Taste Of The Good Life:

The Taste for Ethics Christian Coff, 2006-06-27 This book marks a new departure in ethics In our culture ethics has first and foremost been a question of the good life in relation to other people Central to this ethic was friendship inspired by Greek thought not least Aristotle and the caritas concept from the Judaeo Christian tradition Later moral philosophers also included man's relation to animals and it was agreed that the mistreatment of animals was morally reprehensible But no early moral teaching discussed man's relation to the origin of foodstuffs and the system that produced them doubtless the question was of little interest since the production path was so short The interest in good quality food is of course an ancient one and healthy eating habits have often been underlined as a condition for the good life But before industrialization the production of this food was easy to follow As a rule that is no longer the case The field of ethics must therefore be extended to cover responsibility for the production and choice of foodstuffs and it is this food ethic that Christian Coff sets out to trace The

The Aesthetics of Taste: Eating within the Realm of Art Dorota Koczanowicz,2023-02-17 When does eating become art The Aesthetics of Taste answers this question by exploring the position of taste in contemporary culture and the manner in which taste meanders its way into the realm of art The argument identifies aesthetic values not only in artistic practices where they are naturally expected but also in the spaces of everydayness that seem far removed from the domain of fine arts As such it seeks to grasp what artists who offer aesthetic as well as culinary experiences actually try to communicate while also pondering whether a cook can be an artist

The Sovereignty of Taste James S. Hans,2002-01-26 Challenging prevailing trends toward aesthetic neutrality James S Hans argues that there is such a thing as good and bad taste that taste is something one is born with and that it is firmly rooted in the mechanics of biology Taste is everything Hans says for it produces the primary values that guide our lives Taste is the fundamental organizing mechanism of human bodies a lifelong effort to fit one s own rhythms to the rhythms and patterns of the natural world and the larger human community It is an aesthetic sorting process by which one determines what belongs in a conversation a curriculum a committee a piece of art a meal a logical argument and what should be left out On the one hand taste is the source of beauty justice and a sense of the good On the other hand as an arbiter of the laws of fair and free play taste enters into more ominous and destructive patterns but patterns nonetheless of resentment and violence Hans develops his conception of taste through astute readings of five literary landmarks Milan Kundera s The Unbearable Lightness of Being Sophocles Oedipus the King William Faulkner s Light in August and the poetry of Emily Dickinson and the Polish Nobel Laureate Czeslaw Milosz These texts explore the art of soulmaking and the quest for personal expression the costs as well as the fruits that come from acceding to the imperatives of one s being They also reveal how the collision of personal and collective rhythms whether in the Greek citadel or the Mississippi countryside leads to violence and ritualized sacrifice Elegant principled and provocative The Sovereignty of Taste is an essential book that restores taste to its rightful place of influence shoring up the ground beneath civilization s feet and offering hope for the future of integrity value and aesthetic truth
