Najork, 2021-02-08 Mar u saga the Old Norse Icelandic life of the Virgin Mary survives in nineteen manuscripts While the 1871 edition of the saga provides two versions based on multiple manuscripts and prints significant variants in the notes it does not preserve the literary and social contexts of those manuscripts In the extant manuscripts Mar u saga rarely exists in the codex by itself This study restores the saga to its manuscript contexts in order to better understand the meaning of the text within its manuscript matrix why it was copied in the specific manuscripts it was and how it was read and used by the different communities that preserved the manuscripts

From Old English to Old Norse John Frankis, 2016-01-31 This study focusses upon the Old Norse version of Ifric s Old English homily De falsis diis the most substantial of a family of Old Norse Icelandic texts of unclear provenance but which derive in varying degrees from Old English originals To throw fresh light upon the translation s origins a range of other Old Norse and Old English texts are considered While the known facts of Ifrician manuscript circulation and adaptation are hard to reconcile with an Icelandic origin traces of later circulation in Norway and Iceland are explored The study includes a parallel text Old English Old Norse edition of De falsis diis with facing modern English translations to aid detailed comparison
