Successful Prevention and Youth Development Programs Laura Ferrer-Wreder, Håkan Stattin, Carolyn Cass Lorente, Jonathan G. Tubman, Lena Adamson, 2012-02-02 From a European Perspective This book charts territory that is profoundly important and yet rarely fully understood The authors have attempted a task that has relevance to the widest possible range of professionals working with children and adolescents In describing and assessing the fields prevention and promotion they have performed an immense service to researchers in this field but also to practitioners across the spectrum from mental health nurses and doctors to teachers and psychologists from social work professionals to psychiatrists and youth counselors There are two other key elements that should be emphasized from the outset The first is that the approach in this book is truly multi disciplinary with the authors making a genuine attempt to draw upon knowledge and practice derived from all the relevant disciplines The second element which makes this book so important is that the authors have worked across countries to ensure that work in the field of intervention from both North America and from Europe should be included This is as welcome as it is refreshing There appear to be so many barriers to true collaboration between the two continents and so many examples of either North American to what is going on across the or European social scientists appearing blind border that the approach taken here should be wholeheartedly commended This book is essentially a review but a rather special review Resources in Education ,1999-10

School Success for At-Risk Students Therese M. Cumming,Cathi Draper Rodriguez,2018-09-06 School Success for At Risk Students A Culturally Responsive Tiered Approach introduces a model that incorporates cultural responsiveness into the familiar three tiered model of behavioural and academic support The model is designed to modify learning environments to support all students identify students at risk and provide a continuum of supports for those who need it The characteristics outcomes and support needs of at risk students are explored in detail These students include those with disabilities those who are English language learners refugees indigenous LGBT students from low SES backgrounds and those who are involved with the juvenile justice or out of home care systems The concepts of cultural responsiveness and competence are defined and discussed then incorporated into a framework that includes the Response to Intervention and Positive Behavioural Interventions and Supports frameworks This revised framework is investigated in regards to theory research and practice The importance of cultural competence for at risk students and ways to improve this in schools are suggested This book is a necessary companion for educators and researchers who have an interest in exploring the nature and context of educating at risk students from the perspective of a culturally responsive multi tiered system of support It will also be of interest to a wide range of individuals working in education with at risk youth including preservice and veteran teachers leadership teams school psychologists and school counsellors as well as teacher educators
