Handbook of Methods for Designing, Monitoring, and Analyzing Dose-Finding Trials John O'Quigley, Alexia Iasonos, Björn Bornkamp, 2017-04-27

Handbook of Methods for Designing Monitoring and Analyzing Dose Finding Trials gives a thorough presentation of state of the art methods for early phase clinical trials The methodology of clinical trials has advanced greatly over the last 20 years and arguably nowhere greater than that of early phase studies The need to accelerate drug development in a rapidly evolving context of targeted therapies immunotherapy combination treatments and complex group structures has provided the stimulus to these advances Typically we deal with very small samples sequential methods that need to be efficient while at the same time adhering to ethical principles due to the involvement of human subjects Statistical inference is difficult since the standard techniques of maximum likelihood do not usually apply as a result of model misspecification and parameter estimates lying on the boundary of the parameter space Bayesian methods play an important part in overcoming these difficulties but nonetheless require special consideration in this particular context The purpose of this handbook is to provide an expanded summary of the field as it stands and also through discussion provide insights into the thinking of leaders in the field as to the potential developments of the years ahead With this goal in mind we present

An introduction to the field for graduate students and novices
A basis for more established researchers from which to build A collection of material for an advanced course in early phase clinical trials
A comprehensive guide to available methodology for practicing statisticians on the design and analysis of dose finding experiments
An extensive guide for the multiple comparison and modeling MCP Mod dose finding approach adaptive two stage designs for dose finding as well as dose time response models and multiple testing in the context of confirmatory dose finding studies

John O Quigley is a professor of mathematics and research director at the French National Institute for Health and Medical Research based at the Faculty of Mathematics University Pierre and Marie Curie in Paris France He is author of Proportional Hazards Regression and has published extensively in the field of dose finding Alexia Iasonos is an associate attending biostatistician at the Memorial Sloan Kettering Cancer Center in New York She has over one hundred publications in the leading statistical and clinical journals on the methodology and design of early phase clinical trials Dr Iasonos has wide experience in the actual implementation of model based early phase trials and has given courses in scientific meetings internationally Björn Bornkamp is a statistical methodologist at Novartis in Basel Switzerland researching and implementing dose finding designs in Phase II clinical trials He is one of the co developers of the MCP Mod methodology for dose finding and main author of the DoseFinding R package He has published numerous papers on dose finding nonlinear models and Bayesian statistics and in 2013 won the Royal Statistical Society award for statistical excellence in the pharmaceutical industry

The Anatomy of Drama Alan Reynolds Thompson,2023-11-15 The Anatomy of Drama by Alan Reynolds Thompson argues that drama as an art form is essential to the vitality of civilization especially during times of global upheaval Thompson asserts that while art is often overlooked during crises it is a key measure of a culture's quality He argues that truly impactful drama stems from more than mere technical skill or entertainment value it requires a deep engagement with the social ethical and psychological issues of its time Thompson emphasizes that an understanding of a dramatist's cultural and philosophical background is crucial as the writer's environment and beliefs profoundly shape their work This book encourages readers from students to theater professionals to study drama within its broader context linking plays not only to theatrical traditions but also to the historical and social forces that give them meaning Thompson also highlights the role of audiences in sustaining a vibrant theater culture He suggests that universities should focus not just on producing professionals but also on cultivating educated audiences who can appreciate the substance of a play beyond its surface appeal Such audiences would demand quality from the theater fostering an environment where plays of genuine artistic and intellectual value can thrive Addressing the structural challenges faced by playwrights in the American theater system Thompson advocates for greater support for emerging playwrights and stresses that a living drama is essential for the cultural health of society In this way Thompson envisions a theater that not only entertains but also inspires educates and enriches its community preserving civilization's core values through art This title is part of UC Press's Voices Revived program which commemorates University of California Press's mission to seek out and cultivate the brightest minds and give them voice reach and impact Drawing on a backlist dating to 1893 Voices Revived makes high quality peer reviewed scholarship accessible once again using print on demand technology This title was originally published in 1942 The
