Philip Janzen, 2025-05-02 In An Unformed Map Philip Janzen traces the intellectual trajectories of Caribbean people who joined the British and French colonial administrations in Africa between 1890 and 1930 Caribbean administrators grew up in colonial societies saw themselves as British and French and tended to look down on Africans Once in Africa however they were doubly marginalized excluded by Europeans and unwelcome among Africans This marginalization was then reproduced in colonial archives where their lives appear only in fragments Drawing on sources beyond the archives of empire from dictionaries and language exams to a suitcase full of poems Janzen considers how Caribbean administrators reckoned with the profound effects of assimilation racism and dislocation As they learned African languages formed relationships with African intellectuals and engaged with African cultures and histories they began to rethink their positions in the British and French empires They also created new geographies of belonging across the Atlantic foundations from which others imagined new political horizons Ultimately Janzen offers a model for reading across sources and writing history in the face of archival fragmentation

Verbal-Visual Configurations in Postcolonial Literature Birgit Neumann, Gabriele Rippl, 2020-04-23 Examining a range of contemporary Anglophone texts this book opens up postcolonial and transcultural studies for discussions of visibility and vision It argues that the preoccupation with visual practices in Anglophone literatures addresses the power of images vision and visual aesthetics to regulate cultural visibility and modes of identification in an unevenly structured world The representation of visual practices in the imaginative realm of fiction opens up a zone in which established orders of the sayable and visible may be revised and transformed In 12 chapters the book examines narrative fiction by writers such as Michael Ondaatje Derek Walcott Salman Rushdie David Dabydeen and NoViolet Bulawayo who employ word image relations to explore the historically fraught links between visual practices and the experience of modernity in a transcultural context Against this conceptual background the examination of verbal visual relations will illustrate how Anglophone fiction models alternative modes of representation that reflect critically on hegemonic visual regimes and reach out for new more pluralized forms of exchange     Parametric and Feature-Based CAD/CAM Jami J.
