The Non-Geometric Lenin Carter Elwood, 2011-04-01 This book is a collection of eleven essays dealing with important but little studied episodes in Lenin's attempt to build a Bolshevik Party before 1914. It also deals with his defence of Roman Malinovsky who turned out to be a police spy and his romantic involvement with a fellow Bolshevik Inessa Armand. The last three essays paint a picture of a non-geometric Lenin and his little known interests in food, holidaying and sports.

Stalin and His Times Arthur E. Adams, 1986 Proceedings, American Philosophical Society (vol. 115, No. 3, 1971), Memoirs of Nikita Khrushchev Nikita Sergeevich Khrushchev, Sergei Khrushchev, 2004. Nikita Khrushchev's proclamation from the floor of the United Nations that we will bury you is one of the most chilling and memorable moments in the history of the Cold War. But from the Cuban Missile Crisis to his criticism of the Soviet ruling structure late in his career, the motivation for Khrushchev's actions wasn't always clear. Many Americans regarded him as a monster while in the USSR he was viewed at various times as either hero or traitor. But what was he really like and what did he really think? Readers of Khrushchev's memoirs will now be able to answer these questions for themselves and will discover that what Khrushchev really said at the UN was we will bury colonialism. This is the second volume of three in the only complete and fully reliable version of the memoirs available in English. In the first volume published in 2004 Khrushchev takes his story up to the close of World War II. In the first section of this second volume he covers the period from 1945 to 1956, from the famine and devastation of the immediate aftermath of the war to Stalin's death, the subsequent power struggle and the Twentieth Party Congress. The remaining sections are devoted to Khrushchev's recollections and thoughts about various domestic and international problems. In the second and third sections he recalls the virgin lands and other agricultural campaigns and his dealings with nuclear scientists and weapons designers. He also considers other sectors of the economy, specifically construction and the provision of consumer goods, administrative reform and questions of war, peace and disarmament. In the last section he discusses the relations between the party leadership and the intelligentsia. Included among the Appendixes are the notebooks of Nina Petrovna Kukharchuk, Khrushchev's wife.
