Zech, 2013-04-17 Massive Stars in Starbursts Claus Leitherer, Space Telescope Science Institute (U.S.), 1991-05-16 This book reviews the importance of massive stars in several areas of astrophysics Massive stars are objects that are 10 100 times the mass of our Sun Above ten solar masses loss through stellar winds begins to have a major impact on the evolution of a star The upper limit of 100 solar masses is derived from observations Significant progress has now been achieved in massive star research New models along with high quality observations have improved our understanding of the formation structure atmosphere and evolution of these massive objects They are formed in violent bursts of star formation and are probably related to the phenomena observed in active galactic nuclei The workshop at the Space Telescope Science Institute examined the interplay between the astrophysics of massive stars and their location in extragalactic starburst regions There are eighteen chapters by leading researchers Each has been carefully edited to ensure that the book is a comprehensive introduction to the theory and observation of massive stars in starburst regions
