The Great War Herbert Wrigley Wilson, Sir John Alexander Hammerton, 1915 Military Operations Sir James Edward Edmonds, 1927 A Military Atlas of the First World War Arthur Banks, 2000-09-13 With the ingenious use of maps diagrams and statistics this indispensable work explains the strategies of the combatants and the diplomatic history The Beacon This is a unique study of the conflict of 1914-18 on land sea and in the air through maps diagrams and illustrations Within the scope of some 250 maps Arthur Banks has presented both broad general surveys of political and military strategy and the most closely researched details of major individual campaigns and engagements These are supplemented by comprehensive analysis of military strengths and command structures and illustrations One of the best books of maps I've seen about any war With 250 separate maps you get something on just about every aspect of the war from the familiar Western Front to the Zeppelin raids over Britain through to the campaigns in the Middle East and beyond History of War I am delighted that after being out of print from time to time this reprint has arrived to answer the prayers of teachers pupils researchers and others who need a quick and accurate reference guide Stand To journal of The Western Front Association Londoners on the Western Front David Martin, 2014-03-31 In spite of all the books written on the First World War some remarkable stories still remain untold and that of the 58th London Division is one of the most neglected A territorial formation lacking the glamour of the old army or the Kitchener Volunteers the 58th never received an official history and apart from the odd mention and a poignant memorial on the Somme battlefield depicting a rider cradling a dying horse it has faded from memory Yet the Division saw hard service and won through at Passchendaele where it won fame for capturing the Wurst Farm ridge many of its soldiers were decorated for this action and the ridge afterwards renamed London Ridge in its honour This book will tell the fascinating story of the 58th Division's war and through this cast new light on the wider story of how the BEF struggled through the hard years and developed into such a formidable force Passchendaele is remembered for mud and waste but the 58th Division's experience shows the immense scale of the preparations supporting the offensive and show both how these worked and when they fell short A history of the 58th Division is long overdue It is also a way of bringing a good deal of new research on the war to the general reader As featured in the Shropshire Star and Epping Forest Guardian
