Stepdaughters of History Catherine Clinton, 2016-11-02 In Stepdaughters of History noted scholar Catherine Clinton reflects on the roles of women as historical actors within the field of Civil War studies and examines the ways in which historians have redefined female wartime participation Clinton contends that despite the recent attention white and black women s contributions remain shrouded in myth and sidelined in traditional historical narratives Her work tackles some of these well worn assumptions dismantling prevailing attitudes that consign women to the footnotes of Civil War texts Clinton highlights some of the debates led by emerging and established Civil War scholars which seek to demolish demeaning and limiting stereotypes of southern women as simpering belles stoic Mammies Rebel spitfires or sultry spies Such caricatures mask the more concrete and compelling struggles within the Confederacy and in Clinton s telling a far more balanced and vivid understanding of women s roles within the wartime South emerges New historical evidence has given rise to fresh insights including important revisionist literature on women s overt and covert participation in activities designed to challenge the rebellion and on white women s roles in reshaping the war s legacy in postwar narratives Increasingly Civil War scholarship integrates those women who defied gender conventions to assume men s roles including those few who gained notoriety as spies scouts or soldiers during the war As Clinton s work demonstrates the larger questions of women s wartime contributions remain important correctives to our understanding of the war s impact Through a fuller appreciation of the dynamics of sex and race Stepdaughters of History promises a broader conversation in the twenty first century inviting readers to continue to confront the conundrums of the American Civil War

Materializing Silence in Feminist Activism Jessica Rose Corey, 2021-10-27 This book examines how rhetorically effective uses of silence and materiality mediate feminist activism and discusses the implications of these dynamics for pedagogy Specifically the text establishes a theoretical foundation for what the author terms psychosocial composing or the metaphorical composing and revising of individual participants and society and the contribution of written and visual texts as an input and output of the relationships between individuals and social culture This idea is examined through primary research on the Clothesline Project an international event that invites people who have experienced gender violence directly or indirectly to decorate tee shirts that get hung on clotheslines in public places Through looking at values and roles of silence in global cultures and the use of material arts in activist efforts the author argues for the unique value of silence and materiality in individual and collective spaces The manuscript includes discussion questions and sample teaching materials Overall making connections among composition and rhetoric psychology sociology politics women s studies art and design pedagogy and history this book further demonstrates the potential interdisciplinary approaches to rhetoric and communication
