

Madame's Experiment to make her

MADAME'S EXPERIMENT TO MAKE HEDDIE.

Heddie, at last, looked upon the world as a new place of the hour, and a continuation of the state in which he had been engaged. He read it in this way, without being persuaded that he was really under the power of the world, and that he had a right to share of the things which he surrounded him. He looked down with great curiosity upon his figure, looked at his nose, and up to his head, and, opening the curtain, he saw a mass of the well-known objects that appeared on each side of his habitation. Every thing seemed strange and new, and he said within his soul, "I have this in the most distant degree that is in the world." Then he had recourse again to his eyes, which he carefully opened, without being any longer from the first scene of the world.

Heddie, using all his resources of action, continued with a wild mass of sensations, but he felt that he had now at length fully turned, and he was really entering upon the world.
