Cross-cultural Skills for Deployed Air Force Personnel Chaitra M. Hardison, 2009 Because of its strong interest in providing airmen with the cross cultural skills that have grown ever more essential to successful mission accomplishment in foreign environments the Air Force asked RAND to provide a foundation for the design of a comprehensive Air Force program of cross cultural training and education RAND researchers responded by first creating a taxonomy covering all behaviors relevant to cross cultural performance after the need for such a taxonomy became evident from a review of the literature on cross cultural performance and discussions with Air Force personnel From this taxonomy the researchers developed a framework of 14 categories of cross cultural behaviors nine categories of enabling behaviors and five of goal oriented behaviors This framework was then used in designing a survey for 21 000 recently deployed airmen that asked them to rate the importance of the behaviors to their deployed performance and the helpfulness of training they had received in the behaviors both over their careers and just prior to deployment Respondents were also asked to indicate how much training they had received Recommendations and suggestions for the design of a comprehensive program of cross cultural training and education and for further research steps were made based on extensive analyses of the results which included determining whether training needs differed by AFSC grade enlisted officer and deployment location OECD Skills Studies Skills on the Move Migrants in the Survey of Adult Skills OECD,2018-10-29 Migration has been at the centre of political debate across the OECD in recent years Drawing on data from the OECD Survey of Adult Skills PIAAC this report provides new evidence on differences in migrants characteristics and contexts and considers how these relate to the skills migrants

Skills Mania Bob Davis,2000 In Skills ManiaBob Davis argues passionately that the emphasis in the secondary school classroom must shift from a technocratic skills based approach to teaching and discussion that focuses on real substantive issues He also calls for a new emphasis on the teaching of history a practice that has been sadly lacking in recent years Two central qualities warm up this book first the story is told through the author s own teaching and second the author presents us with an original and frank point of view This is a stirring engaged and practical book

English Language Skills Training. Theory and Practice Eddie Fisher,Jorge Luis Herrera Ochoa,Yoennis Diaz Moreno,2014-01-13 Research Paper postgraduate from the year 2013 in the subject English Language and Literature Studies Linguistics grade N A Universidad de Oriente in Santiago de Cuba Faculty of Humanities course English Language language English abstract The ability to teach foreign languages effectively has become an increasingly important skill to develop and improve the language proficiency of students Teachers need to develop and apply proactive and positive attitudes to foster new levels of foreign language learning within their students Teaching on its own is not a panacea for success This paper investigates how teachers at the Universidad de Oriente UO in Santiago de Cuba search for and apply innovative ways of teaching foreign languages to their students within current boundaries The results from this research show that there is a positive relationship between the level of proficiency in a foreign language and the methods and approaches teachers apply to keep students motivated and interested in the subject matter The literature review from this study provided supportive evidence which was strengthened with insights from face to face interviews and a focus group meeting The outcomes confirmed that students who are exposed regularly to practical and diverse teaching methods are more likely to exceed the expected foreign language proficiency levels set by the University s quality standards
