Sámi Peoples of the North Neil Kent, 2019-03-01 There is no single volume that encompasses an integrated social and cultural history of the Sámi people from the Nordic countries and northwestern Russia Neil Kent s book fills this lacuna In the first instance he considers how the Sámi homeland is defined its geography climate and early contact with other peoples He then moves on to its early chronicles and the onset of colonisation which changed Sámi life profoundly over the last millennium Thereafter the nature of Sámi ethnicity is examined in the context of the peoples among whom the Sámi increasingly lived as well as the growing intrusions of the states who claimed sovereignty over them The Soviet gulag the Lapland War and increasing urbanisation all impacted upon Sámi life Religion too played an important role from pre historic times with their pantheon of gods and sacred sites to their Christianisation In the late twentieth century there has been an increasing symbiosis of ancient Sámi spiritual practice with Christianity Recently the intrusions of the logging and nuclear industries as well as tourism have come to redefine Sámi society and culture Even the meaning of who exactly is a Sámi is scrutinised at a time when some intermarry and yet return to Sámi where their children maintain their Sámi identity

Peltto, 1960 Running with Reindeer Roger Took, 2008-11-10 Russian Lapland a region of amazing contrasts Here lies the last true wilderness of Europe a rich and pristine ecosystem teeming with bird and animal life But here too lie the dark satanic mills of the former Soviet Union and the rotting remnants of nuclear submarines Running with Reindeer is the first account in over a century to describe life in this harsh but beautiful land Living among remote reindeer herding and hunting families Roger Took spends a decade following the lives and traditions of the indigenous Lapps or Saami He meets pioneering villagers descended from medieval Novgorod fur traders who are now learning to cope with the new economy and the men and women originally forced north to mine Russian Lapland's fabulous mineral wealth but are now unemployed and stranded Avoiding the still vigilant security services he explores the naval bases where nuclear powered submarines are lying dangerously neglected His encounters with the land and its inhabitants are dramatic and comical as well as emotionally disturbing and physically dangerous Moving between the lines of the official histories coping with arduous Arctic conditions he writes compellingly offering a vivid account of a unique part of Europe Ecosystems G. Marcuzzi, 2012-12-06 There are many works written in several European languages on general animal and more especially vegetational ecology but the space devoted to the study and description of the various ecosystems both terrestrial and aquatic of Europe is very limited and this even in the books of European workers Indeed today we are in the strange position that while some extra European continents or parts of continents such as South Africa the west part of South American Australia the arid zones of the Old World not to mention Antarctica that recently has attracted the attention of a great number of students have been very thoroughly studied and illustrated for European ecosystems we have very scant information if we make allowance for the many analytical works on single natural or artificial environments generally belonging to Central or Northern Europe We have a beautiful book on the animal ecology of Palestine today comprising Israel plus Jordan written in the mid thirties by Bodenheimer However Palestine does not belong to Europe although some of the ecological and geographical peculiarities of the western part of the country do correspond very closely to those of Southern Europe The Human Biology of Circumpolar Populations F. A. Milan, 1980-02-07 This study elucidates the biological and behavioural processes leading to the successful adaptation of circumpolar human populations

Nomadic and Indigenous Spaces Judith Miggelbrink, Joachim Otto Habeck, Nuccio Mazzullo, Peter Koch, 2016-05-06

This volume is devoted to aspects of space that have thus far been largely unexplored. How space is perceived and cognised has been discussed from different stances but there are few analyses of nomadic approaches to spatiality. Nor is there a sufficient number of studies on indigenous interpretations of space despite the importance of territory and place in definitions of indigeneity. At the intersection of geography and anthropology the authors of this volume combine general reflections on spatiality with case studies from the Circumpolar North and other nomadic settings. Spatial perceptions and practices have been profoundly transformed by new technologies as well as by new modes of social and political interaction. How do these changes play out in the everyday lives, identifications and political projects of nomadic and indigenous people? This question has been broached from two seemingly divergent stances: spatial cognition on the one hand and production of space on the other. Bringing these two approaches together, this volume re-aligns the different strings of scholarship on spatiality, making them applicable and relevant for indigenous and nomadic conceptualizations of space, place and territory.

Pastoralism in the New Millennium Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, 2001-01-01. Pastoralism refers to the type of farming system which uses extensive grazing on grasslands for livestock production. This type of farming covers 25 per cent of the world's land area and supports 20 million households. It makes substantial contributions to the economies of developing countries although agricultural encroachment, conflict and drought continue to erode this way of life. This publication considers key policy issues and trends involved in attempts to improve the livelihoods of pastoralist families and communities. The Magdalenian Household Ezra Zubrow, Françoise Audouze, James G. Enloe, 2010-09-01. A comprehensive investigation of household life during the Upper Paleolithic era. What was home and family like in Paleolithic Europe? How did mobile hunter-gatherer families live, work and play together in the fourteenth millennium BP? What were the functional and spatial constraints and markers of their domesticity, the processes that create and sustain a household? Despite the long recognized absence of comprehensive archaeological data on such ancient homes and hearths, the archaeologists in this volume begin unraveling the domesticity of the Upper Paleolithic by drawing on both an immense trove of new material evidence and comparative site data and a range of incisive and illuminating ethnographic analogies, theoretical models and simulations. Five Late Magdalenian sites from the Paris Basin and one later Azilian site provide striking evidence of well-preserved camps of short duration situated on valley bottoms and buried by gentle floods. Of particular interest and value is the site of Verberie, rich in lithic tools, faunal remains, hearths and other indicators of spatial organization which has been excavated continuously for twenty-six years by the same director and provides an unparalleled source of information on Paleolithic domesticity. The first group of essays and reports look at the technology and demographic evidences of domesticity; the second set seeks clues to the spatial patterning of Paleolithic households while the final essays draw on ethnographic analogies to reconstruct and interpret gendered divisions of labor, perishable technologies and other activities.

not directly recognizable from archaeological remains The Magdalenian Household should be required reading for anyone with an interest in Upper Palaeolithic behaviour and the evolution of the use of space Antiquity because of the excellent syntheses of especially the long term high quality research at Verberie this book should be in the collections of all institutions with serious interests in Upper Paleolithic prehistory Journal of Anthropological Research One World Anthropology and Beyond Martin Porr, Niels Weidtmann, 2023-07-31 This volume offers a multidisciplinary engagement with the work of Tim Ingold Involved in a critical long term exploration of the relationships between human beings organisms and their environment Ingold has become one of the most influential innovative and prolific writers in anthropology in recent decades His work transcends established academic and disciplinary boundaries and his thinking continues to have a significant impact on numerous areas of research and other intellectual and artistic spheres The contributions to this book are drawn from several fields including social anthropology archaeology rock art studies philosophy and science and technology studies The chapters critically engage with Ingold s approaches and ideas in relation to a variety of case studies that include the exploration of Australian rock art electricity in Pakistan Spanish farmhouses and sensory dimensions of educational practices Emphasising the importance of dialogue and debate there is also a response to the contributions by Tim Ingold himself The volume will appeal to a wide range of audiences and provide new avenues of theoretically informed anthropological exploration into the many realities and expressions of human life
