The One Woman Dodo Press:

Writing Lives Together Felicity James, Julian North, 2017-09-27 A diary entry begun by a wife and finished by a husband a map of London its streets bearing the names of forgotten lives biographies of siblings and of spouses a poem which gives life to long dead voices from the archives All these feature in this volume as examples of writing lives together British life writing which has been collaboratively authored and or joins together the lives of multiple subjects The contributions to this book range over published and unpublished material from the late eighteenth to the late nineteenth centuries including biography auto biographical memoirs letters diaries sermons maps and directories The book closes with essays by contemporary practising biographers Daisy Hay and Laurel Brake who explain their decisions to move away from the single subject in writing the lives of figures from the Romantic and Victorian periods We conclude with the reflections and work of a contemporary poet Kathleen Bell writing on James Watt 1736 1819 and his family in a ghostly collaboration with the archives Taken as a whole the collection offers distinctive new readings of collaboration in theory and practice reflecting on the many ways in which lives might be written together across gender boundaries across time across genre This book was originally published as a special issue of Life Writing Fiction and 'The Woman Question' from 1850 to 1930 W. R.

Owens, Alexis Weedon, Nicola Darwood, 2020-07-02 This book is about how The Woman Question was represented in works of fiction published between 1850 and 1930 The essays here offer a wide ranging and original approach to the ways in which literature shaped perceptions of the roles and position of women in society Debates over The Woman Question encompassed not only the struggle for voting rights but gender equality more widely The book reaches beyond the usual canonical texts to focus on writers who have in the main attracted relatively little critical attention in recent years Stella Benson Kate Chopin Marie Corelli Dinah Mulock Craik Clemence Dane Arthur Conan Doyle George Gissing Ouida and William Hale White who wrote under the pseudonym Mark Rutherford These writers dealt imaginatively with issues such as marriage motherhood sexual desire adultery and suffrage and they represented female characters who in varying degrees and with mixed success sought to defy the social sexual and political constraints placed upon them The collection as a whole demonstrates how fiction could contribute in striking and memorable ways to debates over gender equality debates which continue to have relevance in the twenty first century The Soul Paul Ham, 2025-08-05 Wonderfully entertaining Michael McGirr Sydney

Morning Herald I am absolutely in awe of this book Hugh Mackay AO Almost everyone thinks they have one but nobody knows what it is For thousands of years the soul was an organ an entity something that was part of all of us that survived the death of the body and ventured to the underworld or to heaven or hell The soul could be saved condemned tortured bought And then mysteriously the soul disappeared The Enlightenment called it the mind And today neuroscientists demonstrate that the mind is the creation of the brain The religious soul lives on in the minds of the faithful while the secular soul means whatever you want it to mean In The Soul A History of the Human Mind critically acclaimed historian Paul Ham embarks on a journey that has never been attempted to restore the idea of the soul to the human story and to show how belief in and beliefs arising from the soul mind have animated and driven the history of humankind The Soul is much more than a mesmerizing narrative and uniquely accessible way of explaining our story It transforms our understanding of how history works It persuasively demonstrates that the beliefs of the soul mind are the engines of human history

The Novelist in the Novel Elizabeth King,2023-11-14 Why do writers so often write about writers This book offers the first comprehensive account of the phenomenon of the fictional novelist as a character in literature arguing that our notions of literary genius and what it means to be an author are implicitly shaped by and explicitly challenged in novels about novelists a genre that has been critically underexamined Employing both close and distant reading techniques to analyse a large corpus of author stories The Novelist in the Novel explores the forms and functions of author stories and the characters within them offering a new theory that frames these works as textual sites at which questions of literary value and the cultural conceptions around authorship are constantly being negotiated and revised in a form of covert criticism aimed directly at readers While nineteenth century novels about novelists reveal a pervasive frustration with the market a starving artist vs commercial sell out dichotomy modernist examples of the genre focus on the development of the individual author as artist entirely aloof from the marketplace and from the literary sphere at large Yet each of these dynamics is gendered with women denigrated to commercial producers and men elevated to artists and while the canon has largely supported the male view of authorship a closer look at the work of women writers from this period reveals concerted attempts to counteract it Silly Lady Novelists are pitted against serious male modernists in a battle to define what it means to be a literary genius
