Gideon E. Henderson, Matthew Parkinson, 1907 The Masks of Keats Thomas McFarland, 2000 This book surveys the poetic endeavour of John Keats and urges that his true poetry is uniquely constituted by being uttered through three artificial masks rather than through the natural voice of his quotidian self The first mask is formed by the attitudes and reality that ensue from a conscious commitment to the identity of poet as such The second called here the Mask of Camelot takes shape from Keats's acceptance and compelling use of the vogue for medieval imaginings that was sweeping across Europe in his time The third the Mask of Hellas eventuated from Keats's enthusiastic immersion in the rising tide of Romantic Hellenism Keats's great achievement the book argues can only be ascertained by means of a resuscitation of the defunct critical category of genius as that informs his use of the masks To validate this category the volume is concerned throughout with the necessity of discriminating the truly poetic from the meretricious in Keats's endeavour The Masks of Keats thus constitutes a criticism of and a rebuke to the deconstructive approach which must treat all texts as equal and must entirely forego the conception of quality Waunakee and Westport Katie Brenner, 2012 Situated within Westport Township's expansive prairies along Six Mile Creek the village known as Waunakee began as a country road with only a school and blacksmith shop Established in 1871 the village of Waunakee sprang up almost immediately and continued to grow and thrive for the subsequent 140 years
