Speaking Of Diversity:

Speaking of Diversity Philip Gleason, 2019-12-01 Originally published in 1992 In this collection of essays Philip Gleason explores the different linguistic tools that American scholars have used to write about ethnicity in the United States and analyzes how various vocabularies have played out in the political sphere In doing this he reveals tensions between terms used by academic groups and those preferred by the people whom the academics discuss Gleason unpacks words and phrases such as melting pot and plurality used to visualize the multitude of ethnicities in the United States And he examines debates over concepts such as assimilation national character oppressed group and people of color Gleason advocates for greater clarity of these concepts when discussed in America's national political arena Gleason's essays are grouped into three parts Part 1 focuses on linguistic analyses of specific terms Part 2 examines the effect of World War II on national identity and American thought about diversity and intergroup relations Part 3 discusses discourse on the diversity of religions This collection of eleven essays sharpens our historical understanding of the evolution of language used to define diversity in twentieth century America

Speaking Culturally Fern L. Johnson, 1999-10-12 In Speaking Culturally Language Diversity in the United States author Fern Johnson probes the rich cultural legacies and deep cultural dimensions underlying discourse in the U S This culturally rich examination of discourse places the changing demographics of the United States in linguistic perspective and draws upon the author's language centered perspective on culture to illuminate the discourses associated with gender and with African Americans Hispanic Americans and Asian Americans Language is placed in the context of the histories multiplicities and cultural themes influencing its users The final section of the book explores the implications of language diversity first by showing how culturally nuanced language carries consequences in the justice and medical systems in school and at work and then by examining two of the most heated language issues in the country today ebonics and bilingual education Johnson concludes by advocating bilingual education for all citizens regardless of native language

Making Sense of Affirmative Action Kasper Lippert-Rasmussen, 2020-03-30 Kasper Lippert Rasmussen here poses the question Is affirmative action morally unjustifiable As a phrase that frequently surfaces in major headlines affirmative action is a highly controversial and far reaching issue yet most of the recent scholarly literature surrounding the topic tends to focus on defending one side or another in a particular case of affirmative action Lippert Rasmussen instead takes a wide angle view addressing each of the prevailing contemporary arguments for and against affirmative action In his introduction he proposes an amended definition of affirmative action and considers what forms from quotas to outreach strategies may fall under this revised definition He then analyzes the strengths and weaknesses of each position relative to each other and applies recent discussions in political philosophy to assess if and how each argument might justify different conclusions given different cases or philosophical frameworks Each chapter investigates an argument for or against affirmative action The six arguments for it consist of compensation anti discrimination equality of opportunity role model diversity and integration The five arguments against it are reverse discrimination stigma mismatch publicity and merit Lippert Rasmussen also expands the discussion to include affirmative action for groups beyond the prototypical examples of African Americans and women and to consider health and minority languages as possible criteria for inclusion in affirmative action initiatives Based on the comparative strength of anti discrimination and equality of opportunity arguments Making Sense of Affirmative Action ultimately makes a case in favor of affirmative action however its originality lies in Lippert Rasmussen's careful exploration of moral justifiability as a contextual evaluative measure and his insistence that complexity and a comparative focus are inherent to this important issue The English-speaking World, 1924 Cultural Sensitivity and Responsiveness in Neurorehabilitation Gloria Jean L. Wallace, 2024-12-02 Cultural Sensitivity and Responsiveness in Neurorehabilitation A Personalized Approach for Speech Language Pathologists is a groundbreaking and transformative resource for designing quality and equitable neurorehabilitation care for individuals from diverse communities. Material coverage is comprehensive and chapters are user friendly for speech language pathologists SLP and SLP students alike. Case presentations are provided to demonstrate best practices. As our world becomes increasingly more diverse it is imperative for SLPs to be knowledgeable about and experienced with foundational information relating to diversity equity inclusion implicit bias intersectionality and SLP best practices for cases from culturally and linguistically diverse communities. The text culminates with an insightful epilogue featuring people from diverse communities from around the world who have neurogenic communication cognitive and swallowing disorders and who share information about what they would like neurorehabilitation specialists to know. The book is organized into seven sections. Part I Introduction to Personalized Care sets the stage by introducing the concept of multicultural neurogenics and personalized care. Chapters delve into topics like implicit bias interprofessional collaboration and the tools clinicians need for effective case management when working with diverse populations. Part II Building a Foundation for Neurorehabilitation in a Multicultural World Personalization Personified provides practical guidance for SLPs. It covers the preparation for case contact working with interpreters and translators and the assessment and management of speech language cognitive and swallowing issues in culturally and linguistically diverse populations. Part III Specialty Neurogenics Chapters offers in depth knowledge on various neurogenic conditions such as aphasia traumatic brain injury right hemisphere brain damage the dementias dysarthrias and dysphagia within a cultural context. Part IV A Sampling of Information About U S Census Bureau Racial Ethnic Groups delves into the unique cultural and communication factors related to various racial and ethnic groups in the United States including Blacks Hispanics Chinese and Asian Americans American Indians and Alaska Natives and White Americans. Part V Intersectionality examines the intersection of factors that create unique challenges in care including ethical perspectives for serving LGBTQIA individuals trauma informed care for marginalized populations and the cultural aspects of care for the Deaf community. Part VI Contributions from Educators and a Look at Neurorehabilitation Care Trends within the U S provides insights from academics on diversity equity and inclusion in education designing courses that promote DEI and current trends in SLP neurorehabilitation. Part VII presents real world cases with accompanying videos illustrating best practices in SLP neurorehabilitation care for diverse communities. These cases cover a wide range of scenarios from collaboration between medical SLPs and interpreters to culturally adapted therapy for older adults and complex management considerations for stroke survivors from the Deaf community. This section ends with a chapter by visionaries from Asia Africa Europe Oceania South America and North America sharing their insights.
