The Routledge International Handbook of Creative Learning

Julian Sefton-Green, Pat Thomson, Ken Jones, Liora Bresler, 2011-07-15 The concept of creative learning extends far beyond Arts based learning or the development of individual creativity It covers a range of processes and initiatives throughout the world that share common values systems and practices aimed at making learning more creative This applies at individual classroom or whole school level always with the aim of fully realising young people's potential Until now there has been no single text bringing together the significant literature that explores the dimensions of creative learning despite the work of artists in schools and the development of a cadre of creative teaching and learning specialists Containing a mixture of newly commissioned chapters reprints and updated versions of previous publications this book brings together major theorists and current research Comprising of key readings in creative education it will stand as a uniquely authoritative text that will appeal to those involved in initial and continuing teacher education as well as research academics and policy specialists Sections include a general introduction to the field of creative learning arts learning traditions with sub sections on discrete art forms such as drama and visual art accounts of practice from artist teacher partnerships whole school change and reforms curriculum change assessment evaluative case studies of impact and effect global studies of policy change around creative learning

Perspectives on the Place of Creativity in Education, Policy and Practice Kevin Gormley, 2023-10-04 This book critically analyses how cultural and educational policies construct creativity through a range of concepts and compares this against the open and expansive idea of creativity as experienced by individuals in society more broadly The book draws on empirical data case study examples and ethnographic motifs to identify the discursive construction of creativity and the way in which discourses of creativity are enfolded into narratives of progress in cultural policy Along with auto ethnographical perspectives chapters apply a rich conceptualisation of Foucault and Agamben's work to contemporary questions and issues in education alongside recent policies and lived experiences from teachers Exploring ideas of both fixed and expansive creativity the volume argues that education policy and cultural policy are neoliberalised and that creativity is shaped in schools by regulative schooling systems but ultimately identifies how individuals enact creative practices that subvert and disrupt neoliberal narratives and limited appropriations This book will be of great interest to researchers academics and postgraduate students in the fields of education policy creativity studies and education politics Those interested in arts education or in intersections between education and the writings of Foucault and Agamben more broadly will also find the book of value

Literacy in the Arts Georgina Barton,2014-04-01 This book explores the many dialogues that exist between the arts and literacy It shows how the arts are inherently multimodal and therefore interface regularly with literate practice in learning and teaching contexts It asks the questions What does literacy look like in the arts And what does it mean to be arts literate It explores what is important to know and do in the arts and also what literacies are engaged in through the journey to becoming an artist The arts for the purpose of this volume include five art forms Dance Drama Media Arts Music and Visual Arts The book provides a more productive exploration of the arts literacy relationship It acknowledges that both the arts and literacy are open textured concepts and notes how they accommodate each other learn about and from each other and can potentially make education better It is when the two stretch each other that we see an educationally productive dialogic relationship emerge

Imagination in Human and Cultural Development Tania Zittoun,Alex Gillespie,2015-07-16 This book positions imagination as a central concept which increases the understanding of daily life personal life choices and the way in which culture and society changes Case studies from micro instances of reverie and daydreaming to utopian projects are included and analysed The theoretical focus is on imagination as a force free from immediate constraints forming the basis of our individual and collective agency In each chapter the authors review and integrate a wide range of classic and contemporary literature culminating in the proposal of a sociocultural model of imagination The book takes into account the triggers of imagination the content of imagination and the outcomes of imagination At the heart of the model is the interplay between the individual and culture an exploration of how the imagination as something very personal and subjective grows out of our shared culture and how our shared culture can be transformed by acts of imagination Imagination in Human and Cultural Development offers new perspectives on the study of psychological learning change innovation and creativity throughout the lifespan The book will appeal to academics and scholars in the fields of psychology and the social sciences especially those with an interest in development social change cultural psychology imagination and creativity     Advanced Control Strategies for Social and Economic Systems (ACS'04) Peter Kopacek,2006-01-06
