Speakers Listeners And Communication Explorations In Discourse Analysis

James Paul Gee

Speakers Listeners And Communication Explorations In Discourse Analysis:

Speakers, Listeners and Communication Gillian Brown, 1995 In this book Gillian Brown draws on a wide range of examples of discourse analysis to explore the ways in which speakers and listeners use language collaboratively to talk about what they can see in front of them and about a series of events She examines the conditions under which communication is successful and the conditions under which it sometimes fails The focus of her attention is upon the listener's role as the listener tries to make sense of what the speaker says in a highly constrained context her cognitive pragmatic approach to discourse analysis both complements and challenges the sociological anthropological perspectives on the subject which currently predominate Gillian Brown is co author of the well known textbook Discourse Analysis Cambridge University Press 1983

How to do Discourse Analysis James Paul Gee, 2014-01-21 This bestselling textbook is the ideal companion to An Introduction to Discourse Analysis Theory and Method by leading author James Paul Gee Using a practical how to approach Gee provides the tools necessary to work with discourse analysis with engaging step by step tasks featured throughout the book Each tool is clearly explained along with guidance on how to use it and authentic data is provided for readers to practice using the tools Readers from all fields will gain both a practical and theoretical background in how to do discourse analysis and knowledge of discourse analysis as a distinctive research methodology Updated throughout this second edition also includes a new tool The Big C Conversation Tool A new companion website www.routledge.com/cw/gee features a frequently asked questions section additional tasks to support understanding a glossary and free access to journal articles by James Paul Gee How to do Discourse Analysis A Toolkit is an essential book for advanced undergraduate and postgraduate students working in the areas of applied linguistics education psychology anthropology and communication

A Grammar of Spoken English Discourse Gerard O'Grady, 2010-10-07 David Brazil's pioneering work on the grammar of spoken discourse ended at A Grammar Of Speech 1995 due to his untimely death Gerard O Grady picks up the baton in this book and tests the description of used language against a spoken corpus He incorporates findings from the last decade of corpus linguistics study notably concerning phrases and lexical items larger than single orthographic words and ellipsis He demonstrates the added communicative significance that the incorporation of two systems of intonation Key and Termination bring to the grammar O Grady reviews the literature and covers the theory before moving on to a practical analytic section His final chapter reviews the arguments maps the road ahead and lays out the practical applications of the grammar The book will be of great interest to researchers in applied linguistics discourse analysis and also EFL ESL

Metonymy and Language Charles Denroche, 2014-12-05 Metonymy and Language presents a new theory of language and communication in which the central focus is on the concept of metonymy the recognition of partial matches and overlaps Through the use of original data sets and rigorous primary research Denroche characterizes metonymy as key to understanding why language is so fit for purpose and how it achieves such great subtlety and flexibility This study develops the notion of metonymic competence and demonstrates that metonymic behavior is often pursued for its own sake in recreational activities such as quizzes puzzles and play and shows the possible impact of the application of metonymic processing theory to professional fields such as language teaching and translator training Furthermore it proposes a research approach with metonymy at its center metonymics which Denroche suggests could provide a powerful framework for addressing issues in numerous fields of practice in the arts and sciences

Self-Preservation in Simultaneous Interpreting Claudia Monacelli,2009-05-20 The image of the tightrope walker illustrates the interpreter s balancing act Compelled to move forward at a pace set by someone else interpreters compensate for pressures and surges that might push them into the void The author starts from the observation that conference interpreters tend to see survival as being their primary objective It is interpreters awareness of the essentially face threatening nature of the profession that naturally induces them to seek what the author calls dynamic equilibrium a constantly evolving state in which problems are resolved in the interests of maintaining the integrity of the system as a whole By taking as a starting point the more visible interventions interpreters make comments on speed of delivery on exchanges between the chair and the floor the author is able to explore the interpreter s instinct for self preservation in an inherently unstable environment This volume is an insightful and refreshing account of interpreters behavior from the other side of the glass fronted booth

The Grammar of Perspective Christopher Woods,2008-01-01 The so called Sumerian conjugation prefixes are the most poorly understood and perplexing elements of Sumerian verbal morphology Approaching the problem from a functional typological perspective and basing the analysis upon semantics Professor Woods argues that these elements in their primary function constitute a system of grammatical voice in which the active voice is set against the middle voice The latter is represented by heavy and light markers that differ with respect to focus and emphasis As a system of grammatical voice the conjugation prefixes provided Sumerian speakers with a linguistic means of altering the perspective from which events may be viewed giving speakers a series of options for better approximating in language the infinitely graded spectrum of human conceptualization and experience

Referring in Language Lise Fontaine,Katy Jones,David Schöenthal,2023-05-25 Referential expressions include terms such as determiners proper names noun phrases pronouns and all other expressions that we use to make reference to things beings or events The first of its kind this book presents a detailed integrated account of typical and atypical uses of referential expressions combining insights from discourse cognitive and psycholinguistic literature within a functional model of language It first establishes a foundation for reference including an overview of key influences in the study of reference the debates surrounding in definiteness and a functional description of referring expressions It then draws on a variety of approaches to provide a comprehensive explanation of atypical uses including referring in an uncollaborative context indefinite expressions used for definite reference reference by and for children and finally metonymic reference with a special focus on metonymy in medical contexts Comprehensive in scope it is essential reading for academic researchers in syntax discourse analysis and cognitive linguistics Discourse Patterns in Spoken and Written Corpora Karin Aijmer, Anna-Brita Stenström, 2004-04-29 This book brings together a number of empirical studies that use corpora to study discourse patterns in speech and writing. It explores new trends in the area of text and discourse characterized by the alliance between text linguistics and areas such as corpus linguistics, genre analysis, literary stylistics and cross linguistic studies. The contributions to the volume show how established corpora can be used to ask a number of new questions about the interface between speech and writing, the relation between grammar and discourse, academic discourse, cohesive markers, stylistic devices such as metaphor, deixis and non verbal communication. The corpora used for text analysis can also be tailor made for the study of particular genres such as journal article abstracts, lectures, e mailing list messages, headlines and titles. A recent development is to bring in contrastive data from bilingual corpora to show what is language specific in the organization of the text. Voices of Reason Stephen B. Sachs, 2001-12-30 In their own words ten diverse adolescents talk about their school experiences, family issues, societal problems and their own attempt to deal with social inequities. The book is also a study of future talk as jointly constructed attempts by students at making sense of their educational and vocational goals and their own sense of where the education and guidance systems have helped or failed them. Using tools of discourse analysis developed for this study Dr Sachs presents a systematic way of looking at the construction of groundedness in social contexts, particularly how and how effectively adolescents construct their arguments for the choices they make. The business of education touches many facets of society and this study will be of interest to practitioners who wish to become qualitative researchers for students in qualitative methods courses and for middle and high school guidance sources including teachers and parents who want to better understand adolescents' concerns. And it is a book for adolescents themselves who in reading what their peers are saying can reflect on their own sense of where they are currently and in which direction they want to go. Methods for Studying Language Production Lise Menn, Nan Bernstein Ratner, 1999-10 In this volume language researchers studying morphosyntax, the lexicon and pragmatics share and evaluate methods of eliciting and analyzing language production in various populations and settings. For all language researchers applied and theoretical. Culture, Interaction and Person Reference in an Australian Language Murray Garde, 2013-11-14 The study of person reference stands at the cross roads of linguistics, anthropology and psychology. As one aspect of an ethnography of communication, this book deals with a single problem: how one knows who is being talked about in conversation from a rich and varied ethnographic perspective. Through a combination of grammatical agreement and free pronouns, Bininj Gunwok possesses a pronominal system that according to current theoretical accounts in linguistics should facilitate clear cut reference. However, the descriptions of Bininj Gunwok conversation in this volume demonstrate that frequently a vast gulf lies between knowing that say an object is 3rd singular and actually knowing who it refers to. Achieving reference to people in Bininj Gunwok can involve a delicate and refined set of calculations which are part of a deliberate and artful way of speaking. Speakers draw on a diverse set of grammatical and lexical devices all underpinned by shared knowledge about a diverse range of social relationships and cultural practices

Variation and Co-operative Communication Strategies in Air Traffic Control English Eveline Wyss-Bühlmann, 2005 The aim of this study is to establish the co operative communication strategies that are used in air traffic control ATC conversations The research deals with the question what kind of co operative communication strategies do pilots and controllers employ in a speech situation with a restricted use of vocabulary which generally does not permit any deviations from standard phraseology The strategies in ATC speech are then compared to those used by second language learners Faerch and Kasper s 1983 taxonomy of communication strategies will serve as a basis for this comparison The author analyses authentic speech samples from various ATC workstations at Zurich Airport and evaluates various aspects of phraseology training of air traffic controllers

Default Semantics K. M. Jaszczolt, 2005-07-07 In this pioneering book Kasia Jaszczolt lays down the foundations of an original theory of meaning in discourse reveals the cognitive foundations of discourse interpretation and puts forward a new basis for the analysis of discourse processing She provides a step by step introduction to the theory and its application and explains new terms and formalisms as required Dr Jaszczolt unites the precision of truth conditional dynamic approaches with insights from neo Gricean pragmatics into the role of speaker s intentions in communication She shows that the compositionality of meaning may be understood as merger representations combining information from various sources including word meaning and sentence structure various kinds of default interpretations and conscious pragmatic inference Among the applications the author discusses are constructions that pose problems in semantic analysis such as referring expressions propositional attitude constructions presupposition modality numerals and sentential connectives She proposes solutions to cutting edge problems in the semantics pragmatics interface for example how many levels of meaning should be distinguished the status of under specification how much contextual information should be placed in the representation of the speaker's meaning whether there are default interpretations the stage of utterance interpretation at which pragmatic inference begins and whether compositionality is a necessary feature of the theory of meaning and if so how it is to be defined The book is for advanced students and researchers in semantics pragmatics computational linguistics and philosophy of language

Narratology Beyond Literary Criticism Tom Kindt, 2005 This anthology presents the results of the Second International Colloquium of the Narratology Research Group Hamburg University It engages in the exploration of approaches that broaden Narratology's realm The contributions illustrate the transcendence of traditional models common to Narratology They also reflect on the relevance of such a going beyond as seen in more general terms What interrelation can be observed between re definition of object domain and re definition of method What potential interfaces with other methods and disciplines does the proposed innovation offer Finally what are the repercussions of the proposed innovation in terms of Narratology's self definition The innovative volume facilitates the inter methodological debate between Narratology and other disciplines enabling the conceptualization of a Narratology beyond traditional Literary Criticism

Language and Body in Place and Space Kuniyoshi Kataoka, 2023-05-18 Drawing on the author's experience as a sociolinguist and a mountain climber this book shows how the expertise and affect laden experience of Japanese rock climbers can be illuminated through linguistic methods and theories Through a detailed investigation of multimodal interaction among climbers the book explores a number of significant sociolinguistic and linguistic anthropological themes including spatial frames of reference intersubjectivity chronotopic configurations and poetic formations of talk In doing so it presents climbing as a condensed locus of human interactions in which the integrated analysis of semiotic processes brings to light a new set of relationships between humans and their surroundings Grounded in an extended and focused participation in rock climbing activities and interviews with other climbers Kuniyoshi Kataoka examines the assemblage of semiotic resources including the language the body and the space mediated by their climbing equipment and the surrounding environment The result is a showcase of interdisciplinary multimodal approaches to climbing discourse analysis in and around the gravity sensitive zone ranging from expert climbers instruction to novices gossip and narratives on near death experiences to a multi participant discussion of a critical accident As well as demonstrating how language reflects extraordinary experiences on the vertical plane the findings also offer a chance to learn more about climbing which is attracting a growing number of participants and competitors worldwide
