Cognition and the Built Environment Ole Möystad, 2017-12-12 Cognition and the Built Environment argues that interacting with our built environment as users and as architects is a cognitive process It claims that architecture in its form and meaning is a basic embodied level of human cognition The assumption is that we and our built environment together form an intelligent system a cognitive feedback loop between us and the world of which we are part With this as a vantage point the book discusses the meaning and intelligence of concrete architectural environments as well as the agency of the architect of his client and of the user The inquiry oscillates between abstract thought topological models and cognitive semiotics between pragmatist philosophy and the professional practice of planning cities developing projects and using objects Architecture serves more complex purposes than our caves paths and landmarks did Written for students and academics of urban design urban planning and architectural theory Cognition and the Built Environment argues that human cognition feeds on the interaction between thought agency and built environment and that architecture is the spatial form of this interaction

Materials for Architects and Builders Arthur R. Lyons, 2007 Materials for Architects and Builders provides an introduction to a wide range of building materials It explains in detail the manufacture key physical properties specification and uses of the standard building products everything a student would need to know The book also describes many recent technological innovations and rediscovered materials reflecting an increased concern for environmental issues within the Industry This new edition has been completely updated to reflect the amended Building Regulations the latest British and European Standards as well as incorporating current advice and information from the Building Research Establishment Dr Arthur Lyons is a teacher fellow and principal lecturer in building materials at the Leicester School of Architecture within the Faculty of Art and Design at De Montfort University UK He has taught the subject of building materials for thirty five years to a wide range of students within the built environment disciplines The text covers the widest range of materials from standard
