Daniel Liebowitz, Charles Pearson

Stanley Sorcerers Apprentice:

Stanley Frank McLynn, 1991 This is the second volume of Frank McLynn's biography of Henry Morton Stanley. It covers the years 1877 to 1904. During this period of his life King Leopold II of the Belgians was a dominant figure. Stanley Tim Jeal, 2011-10-06 Henry Morton Stanley was a cruel imperialist, a bad man of Africa. Or so we think, but as Tim Jeal brilliantly shows, the reality of Stanley's life is yet more extraordinary. Few people know of his dazzling trans-Africa journey, a heart-breaking epic of human endurance which solved virtually every one of the continent's remaining geographical puzzles. With new documentary evidence, Jeal explores the very nature of exploration and reappraises a reputation in a way that is both moving and truly majestic. Travellers in Africa Timothy Youngs, 2017-03-01 Works of travel have been the subject of increasingly sophisticated studies in recent years. This book undermines the conviction with which nineteenth-century British writers talked about darkest Africa. It places the works of travel within the rapidly developing dynamic of Victorian imperialism. Images of Abyssinia and the means of communicating those images changed in response to social developments in Britain. As bourgeois values became increasingly important in the nineteenth century and technology advanced, the distance between the consumer and the product were justified by the scorn of African ways of eating. The book argues that the ambiguities and ambivalence of the travellers are revealed in their relation to a range of objects and commodities mentioned in narratives. For instance, beads occupy the dual role of currency and commodity. The book deals with Henry Morton Stanley's expedition to relieve Emin Pasha and attempts to prove that racial representations are in large part determined by the cultural conditions of the traveller's society. By looking at Joseph Conrad's Heart of Darkness, it argues that the text is best read as what it purports to be: a kind of travel narrative. Only when it is seen as such and is regarded in the context of the fin de siècle can one begin to appreciate both the extent and the limitations of Conrad's innovativeness.

War Power, Police Power Mark Neocleous, 2014-02-12 In this, the first book to deal with the concepts of war power and police power together, Mark Neocleous conducts a critical exploration of the ways in which war power and police power are intertwined in the form of state violence and exercised in social. BAMONIMAMBO (The Witnesses): Rediscovering DR CONGO and BRITISH ISLES Common History Norbert X & Deo MBU-MPUTU & KATYA KASEREKA, Visualizing Africa in Nineteenth-Century British Travel Accounts Leila Koivunen, 2008-11-19 This study examines and explains how British explorers visualized the African interior in the latter part of the nineteenth century, providing the first sustained analysis of the process by which this visual material was transformed into the illustrations in popular travel books. At that time, central Africa was effectively a blank canvas for Europeans, unknown and devoid of visual representations. While previous works have concentrated on exploring the stereotyped nature of printed imagery of Africa, this study examines the actual production process of images and the books in which they were published in order to demonstrate how, why, and by whom the images were manipulated. Thus, the main focus of the work is not on the aesthetic value of pictures but in the activities interaction.

and situations that gave birth to them in both Africa and Europe Masquerade and Identities Efrat Tseëlon, 2003-08-29
 Masquerade both literal and metaphorical is now a central concept on many disciplines This timely volume explores and revisits the role of disguise in constructing expressing and representing marginalised identities and in undermining easy distinctions between true identity and artifice The book is interdisciplinary in approach spanning a diverse range of cultures and narrative voices It provides provocative and nuanced ways of thinking about masquerade as a tool for construction and a tool for critique The essays interrogate such themes as mask and carnival fetish fashion stigma of illegitimacy femininity as masquerade lesbian masks cross dressing in Jewish folk theatre the mask in seventeenth and eighteenth century London and nineteenth century France the voice as mask The Last Expedition Daniel Liebowitz, Charles Pearson, 2005 Henry Morton Stanley undertook the greatest African expedition of the 19th century to rescue Emin Pasha last lieutenant of the martyred General Gordon and governor of the southern Sudan Instead of ten months the trip took three years and cost the lives of thousands of people as Stanley's column hacked its way across the last great unexplored territory in Africa Stanley's secret agenda was territorial expansion on the model of Leopold's Congo or the British East India Company Heroes of Empire Edward Berenson, 2011 Examines through the lives of five important English and French figures the history of the exploration and colonization of Africa between 1870 and 1914 and the role the mass media played in promoting colonial conquest Slum Travelers Ellen Ross, 2007-07-26 Late nineteenth century Britain saw the privileged classes forsake society balls and gatherings to turn their considerable resources to investigating and relieving poverty By the 1890s at least half a million women were involved in philanthropy particularly in London Slum Travelers edited annotated and with a superb introduction by Ellen Ross collects a fascinating array of the writings of these lady explorers who were active in the east south and central London slums from around 1870 until the end of World War I Contributors range from the well known including Annie Besant Sylvia Pankhurst and Beatrice Webb then Potter to the obscure The collection reclaims an important group of writers whose representations of urban poverty have been eclipsed by better known male authors such as Charles Dickens and Jack London
