The Onset Of Literacy Cognitive Processes In Reading Acquisition Cognition Special Issue:

The Onset of Literacy Paul Bertelson, 1987 The Onset of Literacy Paul Bertelson, 1987

The Onset of Literacy addresses one of the main questions in the field of reading research why the acquisition of skills in reading and writing appears to be so much more difficult than the earlier acquisition of speech communication. As well as posing a major theoretical puzzle, the question has important implications for both instructional practices and ways of dealing with dyslexic children. Research on the reading process has made important progress in recent years thanks to conceptual and methodological advances in cognitive psychology, psycholinguistics and neuropsychology which have made it possible to deal with complex issues that in the past seemed to defy rational analysis. The Onset of Literacy presents a selective sample of work by major contemporary specialists who focus on current information processing approaches to the reading process and their interface with research on the development of reading and related skills. An introduction by the editor summarizes and places the various contributions within current analyses of reading inspired by the information processing approach. The chapters and their authors are:

- The Ability to Manipulate Speech Sounds Depends on Knowing Alphabetic Writing Charles Read
- Zhang Yun Fei
- Nie Hong Yin and Ding BaoQing
- Literacy Training and Speech Segmentation Jos Morais
- Paul Bertelson
- Luz Cary and Jesus Alegria
- Phonological Awareness The Role of Reading Experience Virginia A Mann
- Word Recognition in Early Reading A Review of the Direct and Indirect Access Hypotheses Roderick W Barron
- The Similarities Between Normal Readers and Developmental and Acquired Dyslexics Peter Bryant and Lawrence Impey
- Language Mechanisms and Reading Disorder A Modular Approach Donald Shankweiler and Stephen Crain

Paul Bertelson is Professor of Experimental Psychology and Director of the Laboratory of Experimental Psychology at the Universit Libre de Bruxelles. The Onset of Literacy is in a series that is derived from special issues of Cognition International Journal of Cognitive Science edited by Jacques Mehler. A Bradford Book.

Cognition on Cognition Jacques Mehler, Susana Franck, 1995. This broad ranging volume includes a series of articles that were originally published as a special issue of Cognition produced to celebrate the 50th volume of the journal. This broad ranging volume includes a series of articles that were originally published as a special issue of Cognition produced to celebrate the 50th volume of the journal. Written by some of the foremost scientists studying different aspects of the mind, the articles review progress achieved over the past twenty five years in the main areas of the discipline. They provide a unique record of what is happening today in the field of cognition with an added historical perspective that is often absent from other volumes that seek to cover so much ground. The chapters have been arranged in sections on Neuropsychology, Thinking and Language and Perception. These thematic areas deal with theoretical aspects ranging from the status of explanations in cognitive science to evolutionary accounts of human cognitive faculties to the way in which humans use these faculties to reason about, perceive and interact with their environment and each other. There are also contributions dealing with the abilities of young infants and articles that relate behaviors to their underlying neural substrata Computational Approaches to Language Acquisition Michael R. Brent, 1997 The past fifteen years have seen great changes in the field of language acquisition New experimental methods have yielded insights into the linguistic knowledge of ever younger children and interest has grown in the phonological syntactic and semantic aspects of the lexicon Computational investigations of language acquisition have also changed reflecting among other things the profound shift in the field of natural language processing from hand crafted grammars to grammars that are learned automatically from samples of naturally occurring language Each of the four research papers in this book takes a novel formal approach to a particular problem in language acquisition In the first paper J M Siskind looks at developmentally inspired models of word learning In the second M R Brent and T A Cartwright look at how children could discover the sounds of words given that word boundaries are not marked by any acoustic analog of the spaces between written words In the third P Resnik measures the association between verbs and the semantic categories of their arguments that children likely use as clues to verb meanings Finally P Niyogi and R C Berwick address the setting of syntactic parameters such as headedness for example whether the direct object comes before or after the verb The Cognitive Neuroscience of Consciousness Stanislas Dehaene, 2001 Empirical and theoretical foundations of a cognitive neuroscience of consciousness A Bibliography on Writing and Written Language Konrad Ehlich, Florian Coulmas, Gabriele Graefen, 2011-06-01 The bibliography offers information on research about writing and written language over the past 50 years No comprehensive bibliography on this subject has been published since Sattler s 1935 handbook With a selection of some 27 500 titles it covers the most important literature in all scientific fields relating to writing Emphasis has been placed on the interdisciplinary organization of the bibliography creating many points of common interest for literacy experts educationalists psychologists sociologists linguists cultural anthropologists and historians The bibliography is organized in such a way as to provide the specialist as well as the researcher in neighboring disciplines with access to the relevant literature on writing in a given field While necessarily selective it also offers information on more specialized bibliographies In addition an overview of norms and standards concerning script and writing will prove very useful for non professional readers It is therefore also of interest to the generally interested public as a reference work for the humanities Objects and Attention Brian J. Scholl, 2002 An overview of object based models of attention Object Recognition in Man, Monkey, and Machine Michael J. Tarr, Heinrich H. Bulthoff, 1999-03-15 The contributors bring a wide range of methodologies to bear on the common problem of image based object recognition These interconnected essays on three dimensional visual object recognition present cutting edge research by some of the most creative neuroscientific cognitive and computational scientists in the field Cassandra Moore and Patrick Cavanagh take a classic demonstration the perception of two tone images and turn it into a method for understanding the nature of object representations in terms of surfaces and the interaction between bottom up and top down processes Michael J Tarr and Isabel Gauthier use computer graphics to study whether viewpoint dependent recognition mechanisms can generalize between exemplars of perceptually defined classes Melvyn A Goodale and G Keith Humphrey use innovative psychophysical techniques to investigate dissociable aspects of visual and spatial processing in brain injured subjects D I Perrett M W Oram and E Ashbridge combine neurophysiological single cell data from monkeys with computational analyses for a new way of thinking about the mechanisms that mediate viewpoint dependent object recognition and mental rotation Shimon Ullman also addresses possible mechanisms to account for viewpoint dependent behavior but from the perspective of machine vision Finally Philippe G Schyns synthesizes work from many areas to provide a coherent account of how stimulus class and recognition task interact The contributors bring a wide range of methodologies to bear on the common problem of image based object recognition

Handbook of Reading Research Michael L. Kamil, P. David Pearson, Elizabeth Birr Moje, Peter Afflerbach, 2011-03-17 The Handbook of Reading Research is the research handbook for the field Each volume has come to define the field for the period of time it covers Volume IV brings the field authoritatively and comprehensively up to date

The SAGE Handbook of Writing Development Roger Beard, Jeni Riley, Debra Myhill, Martin Nystrand, 2009-07-23 By drawing on international cross phase and cross disciplinary research perspectives this book offers a comprehensive review of writing development invaluable for researchers and practitioners alike

Connections and Symbols Steven Pinker, Jacques Mehler, 1988 Connections and Symbols provides the first systematic analysis of the explosive new field of Connectionism that is challenging the basic tenets of cognitive science Does intelligence result from the manipulation of structured symbolic expressions Or is it the result of the activation of large networks of densely interconnected simple units Connections and Symbols provides the first systematic analysis of the explosive new field of Connectionism that is challenging the basic tenets of cognitive science These lively discussions by Jerry A Fodor Zenon W Pylyshyn Steven Pinker Alan Prince Joel Lechter and Thomas G Bever raise issues that lie at the core of our understanding of how the mind works Does connectionism offer it truly new scientific model or does it merely cloak the old notion of associationism as a central doctrine of learning and mental functioning Which of the new empirical generalizations are sound and which are false And which of the many ideas such as massively parallel processing distributed representation constraint satisfaction and subsymbolic or microfeatural analyses belong together and which are logically independent Now that connectionism has arrived with full blown models of psychological processes as diverse as Pavlovian conditioning visual recognition and language acquisition the debate is on Common themes emerge from all the contributors to Connections and Symbols criticism of connectionist models applied to language or the parts of cognition employing language like operations and a focus on what it is about human cognition that supports the traditional physical symbol system hypothesis While criticizing many aspects of connectionist models the authors also identify aspects of cognition that could be explained by the connectionist models Connections and Symbols is included in the Cognition Special Issue series edited by Jacques Mehler

Handbook of Orthography and Literacy R. Malatesha Joshi, P.G. Aaron, 2013-05-13 Until about two decades ago the study of writing systems and their relationship to literacy acquisition was sparse and generally modeled after studies of English language learners. This situation is now changing. As the worldwide demand for literacy continues to grow, researchers from different countries with different language backgrounds have begun examining the connection between their writing systems and literacy acquisition. This text, which derives from a NATO sponsored conference on orthography and literacy, brings together the research of 70 scholars from across the world, the largest assemblage of such experts to date. Their findings are grouped into three parts as follows: Part I, Literacy Acquisition in Different Writing Systems, describes the relationship between orthography and literacy in twenty-five orthographic systems. This section serves as a handy reference source for understanding the orthographies of languages as diverse as Arabic, Chinese, English, Icelandic, Kannada, and Kishwahili. Part II, Literacy Acquisition From a Cross Linguistic Perspective, makes direct comparisons of literacy acquisition in English and other orthographic systems. The overall conclusion that emerges from these eight chapters is that the depth of an orthographic system does influence literacy acquisition primarily by slowing down the acquisition of reading skills. Even so, studies show that dyslexic readers can be found across all orthographic systems, whether shallow or deep, which shows that dyslexia also has internal cognitive and biological components. Part III, Literacy Acquisition: Instructional Perspectives, explores literacy acquisition from developmental and instructional perspectives and ends with a look into the future of literacy research. This Handbook is appropriate for scholars, researchers, and graduate students in such diverse fields as cognitive psychology, psycholinguistics, literacy education, English as a second language, and communication disorders. The Publishers' Trade List Annual, 1995. Publishers Trade List Annual, 1992, 1992. Current Issues in Bilingualism. Mark Leikin, Mila Schwartz, Yishai Tobin, 2011-11-22. As populations become more mobile, so interest grows in bi- and multilingualism, particularly in the context of education. This volume focuses on the singular situation in Israel, whose complex multiculturalism has Hebrew and Arabic as official languages, English as an academic and political language, and tongues such as Russian and Amharic spoken by immigrants. Presenting research on bi- and trilingualism in Israel from a multitude of perspectives, the book focuses on four aspects of multilingualism and literacy in Israel: Arabic-Hebrew bilingual education and Arabic literacy development; second language Hebrew literacy among immigrant children; literacy in English as a second third language; and adult bilingualism. Chapters dissect findings on immigrant youth education, language impairment in bilinguals, and neurocognitive features of bilingual language processing. Reflecting current trends, this volume integrates linguistics, sociology, education, cognitive science, and neuroscience. Global Variation in Literacy Development. Ludo Verhoeven, Sonali Nag, Charles Perfetti, Kenneth Pugh, 2023-12-07. Bringing together an international team of scholars, this pioneering book presents the first truly systematic cross-linguistic study of variation in literacy development. It draws on a wide range of cross-cultural research to shed light on the key factors that predict global variation in children's acquisition of reading and writing skills, covering regions as diverse as North and South America, Asia, Australia, Europe, and Africa. The first part of the volume deals with comprehensive reviews related to the variation of literacy in different regions of the globe as a function of socio political sociocultural and language and writing system factors The second part of the volume deals with comprehensive reviews related to the variation of literacy in different world regions Offering a pioneering new framework for global literacy development this groundbreaking volume will remain a landmark in the fields of literacy development and literacy teaching and learning for years to come Components of Effective Reading Intervention Barbara R.

Foorman,2021-02-27 Learning to read is not natural for many individuals who remain dependent on the skill knowledge and persistence of their teachers to acquire reading proficiency Reading instruction however can be designed with greater validity than ever before because of a solid converging body of scientific research on reading acquisition reading processes and reading disabilities This special issue presents some of the major advances in methodologically and theoretically sound treatment research by the use of comprehensive and multivariate treatment protocols and individual growth curve modeling

Making Special Education Inclusive Peter Farrell,Mel Ainscow,2013-05-13 The aim of this book is to consider how schools and LEAs can develop inclusive policies and practices for students who experience a range of difficulties in learning or behavior It highlights debates and contradictions about the realities of inclusion and suggests ways in which practice can move forward The contributors look at key areas of development in special and inclusive education and considers ways in which the latest research can inform practice Areas covered include promoting inclusion for all how to make sense of the Code of Practice SEN Thresholds working with Teaching Assistants new approaches to counseling and pastoral care in schools including pupils with EBD how nurture groups are helping inclusive practice making education inclusive for pupils with sensory disabilities including pupils with specific learning difficulties and preparing students for an inclusive society The book will be of particular interest to teachers LEA support staff educational psychologists and related professionals who face the challenge of meeting the needs of a diverse population within an inclusive framework it will also be of relevance for students in further and higher education and their tutors Handbook of Reading Disability Research Anne

McGill-Franzen,Richard Allington,2010-09-17 Bringing together a wide range of research on reading disabilities this comprehensive Handbook extends current discussion and thinking beyond a narrowly defined psychometric perspective Emphasizing that learning to read proficiently is a long term developmental process involving many interventions of various kinds all keyed to individual developmental needs it addresses traditional questions What is the nature or causes of reading disabilities How are reading disabilities assessed How should reading disabilities be remediated To what extent is remediation possible but from multiple or alternative perspectives Taking incursions into the broader research literature represented by linguistic and anthropological paradigms as well as psychological and educational research the volume is on the front line in exploring the relation of reading disability to learning and language to poverty and prejudice and to instruction and schooling The editors and authors are distinguished scholars with extensive research experience and publication records and numerous honors and awards from professional organizations representing the range of disciplines in the field of reading disabilities Throughout their contributions are contextualized within the framework of educators struggling to develop concrete instructional practices that meet the learning needs of the lowest achieving readers

Reading Acquisition in India Purushottam G. Patel, 2004-06-30 The sixth in the series on Research in Applied Linguistics this is a ground breaking study which presents a phonological analysis of Brahmi and its modern derivatives It closely examines India s ancient cultural linguistic background particularly the Vedic Culture of oral tradition and relates this scholarship to current research and theory in linguistics neurobehavioral sciences and special education The author also provides an empirical understanding of reading acquisition by children with a particular focus on those facing poverty a toxic environment and the deprivation associated with low caste status The book is a departure from current neuropsychological research which is limited to the middle class dyslexic child It argues the need for a multidisciplinary approach which takes into account the effects of poverty socioeconomic deprivation and environmental toxicity on reading acquisition among children from deprived groups Purushottam Patel discusses a number of important issues including The linguistic context and principles underlying the Brahmi script The reasons behind literacy emerging as a part of natural language development especially in an oral culture The cultural habits surrounding reading The importance of the living environment to literacy development The need for multidisciplinary research with an emphasis on neurobehavioral teratology
