US Army Military History Institute

The Army On The Powder River:

The Army on the Powder River Robert A. Murray, 1972-01-01 Morning Star Dawn Jerome A. Greene, 2003 From a recognized authority on the High Plains Indians wars comes this narrative history blending both American Indian and U S Army perspectives on the attack that destroyed the village of Northern Cheyenne chief Morning Star Of momentous significance for the Cheyennes as well as the army this November 1876 encounter coming exactly six months to the day after the Custer debacle at the Little Bighorn was part of the Powder River Expedition waged by Brigadier General George Crook against the Indians Vital to the larger context of the Great Sioux War the attack on Morning Star s village encouraged the eventual surrender of Crazy Horse and his Sioux followers Unbiased in its delivery Morning Star Dawn offers the most thorough modern scholarly assessment of the Powder River Expedition It incorporates previously unsynthesized data from the National Archives the Library of Congress the U S Army Military History Institute and other repositories and provides an examination of all facets of the campaign leading to and following the destruction of Morning Star s village Powder River Paul L. Hedren, 2016-05-31 The Great Sioux War of 1876 77 began at daybreak on March 17 1876 when Colonel Joseph J Reynolds and six cavalry companies struck a village of Northern Cheyennes Sioux allies thereby propelling the Northern Plains tribes into war The ensuing last stand of the Sioux against Anglo American settlement of their homeland spanned some eighteen months playing out across more than twenty battle and skirmish sites and costing hundreds of lives on both sides and many millions of dollars And it all began at Powder River Powder River Disastrous Opening of the Great Sioux War recounts the wintertime Big Horn Expedition and its singular great battle along with the stories of the Northern Cheyennes and their elusive leader Old Bear Historian Paul Hedren tracks both sides of the conflict through a rich array of primary source material including the transcripts of Reynolds s court martial and Indian recollections The disarray and incompetence of the war s beginnings officers who failed to take proper positions disregard of orders to save provisions failure to cooperate and abandonment of the dead and a wounded soldier in many ways anticipated the catastrophe that later occurred at the Little Big Horn Forty photographs many previously unpublished and five new maps detail the action from start to ignominious conclusion Hedren s comprehensive account takes Powder River out of the shadow of the Little Big Horn and reveals how much this critical battle tells us about the army s policy and performance in the West and about the debacle soon to follow The Army's Sioux Campaign of 1876 Major Mark V. Hoyt, 2015-11-06 During the first half of 1876 the Army conducted three expeditions against the Sioux and Cheyenne Indians The results of these three expeditions were the first expedition destroying a small village the second expedition being defeated in a meeting engagement and the third expedition suffering the annihilation of five companies The results lead to questioning the Army s focus on attacking and destroying villages as the primary target of their expeditions If the Army had a complete understanding of the Sioux they would have realized that the hub of all power or center of gravity of the Sioux was the horse which every major aspect of Sioux life was augmented and dependent upon The first three expeditions of the Sioux Campaign of 1876 demonstrate that senior Army commanders planned their campaigns expeditions and organizations around their knowledge of Sioux mobility the primary source of power for the Sioux warrior was mobility gained from the horse Army forces could not bring their advantage in firepower to bear on Sioux warriors Army commanders understood the mobility of the Sioux village and their warriors but they failed to take the next step challenging the old assumption that attacking villages and using a strategy of exhaustion was the correct way to subdue the Sioux Instead Army forces should have concentrated their attacks on center of gravity of the Sioux the horse Powder River, Oreg United States.
