Foster, 2017-09-18 Native to the Kalahari Desert Hoodia gordonii is a succulent plant known by generations of Indigenous San peoples to have a variety of uses to reduce hunger increase energy and ease breastfeeding In the global North it is known as a natural appetite suppressant a former star of the booming diet industry In Reinventing Hoodia Laura Foster explores how the plant was reinvented through patent ownership pharmaceutical research the self determination efforts of Indigenous San peoples contractual benefit sharing commercial development as an herbal supplement and bioprospecting legislation Using a feminist decolonial technoscience approach Foster argues that although patent law is inherently racialized gendered and Western it offered opportunities for Indigenous San peoples South African scientists and Hoodia growers to make unequal claims for belonging within the shifting politics of South Africa This radical interdisciplinary and intersectional account of the multiple materialities of Hoodia illuminates the co constituted connections between law science and the marketplace while demonstrating how these domains value certain forms of knowledge and matter differently
