The 50 State Fossils Yinan Wang, 2018-10-28 An award winning engaging kids guide to the official US state fossils Did you know that Illinois's state fossil is the weird looking Tully Monster which had eyes on a pair of stalks and an elephant like trunk that ended in a toothed claw Or that Idaho's state fossil is the stocky Hagerman horse named for the town where its bones were found Fossils can be found in every state and this engaging guidebook brings these ancient organisms to life Each state entry contains details about the state fossil an illustration of what the vertebrate invertebrate or plant looked like a photograph or drawing of the fossil and a state map showing where it can be found Potential fossil candidates are proposed for states that do not yet have official state fossils along with instructions on how to get state fossils designated An appendix lists museums and parks where these fossils can be studied first hand This book is a fun resource for fossil enthusiasts and future paleontologists of all ages The Story of Life in 25 Fossils Donald R. Prothero, 2015-08-25 Every fossil tells a story Best selling paleontology author Donald R Prothero describes twenty five famous beautifully preserved fossils in a gripping scientific history of life on Earth Recounting the adventures behind the discovery of these objects and fully interpreting their significance within the larger fossil record Prothero creates a riveting history of life on our planet The twenty five fossils portrayed in this book catch animals in their evolutionary splendor as they transition from one kind of organism to another We witness extinct plants and animals of microscopic and immense size and thrilling diversity We learn about fantastic land and sea creatures that have no match in nature today Along the way we encounter such fascinating fossils as the earliest trilobite Olenellus the giant shark Carcharocles the fishbrian Tiktaalik the Frogamander and the Turtle on the Half Shell enormous marine reptiles and the biggest dinosaurs known the first bird Archaeopteryx the walking whale Ambulocetus the gigantic hornless rhinoceros Paraceratherium the largest land mammal that ever lived and the Australopithecus nicknamed Lucy the oldest human skeleton We meet the scientists and adventurers who pioneered paleontology and learn about the larger intellectual and social contexts in which their discoveries were made Finally we find out where to see these splendid fossils in the world's great museums Ideal for all who love prehistoric landscapes and delight in the history of science this book makes a treasured addition to any bookshelf stoking curiosity in the evolution of life on Earth

The Fossil Detectives Douglas Palmer, Hermione Cockburn, 2012-08-30 Fossils provide us with a tantalizing glimpse of Britain's prehistoric past and hold the key to unlocking the secrets of life's history and evolution Since the appearance of primitive organisms in Britain more than a billion years ago oceans deserts swamps and vast mountains have come and gone in our corner of western Europe forests of long extinct trees flowers and grasses have covered the land and dinosaurs and other strange creatures have roamed across it How do we know The evidence is all around us in the rocks and fossils that lie beneath the landscape In this highly informative and practical book which accompanies the BBC series presenter Hermione Cockburn and renowned palaeontologist Douglas Palmer take an in depth look at the most exciting fossil stories from around the country When and why were dinosaur fossils first discovered in Britain How was the biggest fish ever to have swum in the sea unearthed near Peterborough What do modern medical techniques have to offer fossil hunters Packed with colour photographs and illustrations Fossils Detectives is full of surprising facts and features And for those who want to try their hand at some fossil detecting of their own the book includes an extensive regional gazetteer of fossil hunting sites and places to visit and guidance on identifying your fossil finds Get ready for some time travel around Britain with the Fossil Detectives

Extinction Douglas H. Erwin, 2015-03-22 Some 250 million years ago the earth suffered the greatest biological crisis in its history Around 95 percent of all living species died out a global catastrophe far greater than the dinosaurs demise 185 million years later How this happened remains a mystery But there are many competing theories Some blame huge volcanic eruptions that covered an area as large as the continental United States others argue for sudden changes in ocean levels and chemistry including burps of methane gas and still others cite the impact of an extraterrestrial object similar to what caused the dinosaurs extinction Extinction is a paleontological mystery story Here the world's foremost authority on the subject provides a fascinating overview of the evidence for and against a whole host of hypotheses concerning this cataclysmic event that unfolded at the end of the Permian After setting the scene Erwin introduces the suite of possible perpetrators and the types of evidence paleontologists seek He then unveils the actual evidence moving from China where much of the best evidence is found to a look at extinction in the oceans to the extraordinary fossil animals of the Karoo Desert of South Africa Erwin reviews the evidence for each of the hypotheses before presenting his own view of what happened Although full recovery took tens of millions of years this most massive of mass extinctions was a powerful creative force setting the stage for the development of the world as we know it today In a new preface Douglas Erwin assesses developments in the field since the book's initial publication

Citizen Science in Biology Wilson Wall, David Morgan, 2025-10-28 This book charts the historical development of citizen science from its earliest days with amateur individuals working on their own to the modern incarnation which often sees large numbers of people cooperating on environmental or health projects It will help project designers understand the heritage of citizen science including the best way to avoid previous mistakes and how to ensure results that are both reliable and informative It also encourages individuals to participate and to think beyond the simple collection of data in what ways can each of us contribute As scientists themselves the authors have a clear understanding of the need for reliable rather than anecdotal information about the ups and downs of citizen science projects Both have been involved in such initiatives from individual data collection to testing identification keys for practical use by the public Many readers will be surprised at the breadth of citizen science and will discover the ability to undertake their own investigations This book will be of great interest to anyone participating in or organising collaborative citizen science projects
