The Orphan A Portrait Of Courage:

The Orphan, a Portrait of Courage Paul Rice, 2019-12-09 Two small Ethiopian sisters were orphaned when their father took the family supposedly away from their home and through a dense forest to his parents home where they would be more able to eat there because it was in an area where the massive drought had not entered Halfway through the forest the family stopped to rest and the mother needed to breast feed the younger daughter Yodit while the elder child Meme foraged for berries in the area Their father looking at his family and their thinning condition became overcome with depression and slipping a thin bladed knife from out of his sleeve he approached his wife from behind and then plunged the knife into her chest just below where the child was nursing Surprised she looked up at him with a questioning pain then fell back onto the hardened earth and the small child fell to her side He ran off into the forest just as the older child viewed her mother on the ground and ran to her to see just what had happened to her They spent the night lying on her stiffening body and crying The next morning they were awakened by the loud grunting coming from a large Boar that had smelled their mother s blood and was now approaching them in a very threatening way That same morning two hunters from out of Addis Ababa were on a hunting trip to try and find enough food from their hunt to last their families through the long winter months When they heard the Boar s loud grunting they just knew that he was what they were looking for When they approached the clearing where the lifeless body and two small children were they couldn t believe their eyes The large Boar was chasing the children round and round the lifeless body trying to catch and kill them Instantly the two hunters drew their sharp spears and threw them with determined accuracy towards the charging Boar Both spears hit their determined mark and the Boar dropped to the ground dead The two small children seeing the hunters approaching them in the clearing ran to them and the two men picked up each one and began comforting them in their big strong arms Taking them down to a nearby creek they gave them drinks of the refreshing water washed their mother s blood from off of each one and then opened their lunch packets and fed them until they could hold no more Then they removed their own warm jackets and wrapped each child into them and took them back into the area where their mothers corpse was Placing them on a large pile of soft leaves the men then wrapped their mother s body in a blanket from out of one of their packets then dug a grave for her in the clearing placed her gently within the depth of the opening and then began covering her with the soft earth from their labors They made a crude cross from two branches and then drove it into the ground above her head Then placing the large Boar s body on a sling they had also fashioned out of two larger twigs they slit its throat and permitted its blood to drain out to make its carcass somewhat lighter then secured it to the sling with two cowhide straps They each took turns carrying the two children and pulling their prized food and trekking off back towards Addis Ababa Arriving there they were greeted with loud barking from their dogs and loud screams whenever their wives saw the two small children they were carrying They made over and over the two beautiful girls as their husbands related all of their experiences with their mothers dead body and their killing of the Boar

just in time to save the children They cared for the girls for several weeks while preparations were being made to take them over to His Majesties Orphanage that was being managed by a Missionary from the United States Each child grew up there in a wonderful Christian environment until they graduated from the school there Yodit earned her way performing household chores for different families while Meme worked in a bar dated and then married a Cuban soldier

The Girl in the Painting Renita D'Silva, 2019-04-11 LOVE LOVE LOVED this fabulous novel I couldn't put it down Stunning and beautifully written Will transport you through time and across the world from England to India Highly recommended NetGalley reviewer India 1926 Margaret is in love with her new husband and her new home a sprawling villa amidst beautiful rolling hills the air filled with the soft scent of spices and hibiscus flowers Yet she's unwelcome with the locals and grows close to Archana her maid who reminds Margaret of the beloved sister she lost in the great war Overjoyed with her pregnancy Margaret could stay forever sipping tea chatting with Archana painting in the sun beside the stream full of water lilies But when Archana finds herself in danger and Margaret makes the choice to save her she doesn't realise the devastating consequences that will tear her and Archana apart destroy her marriage and haunt her for the rest of her life England 2000 Emma's relationship is falling apart and her beloved grandmother Margaret is dying Margaret has one last request find Archana It's the first time Emma has even heard the name but desperate for an escape and to bring Margaret closure she travels deep into the heart of the Indian hills to a crumbling house overgrown with vines searching for answers The more Emma learns the more she sees of herself in her grandmother and the stronger her need to uncover Margaret's secret But if she finds Archana and the truth is finally revealed the story of a day spent painting by a stream and a betrayal that tore three lives to pieces can it help each woman find peace or are some rifts too deep to heal Discover the extraordinary secret of the girl in the painting perfect for fans of Kathryn Hughes Lucinda Riley and The Storyteller's Secret What readers are saying about The Girl in the Painting Oh boy this book did not disappoint The story was so well thought out intricate and full bodied hooked right till the end You get such a sense of each character and your heart breaks for both of them It just engrosses you so you go on the journey with them Side note grab your tissues I can't recommend this book enough Renita is such a talented writer and a great storyteller jth books 5 stars BEAUTIFULLY WRITTEN AND EMOTIONALLY GRIPPING just took my breath away it was truly beautiful and I will gladly admit that I shed a little tear Goodreads Reviewer I completely fell in love with the story and characters utterly sucked in to the story I cried smiled laughed and even felt the anger relief and betrayal amazing talent and her beautiful stories one of the most beautiful and poignant stories I have ever read Curled Up with a Good Book 5 stars Now where do I start with this absolutely stunning book I was completely mesmerised by this entire story heartbreaking and compelling truly writing at its finest a rich tapestry of imagery laced with struggles and strife I loved every minute Stacy is Reading 5 stars After reading the blurb I already felt I was going to be swept away Was my feeling right I can say a big YES without a doubt between the sadness and heartache there was room for a lot of heartwarming moments as well I flew through it B for Bookreview 5 stars Stunningly amazing exquisite perfection intense drama romance family This compelling read was very difficult to put down and I felt for all three women their lives held such drama and it felt so very real definitely highly recommended Robin Loves Reading
