The Official Centenary History Of The Amateur Athletic Association:

The Official Centenary History of the Amateur Athletic Association Peter Lovesey, 1979-01-01 Amateurs and Professionals in Post-War British Sport Dilwyn Porter, Adrian Smith, 2014-04-08 The pressures and demands of professionalism and commercialization have transformed Britain's sports. At the end of the 20th century sports have been packaged and marketed as mass entertainment for a national or even international audience. This volume explores different facets of this phenomenon.

IX Olympiad George Russell, 2015-11-18 The IX Olympiad, the ninth volume in The Olympic Century series, begins by exploring the Summer Games of Amsterdam 1928, the first to feature the Olympic flame as well as the first to include track and field and gymnastics competitions for women. Well established as the world's greatest festival of sport, the Olympic Games rose to new heights in Amsterdam. The book tells the story of Olympic heroes like Paavo Nurmi, the legendary Finnish distance runner who claimed one more gold medal in 1928 to take his personal total to nine from three Olympics, and the Canadian sprinter Percy Williams who claimed the title of world's fastest man with golds in both the 100 and 200 metres. Amsterdam also saw the triumph of triple jumper Mikio Oda of Japan who became the first gold medalist from Asia and American double gold swimmer Johnny Weismuller who would go on to star in Hollywood as Tarzan the Ape Man. Following the Amsterdam Games, the focus turns to Lake Placid, N.Y., and the Winter Games of 1932. The book tells the story of athletes like American speed skater Irving Jaffee who lunged for gold in a thrilling photo finish in the 10,000 metres, Sonja Henie of Sweden who would claim her second of three consecutive figure skating titles, and American Eddie Egan who would add a team gold in four-man bobsleigh to his gold in boxing won in the Antwerp Olympics 12 years earlier. Juan Antonio Samaranch, former President of the International Olympic Committee, called The Olympic Century 'the most comprehensive history of the Olympic games ever published'.

Sport and the British Richard Holt, 1990 This is a lively and deeply researched history of British sport since 1800, the first of its kind. It goes beyond a few great names and moments to explain how sport has changed and what it has meant to ordinary people. Sport and the British shows how the way we play reflects not only our lives as citizens of a predominantly urban and industrialised world but what is especially distinctive about British sport. Modern media coverage of sport, gambling, violence, and attitudes towards it, nationalism, and the role of sport in sustaining male identity are all examined in this account, which combines entertaining anecdote with more serious historical understanding.

Sport and Democracy in the Ancient and Modern Worlds Paul Christesen, 2012-10-15 This book explores the relationship between sport and democratization. Drawing on sociological and historical methodologies, it provides a framework for understanding how sport affects the level of egalitarianism in the society in which it is played. The author distinguishes between horizontal sport, which embodies and fosters egalitarian relations, and vertical sport, which embodies and fosters hierarchical relations. Christesen also differentiates between societies in which sport is played and watched on a mass scale and those in which it is an ancillary activity. Using ancient Greece and nineteenth-century Britain as case studies Christesen analyzes how these variables interact and finds that horizontal mass sport has the capacity to both promote and inhibit democratization at a societal level He concludes that horizontal mass sport tends to reinforce and extend democratization

Sport And British Politics Since 1960 John F. Coghlan, Ida Webb, 2003-12-16 The author has used his experience on the Sports Council as well as his many years in the field to record the development of sport in Britain and the direct relationship between sport and politics

Sport and Ireland Paul Rouse, 2015-10-08 This is the first history of sport in Ireland locating the history of sport within Irish political social and cultural history and within the global history of sport Sport and Ireland demonstrates that there are aspects of Ireland's sporting history that are uniquely Irish and are defined by the peculiarities of life on a small island on the edge of Europe What is equally apparent though is that the Irish sporting world is unique only in part much of the history of Irish sport is a shared history with that of other societies Drawing on an unparalleled range of sources government archives sporting institutions private collections and more than sixty local national and international newspapers this volume offers a unique insight into the history of the British Empire in Ireland and examines the impact that political partition has had on the organization of sport there Paul Rouse assesses the relationship between sport and national identity how sport influences policy making in modern states and the ways in which sport has been colonized by the media and has colonized it in turn Each chapter of Sport and Ireland contains new research on the place of sport in Irish life the playing of hurling matches in London in the eighteenth century the growth of cricket to become the most important sport in early Victorian Ireland and the enlistment of thousands of members of the Gaelic Athletic Association as soldiers in the British Army during the Great War Rouse draws out the significance of animals to the Irish sporting tradition from the role of horse and dogs in racing and hunting to the cocks bulls and bears that were involved in fighting and baiting

IV Olympiad George Constable, 2015-11-18 The IV Olympiad of the Modern Era was scheduled to take place in Rome in 1908 but the eruption of Mount Vesuvius two years prior to the Games threw Italy into economic chaos forcing Rome to withdraw as host The IV Olympiad the fifth volume in The Olympic Century series tells the story of how the city of London stepped up and sustained the modern Olympic movement in a time of crisis The book explores how with typical British resilience Londoners took on the challenge of planning the world's greatest festival of sport in spite of having less than half the normal time to prepare Scheduled in conjunction with the Franco British Exhibition the Games of 1908 were the longest in Olympic history running from April to October and featured events like speed boat racing dueling with pistols and figure skating Heroes of the 1908 London Games included 60 year old Oscar Swahn of Sweden who became and remains the oldest ever Olympic champion John Taylor the first black Olympic medalist and Dorando Pietri of Italy who fell five times from exhaustion on the last lap of the marathon but still managed to finish the race through sheer force of will The book concludes with the story of Elwood Brown an American college basketball coach who journeyed to the Philippines to work as an organizer for the YMCA and became a pivotal figure in the growth of sport and the Olympic movement in Asia
