Social Psychological Perspectives on Stigma John B. Pryor, Arjan E. R. Bos, 2016-04-08 The year 2013 marks the 50th anniversary of the publication Erving Goffman's landmark work Stigma: Notes on the Management of Spoiled Identity Through this edited volume we commemorate the continuing contribution of Goffman's work on stigma to social psychology As Goffman originally used the term stigma implies some sort of negative deviance or in his words an undesired differentness from what we had anticipated Since Goffman's pioneering treatise there have been thousands of articles published on different aspects of stigma The accelerating volume of articles is testimony to the growing importance of stigma research with almost three out of four of the stigma related publications in the research literature appearing in the last 10 years In this volume a collection of up and coming and seasoned stigma researchers provide both theoretical insights and new empirical findings The volume should be of interest to both established researchers and advanced students seeking to learn more about the depth and breadth of stigma research This book was originally published as a special issue of Basic and Applied Social Psychology

Social Resilience in the Neoliberal Era Peter A. Hall, Mich Le Lamont, 2013-04-22 What is the impact of three decades of neoliberal narratives and policies on communities and individual lives What are the sources of social resilience This book offers a sweeping assessment of the effects of neoliberalism the dominant feature of our times It analyzes the ideology in unusually wide ranging terms as a movement that not only opened markets but also introduced new logics into social life integrating macro level analyses of the ways in which neoliberal narratives made their way into international policy regimes with micro level analyses of the ways in which individuals responded to the challenges of the neoliberal era The product of ten years of collaboration among a distinguished group of scholars it integrates institutional and cultural analysis in new ways to understand neoliberalism as a syncretic social process and to explore the sources of social resilience across communities in the developed and developing worlds

Coping with Prejudice Paul A. Holloway, 2009 Modern social psychology has devoted a significant share of its resources to the study of human prejudice Most research to date has focused on those groups that exhibit prejudice However a number of recent studies have begun to investigate prejudice from the perspective of its targets These studies have shown prejudice to be a powerful stressor that places unique and costly demands on its targets They have also identified a number of strategies that targets of prejudice use to cope with their predicaments These findings hold real promise for scholars of early Christianity for not only were early Christians frequently the targets of religious prejudice they were to become its perpetrators soon enough but much of what they wrote sought either directly or indirectly to address this problem In this study Paul A Holloway applies the findings of social psychology to the early Christian pseudepigraphon known as 1 Peter He argues that 1 Peter marks one of the earliest attempts by a Christian author to craft a more or less comprehensive response to anti Christian prejudice and its outcomes Unlike later Apologists however who also wrote in response to anti Christian prejudice the author of 1 Peter does not seek to influence directly the thoughts and actions of those hostile to Christianity but writes instead for his beleaguered coreligionists consoling them in their suffering and advising them on how to cope with popular prejudice and the persecution it engendered
