Standing In The Corner:

Don't Stand in the Corner River Sweeney, 2013-11 Don't Stand in the Corner provides a guidepost in challenging times. It is a call to action that takes readers on a motivational journey. This self-help book draws attention to the various stages of conditioning which have shaped many while leaving some standing in the corner of their own lives disempowered. The book encourages us to lay aside our pseudo personalities and to locate and live our truth. Unlike other self-help books, this one highlights the harsh realities we may face whilst staying true to ourselves. Even though we may encounter challenges and obstacles that could stand in our way, Don't Stand in the Corner asserts that It's Time to Take Centre Stage. Publisher's website: <http://sbprabooks.com> River Sweeney Author's website: <http://www.organisinggenius.co.uk> Jennie's Tiger: A Woman's Pioneering Stand in an Untamed Corner of Washington State Eva Gayle Six, 2011-11-15 The West's pioneering experience has been both documented and dramatized enough to give us all some impression for right or for wrong of what pioneers were and what they did. Some of those impressions are dryly accurate and some are excitingly fictitious. Jennie's Tiger is neither carefully researched and truthfully told; it gives a reliable view of the homesteading experience as well as an engrossing and moving story of strong characters making for themselves the life they want. The real Wes and Jennie Wooding homesteaded 160 acres on the Pend Oreille river in northeast Washington state from 1900 till 1923. Life before this chapter of their lives had been consistently hardscrabble and sometimes tragic. Building their own home on their own land was the greatest success and the greatest contentment they had ever had. They arrived at Tiger's Landing by steamboat with three small boys and cut down enough trees to build a 14 X 24 one-story house to shelter them. In that house named Hawthorn Lodge, they soon added a fourth boy. Like most settlers with no cash, Wes had to work outside to earn the money for proving up the homestead. He walked several hundred miles looking for the work he knew in the mines. A devoted member of the Western Federation of Miners and a sincere Socialist, Wes was ambivalent about the Wobbly movement and glad when after the required seven years he could stay at home and make his life at Tiger's Landing with Jennie and the boys. While Wes was away, Jennie was entirely capable of sheltering, feeding, clothing, and raising the boys with her own skills. With help from the children, she chinked the cabin with river mud; she kept the table laid with game and fish she provided and produce she grew; she made furniture for the bare house; she skillfully sewed clothes for the family. She gradually turned the subsistence farm into a lucrative business. Fearful of missing Wes's letters, she started the first post office in her community. As the boys reached school age, she donated land and saw that the first school began to operate. Bringing with her skills and medicines, she became doctor, nurse, and midwife to the growing community. Frustrated by goods that came from a riverboat that could run only half the year, she started the first store. Through all this, Jennie was eternally buoyant; she never felt misused or deprived, only content, proud, and happy. But when the outside world threatened Hawthorn Lodge in the form of a railroad right against the house, Jennie found she had to swallow her anger and make the best of it. When World War I took two of her boys away she did what she could to help the soldiers while hating the war Having successfully raised the four boys to strong men Jennie s years at Hawthorn Lodge Tiger Washington come to a tragic end and we last see her heading back to California and the outside world Supreme Court , The English existential Lyle Jenkins,2012-10-25 Over the past few decades the book series Linguistische Arbeiten Linguistic Studies comprising over 500 volumes has made a significant contribution to the development of linguistic theory both in Germany and internationally The series will continue to deliver new impulses for research and maintain the central insight of linguistics that progress can only be made in acquiring new knowledge about human languages both synchronically and diachronically by closely combining empirical and theoretical analyses To this end we invite submission of high quality linguistic studies from all the central areas of general linguistics and the linguistics of individual languages which address topical questions discuss new data and advance the development of linguistic theory
