cities and landscapes in the Scandinavian welfare states. With chapters by some of the most respected architectural and landscape architectural historians as well as up and coming scholars and practice based artistic researchers the book makes three major contributions. First it asks the previously neglected question of women's contributions to twentieth century landscape architecture in Denmark, Sweden and Norway. Second it does so from a transnational perspective bringing together researchers from Scandinavia and Finland. Third it documents how collaborative formats for knowledge creation can generate new insights and fruitful links between researchers and research materials. The book brings to light new knowledge and new forms of architectural historical work on the contributions of many women landscape architects to designed open spaces. Feminist Practices Lori A. Brown, 2016-04-15. Women continue to be extremely under represented in the architectural profession. Despite equal numbers of male and female students entering architectural studies there is at least 17-25% attrition of female students and not all remaining become practicing architects. In both the academic and the professional fields of architecture positions of power and authority are almost entirely male and as such the profession is defined by a heterosexual Eurasian male perspective. This book argues that it is vital for all architectural students and practitioners to be exposed to a diversity of contemporary architectural practices as this might provide a first step into broadening awareness and transforming architectural engagement. It considers the relationships between feminist methodologies and the various approaches toward design and their impact upon our understanding and relationship to the built environment. In doing so this collection challenges two conventional ideas: firstly the definition of architecture and secondly what constitutes a feminist practice. This collection of up and coming female architects and designers uses a wide range of local and global examples of their work to question different aspects of these two conventional ideas. While focusing on feminist perspectives the book offers insights into many different issues, concerns and interpretations of architecture, proposing through these types of engagement architecture can become more culturally, politically and environmentally relevant. This next generation of architects claim feminism as their own and through doing so help define what feminism means and how it is evolving in the 21st century.

Mediated Messages Véronique Patteeuw, Léa-Catherine Szacka, 2018-06-14. Mediated Messages presents a collection of original writing exploring the role played by the media in the development of postmodern architecture in the 1970s and 80s. The book's twelve chapters and case studies examine a range of contemporary periodicals and exhibitions to explore their role in the postmodern. This focus on mediation as a key feature of architectural post modernism and the recognition that post modernism grew out of developments in the media opens up the possibility of an important new account of post modernism distinct from existing narratives. Accompanied by a contextualizing introduction the essays are arranged across four thematic sections covering images, international postmodernisms, high and low culture and postmodern architects as theorists and present a range of case studies with a genuinely international scope. Altogether this work makes a substantial contribution to the historical account of architectural postmodernism and will be of great interest to researchers in postmodernism as well as those examining the role of the media in architectural history Julia Kristeva Joanne Morra, 2005-08-11 First published in 1998 Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis an informa company
