A New Handbook of Christian Theologians Donald W. Musser, 1996 In recent years the flow of Christian theology has been channeled in diverse streams represented by such trends and movements as black theology liberation theology feminist theology and womanist theology To survey this abundance and diversity of current Christian theology this book examines the theologies of representative theologians Particularly to help students navigate the sea of information the editors have identified various routes for reading and have traced several threads or issues common to many of the essays thus demarcating such recurrent concerns as the ways in which the theologians consider the sources and goals for theology their variant assumptions and conclusions about the nature of God their divergent approaches to understanding the person and purpose of the Christ and their distinct expectations for the destiny of history and faith marginalizing others in favor of living into a multiplicity of deeply contextual theologies She explores how these theologies are being developed in global postcolonial contexts through struggles for democracy and civil disobedience in Hong Kong by efforts to reclaim selfhood and sexual identity from exploitative colonial desire through the work of interreligious solidarity and peacebuilding and in the practice of earth care in the face of ecological crisis Struggle to be the Sun Again Hyun Kyung Chung,1990 official church teachings and policies have any role in determining safeguarding and assessing the authentic teaching and praxis of the faith of the church This has always been a haunting question in the life of the Christian church though only recently acknowledged because of the long standing role of male clergy of European descent with a Eurocentric outlook who held hierarchical offices and determined official doctrines and moral and disciplinary codes There have been controversies that bear on these matters over the course of the church s history But it has only been over the last fifty years that the question has received increasing attention among Roman Catholics in terms of the baptismal anointing of the Spirit that bestows the gift of the sense of the faith on individuals and the collective sense of the faithful This gift provides discerning skills to recognize receive and imaginatively and practically apply the living faith in history and society This book explores these issues from historical sociological systematic and theological ethical perspectives infused by the contributions of world Christianities
