Te Maori Treasures Of The Maori:

Te Māori Brian Brake, 1986 Te Maori came out of exhibition of the same name which took New York by storm during the late 1980s The historic artefacts in this book demonstrate the power and the beauty of Maori art and include canoe prows doorways clubs tiki pendants masks amulets and boxes This book has been out of print for four years it contains 37 taonga Maori of importance beauty and mana Maori Treasures of New Zealand Paul Tapsell, Krzysztof Pfeiffer, Ron D. Crosby, 2006 Unless otherwise specified all written material has been produced by the author Paul Tapsell and all photographic work by Krzysztof Pfeiffer T p verso Tikanga Māori Sidney M. Mead, Hirini Moko Mead, 2003 Relationships between and among people need to be managed and guarded by some rules Professor Hirini Moko Mead s comprehensive survey of tikanga Maori Maori custom is the most substantial of its kind every published Ranging over topics from the everyday to the esoteric it provides a breadth of perspectives and authoritative commentary on the principles and practice of tikanga Maori past and present Exhibiting Maori Conal McCarthy, 2024-11-01 This richly illustrated book presents a comprehensive assessment of the display of Maori culture from the nineteenth century to today In doing so Exhibiting Maori traces the long journey from curio to specimen artefact art and taonga treasure Drawing on extensive and groundbreaking research Exhibiting Maori reveals for the first time the remarkable story of Maori resistance to involvement in and eventual capture of the display of their culture Ranging across museums world fairs fine art and tourism Exhibiting Maori fuses museum studies anthropology and visual and material culture to uncover a history of active Maori engagement with the colonial culture of display Maori treasures from the Museum of New Zealand Te Papa Tongarewa Museum of New Zealand, 2007 Historical Dictionary of Polynesia Robert D. Craig, 2011 The term Polynesia refers to a cultural and geographical area in the Pacific Ocean bound by what is commonly referred to as the Polynesian Triangle which consists of Hawai i in the north New Zealand in the southwest and Easter Island in the southeast Thousands of islands are scattered throughout this area most of which are currently included in one of the modern island states of American Samoa Cook Islands French Polynesia Hawai i New Zealand Samoa Tonga Tokelau Tuvalu and Wallis and Futuna The third edition of the Historical Dictionary of Polynesia greatly expands on the previous editions through a chronology an introductory essay an expansive bibliography and over 400 cross referenced dictionary entries on significant persons events places organizations and other aspects of Polynesian history from the earliest times to the present Appendixes of the major islands and atolls within Polynesia the rulers and administrators of the 13 major island states and basic demographic information of those states are also included The Pacific Arts of Polynesia and Micronesia Adrienne L. Kaeppler, 2008-03-27 The Pacific Ocean covers one third of the earth s surface Comprising thousands of islands and hundreds of cultural groups Polynesia and Micronesia cover a large part of this vast ocean from the dramatic mountains of Hawaii to the small flat coral islands of Kiribati Including both traditional and contemporary arts this book introduces the rich artistic traditions of these two regions traditions that have had a considerable impact on western art in the twentieth century through the influence of artists such as Gauguin. Instead of looking at Polynesia and Micronesia separately, the book focuses on the artistic types, styles, and concepts that they share, placing each in its wider cultural context. From the textiles of Tonga to the canoes of Tahiti, Adrienne Kaeppler looks at religious and sacred rituals and objects, carving, architecture, tattooing, personal ornaments, basket making, clothing, textiles, fashion, the oral arts, dance, music, and musical instruments, even canoe construction, to provide the ultimate introduction to the rich and vibrant artistic cultures of the Polynesian and Micronesian islands.

Historical Dictionary of Polynesia Robert D. Craig, 2002. Alphabetically arranged entries ranging in length from a paragraph to several pages describe the important people, food, native animals, politics, history, and culture of Polynesia, which is made up of more than a dozen countries including American Samoa, French Polynesia, Hawaii, New Zealand, and Tonga. The book includes a four-page list of acronyms, an extensive chronology, and appendices with the names of Polynesian islands and lists of political rulers of the various states through history. Author Craig, emeritus history professor at the University of Alaska, Fairbanks, has created several other dictionaries on Oceania, Polynesian mythology, and Hawaii. Museums and Maori Conal McCarthy, 2016-06-16. This groundbreaking book explores the revolution in New Zealand museums that is influencing the care and exhibition of indigenous objects worldwide. Drawing on practical examples and research in all kinds of institutions, Conal McCarthy explores the history of relations between museums and indigenous peoples, innovative exhibition practices, community engagement, and curation. He lifts the lid on current practice, showing how museum professionals deal with the indigenous objects in their care, engage with tribal communities, and meet the needs of visitors. The first critical study of its kind, Museums and Maori is an indispensable resource for professionals working with indigenous objects, indigenous communities, and cultural centers, and for researchers and students in museology and indigenous studies programs.

Sharing Authority in the Museum Michelle Horwood, 2018-11-06. Sharing Authority in the Museum provides a detailed and fully contextualised study of a heritage assemblage over time, from the mid-nineteenth century to the present day. Focussing on Māori objects predominantly originating from the Ngāi Tahu tribe, housed in Oxford's Pitt Rivers Museum, the book examines the nuances of cross-cultural interactions between an indigenous community and an anthropological museum. Analysis centres on the legacy of historic ethnographic collecting on indigenous communities and museums, and the impact of different value systems and world views on access to heritage objects. Questions of curatorial responsibilities and authority over access rights are explored. Proposing a method for indigenous engagement to address this legacy and making recommendations to guide participants when forging relationships based around indigenous cultural heritage, Michelle Horwood shows how to negotiate power and authority within these assemblages. She argues that by doing this and acknowledging and communicating our difficult histories together, we can move from collaborative approaches to shared authority and indigenous self-determination, progressing the task of decolonising the museum. Addressing a salient complex issue by way of a grounded case study Sharing Authority in the Museum is key reading for museum practitioners working with ethnographic collections as well as scholars and students working in the fields of museum heritage Indigenous or cultural studies It should also be of great interest to indigenous communities wishing to take the lessons learned from Ng Paerangi s experiences further within their own spheres of museum engagement Education, Values and Ethics in International Heritage Jeanette Atkinson,2016-04-29 The changing and evolving relationship between museums and communities Indigenous ethnic and marginalized has been a primary point of discussion in the heritage sector in recent years Questions of official and unofficial heritage whose artefacts to collect and exhibit and why have informed and influenced museum practice Developing from this a key issue is whether it is possible to raise awareness of differing cultural perspectives values and beliefs and incorporate this into the education and training of heritage professionals with the aim of making cultural awareness an integrated and sustainable core part of future heritage training and practice This book discusses perceptions of values and ethics authenticity and significance and documents the historical heritage and education context in North America Scandinavia and the United Kingdom with a particular emphasis on Aotearoa New Zealand The author explores whether it is possible to learn respect for differing cultural perspectives through the undertaking of educational programmes identifies various approaches that could complement the development of students and professionals in the cultural heritage and preservation sectors and offers a means of actively engaging with cultural and professional values through a Taxonomy for Respecting Heritage and Values Islands Magazine ,1985-01 Heritage, Museums and Galleries Gerard Corsane,2005 This reader provides a starting point and introductory resource for anyone wishing to engage with certain key issues relating to the heritage museums and galleries sector Pacific Art Anita Herle,2002-01-01 Contributors explore the complex relations among Pacific artists patrons collectors and museums over time as well as the different meanings given to art objects by each Tikanga Maori (Revised Edition) Hirini Moko Mead,2016-11-29 Tikanga Maori is the authoritative and accessible introduction to understanding the correct Maori ways of doing things as they were done in the past as they are done in the present and as they may yet be In this revised edition Hirini Mead has added an extensive new chapter on mana whenua mana moana Maori authority over land and ocean and the different interpretations and applications of mana whenua and mana moana historically and today Hirini Mead has also updated the section on tangihanga to include contemporary issues about cremation choices and what happens to the deceased in Maori non Maori partnerships where there are disputes about following tangi tikanga or Pakeha traditions The remainder of the book explores how tikanga Maori may influence contemporary life and society and Hirini Mead proposes guidelines to help us test appropriate responses to challenges that may yet be laid down Rethinking settler colonialism Annie Coombes,2017-03-01 Rethinking settler colonialism focuses on the long history of contact between indigenous peoples and the white colonial communities who settled in Australia Aotearoa New Zealand Canada and South Africa It interrogates how histories of colonial settlement have been mythologised narrated and embodied in public culture in the twentieth century through monuments exhibitions and images and charts some of the vociferous challenges to such histories that have emerged over recent years Despite a shared familiarity with cultural and political institutions practices and policies amongst the white settler communities the distinctiveness which marked these constituencies as variously Australian South African Canadian or New Zealander was fundamentally contingent upon their relationship to and with the various indigenous communities they encountered In each of these countries these communities were displaced marginalised and sometimes subjected to attempted genocide through the colonial process Recently these groups have renewed their claims for greater political representation and autonomy The essays and artwork in this book insist that an understanding of the political and cultural institutions and practices which shaped settler colonial societies in the past can provide important insights into how this legacy of unequal rights can be contested in the present It will be of interest to those studying the effects of colonial powers on indigenous populations and the legacies of imperial rule in postcolonial societies

The Guilt of Nations Elazar Barkan,2001-10-09 The author takes a sweeping look at the idea of restitution and its impact on the concept of human rights and the practice of politics She confronts the difficulties of determining victims and assigning blame

Galleries of Maoriland Roger Blackley,2018-10-18 Galleries of Maoriland introduces us to the many ways in which European colonists to New Zealand discovered created propagated and romanticised the Maori world summed up in a popular nickname describing New Zealand Maoriland But Blackley shows that Maori were not merely passive victims they too had a stake in this process of romanticisation What this book asks were some of the Maori purposes that were served by curio displays portrait collections and the wider ethnological culture Galleries of Maoriland looks at Maori prehistory in European art the enthusiasm of settlers and Maori for portraiture and recreations of ancient life the trade in Maori curios and the international exhibition of this colonial culture By illuminating New Zealand s artistic and ethnographic economy this book provides a new understanding of our art and our culture

Colonialism and the Object Tim Barringer,Tom Flynn,2012-12-06 Drawing together an international group of scholars from a variety of disciplinary and cultural backgrounds Colonialism and the Object explores the impact of colonial contact with other cultures on the material culture of both the colonized and the imperial nation The book includes intensive case studies of objects from India Pakistan New Zealand China and Africa all of which were collected by or exhibited in the institutions of the British Empire and key chapters address issues of radical identity across cultural barriers and the hybrid styles of objects which can emerge when cultures meet Colonialism and the Object is essential reading for all those interested in post colonial theory museum studies material culture and design history

The State of Maori Rights Margaret Mutu,2011-02-01 The State of Maori Rights brings together a set of articles written between 1994 and 2009 It places on record the Maori view of events and issues that took place over these years issues that have been more typically reported to the general public from a mainstream media perspective It is an important documentation of these fifteen years of New Zealand history recording the assertion of Maori rights as the indigenous people of Aotearoa New Zealand focusing on Maori issues and experiences and written from a Maori perspective The reviews demonstrate the ongoing settling of grievances against the Crown for breaches of the Treaty of Waitangi the solutions Maori have advocated and the benefits to the country when Maori advice on these matters is followed Key issues include the 1994 fiscal envelope the 50 000 strong protest march against foreshore and seabed Pakeha media attacks on Maori MPs and Maori initiatives Maori success stories are also acknowledged such as Michael Campbell Robert Hewitt Willie Apiata and films such as Whale Rider
