Teacher Man Uab Cs:

Tinsley Harrison, M.D. James Pittman, 2014-11-26 Tinsley Harrison doctor teacher researcher medical school leader is one of the most important medical figures of the 20th century He edited the first five editions of Harrison's Principles of Internal Medicine regarded as a quintessential medical text and perhaps the best selling medical textbook of all time He traveled the world in his capacity as a teaching doctor made significant contributions to scholarship and served as the dean medical chairman at four medical schools He is a titan of the field an enormous presence central to the narrative of American medicine Author Dr James Pittman knew Harrison well studying and teaching with him from the 1950s until Harrison's death Pittman spent six years interviewing Harrison near the end of Harrison's life and these lengthy interviews as well as interviews with his colleagues family and friends form the bulk of the scholarship of this compulsively readable book Pittman brings his own medical knowledge to the fore as well as his personal friendship with the subject in this beautifully written character study of one of science's great but not well known men Harrison lived a long exciting life and in these pages readers will get a glimpse of the historical forces that shaped and in turn were shaped by this legendary doctor American Men & Women of Science Pamela M. Kalte, Katherine H. Nemeh, Noah Schusterbauer, 2005 This edition profiles living persons in the physical and biological fields as well as public health scientists engineers mathematicians statisticians and computer scientists Exploring the Dimensions of Human Sexuality Jerrold S. Greenberg, Clint E. Bruess, Sarah C. Conklin, 2010-03-01 Pioneers and Prominent Men of Utah, 1913 Exploring the Dimensions of Human Sexuality, American Men & Women of Science, 2008 Beyond Reductionism Katharine Farrell, Tommaso Luzzati, Sybille van den Hove, 2013-05-07 This is a book about the work of scientists in the era of the Anthropocene where human beings appear to have become a driving force in the evolution of the planet It is a diverse collection of empirical methodological and theoretical chapters concerned with the practice of interdisciplinary social ecological systems research The aim of the contributors is to give the reader an appreciation for the range and complexity of the challenges faced by researchers research institutions and wider communities trying to make sense of the causes and consequences of the this new era of global environmental change The tragedy of the Anthropocene of the large scale anthropogenic habitat destruction and planet wide impacts of anthropogenic climate change is not that science has failed humanity but rather that it has served humanity all too well making possible in just a few hundred years volumes and scales of human activity far exceeding anything ever seen before Coming to terms with that success was the aim of the 1969 Alpbach Symposium from which this book draws its name where contributors including Friedrich Hayek and Ludwig von Bertalanffy asked themselves what theory practices and standards are required to move beyond reductionism Like those from 1969 the answers presented in this collection are hugely diverse ranging from PhD students concerned with research methods and institutional obstacles to mid career scholars presenting their innovative beyond reductionism research methods to emeritus professors looking back over what has been achieved in the past 30 years and suggesting where things might go from here All the contributors begin from the premise that the challenges of the Anthropocene can only be successfully met if interdisciplinary research effectively brings together social and natural sciences the humanities stakeholders and decision makers They conclude in unison that both the institutional and the methodological foundations needed to do this work are still sorely lacking While this may seem a dismal position the book is full of success stories such as the integrative approach of MuSIASEM Multi Scale Integrative Assessment of Social Ecological Metabolism developed by Mario Giampietro s group in Barcelona Spain the alternative perspectives of what Ariel Salleh calls the meta industrial discourse in Ecofeminism or the innovative trans departmental status of the Stockholm Resilience Centre in Sweden Putting both the theoretical and methodological challenges of moving beyond reductionism on the table for discussion this text aims to help a growing community of passionate thinkers and actors better understand themselves and their work The Biographic Register United States.
