Building Special Operations

Relationships with Fragile Partners: Torsten Gojowsky, Sebastian Koegler, 2019-02-18 Relationships empower Special Operations Forces SOF to perform as a highly skilled and reliable cadre in collaboration with local partner forces to prevent and solve shared problem sets often accomplishing more with less Since 9 11 however relationships between SOF and their partners have not always been properly built and maintained The authors trace the causal effects of constraints trainings and incentives and their impact on the current North Atlantic Treaty Organization NATO SOF approach of building enduring relationships Motivated by numerous deployments to Afghanistan Iraq and Syria with recurring problem sets we chose to conduct a structured focused comparison between U S and Danish SOF supporting Operation Inherent Resolve in Al Anbar Iraq 2015 2018 and German SOF during the shift of the NATO led International Security Assistance Force to Resolute Support mission in Afghanistan 2013 2015 The analysis of these cases finds that specific interactions of the studied factors not only cause variations in relationships between SOF and partner forces but ultimately influence operations and objectives determining mission success or failure With further testing of our analysis and recommendations this research can help to identify inherently flexible and nested strategic options for SOF senior leaders allowing them to deploy SOF elements efficiently during times of asymmetric diffuse and episodic conflicts Gojowsky and Koegler have written a fascinating and important manuscript concerning the use and lessons learned of SOF in recent asymmetrical conflicts In doing so the authors systematically assess modern SOF tactics techniques and procedures TTP and relationships between NATO SOF and their local partners This is a must read for those interested in the future of SOF as well as counter insurgencies future TTPs constraints and incentives Gojowsky and Koegler recommendations should be carefully considered by NATO and its member countries Professor Thomas H Johnson Author of Taliban Narratives The Use and Power of Stories in the Afghanistan Conflict Naval Postgraduate School Monterey California Special Operations and National Security Ben Gans, 2024-11-08 This book focuses on strategic special operations and how these have led to the achievement of major foreign policy goals which is illustrated by six case studies The study specifically focuses on the alignment of the policies strategies and tactics that dominated these operations providing a fresh perspective Theoretically the work underscores the continued relevance of relative superiority as the dominant theory in the field Importantly it aligns the potential ways of achieving and sustaining relative superiority with the ability to conduct contemporary special operations across multiple domains thereby generating cross dimensional effects In terms of methodology the book includes a description and analysis of six distinct case studies in special operations ranging from short term surgical strikes to sustained special warfare campaigns and spanning multiple geographic regions including in Iran Lebanon Syria Ukraine and the South China Sea From that perspective relative superiority theory is extrapolated to explain how this critical condition can be achieved and sustained during protracted special operations The unique value of this research is underscored by the author's collection of exclusive primary source data on the operations in the respective countries The book s conclusions explain how the personnel involved fulfill the strategic promise of special operations given their position within the larger framework of foreign policy This book will be of much interest to students of special operations military and strategic studies defense studies and security studies in general
