compromised safety and wrecked performance but also resulted in financial melt down In this acclaimed book an update to his earlier work Broken Rails Christian Wolmar reveals the causes of the collapse of the railway system following the Hatfield accident barely five years after John Major's ill thought out privatisation On the Wrong Line goes on to expose the failure of New Labour to get to grips with the legacy it inherited from the Tories and raises wider issues about the competence of the Blair government This book with a new preface for the eBook edition serves as a valuable reminder of the risks of privatising a single state owned service and splitting it into many competing entities each linked by contracts rather than a shared service ethos Unfortunately this lesson does not appear to have been learned by the Coalition Government which seems dedicated to destroying first the National Health Service the way the Tories wrecked the railways and then doing the same to education Finally in an appendix this new edition contains a never before published three page statement written by Sir John Major on the privatisation of the railways a subject he never mentions once in his autobiography

Western Diesel Hydraulic Locomotives in Preservation Fred Kerr, 2022-07-28 When British Railways initiated its Modernisation Plan in 1955 its Western Region elected to trial locomotive designs with hydraulic transmission whilst BR encouraged designs with electric transmission The Western Region felt that the lighter weight of 78 tons for a diesel hydraulic locomotive producing 2000 hp compared to an equivalent weight of 132 tons for a diesel electric locomotive producing 2000 hp would better meet BR's requirement for a modern locomotive BR's failure to follow up with its declared policy of having all freight vehicles fitted with brakes saw operators preferring the heavier diesel electric designs which proved more able to operate trains without through brakes at higher speed The greatest concern was with operating costs whereby the Western Region policy of replacing components at the depot then transferring them to Swindon for repair incurred heavy costs that were reflected in the maintenance cost per locomotive Given the smaller number of diesel hydraulic locomotives and the larger number of diesel electric locomotives it was little surprise that by the mid 1960s a cost comparison showed that the build and operation of diesel electric locomotives was increasingly cheaper over the long term Furthermore the increased availability of diesel electric locomotives released by a combination of factors provided an opportunity to replace the diesel hydraulic fleet which was withdrawn from service during the 1970s The preservation of redundant locomotives was slow but once it was confirmed by the preservation of Hymek Class 35 D7017 in 1975 that public appeals could quickly fund the preservation of withdrawn examples further public appeals followed In a short space of time 31 locomotives from a mixed fleet of 358 locomotives entered preservation to remind both enthusiasts and the public of a concept i e hydraulic transmission that had had much to offer but had been dismissed on questionable financial grounds

Great Western, Grange Class Locomotives David Maidment,2019-03-30 The renowned British railroad historian delivers a well illustrated account of the rationale behind Collett s construction of this 80 strong class West Somerset Railway Association English railway engineer George Jackson Churchward proposed a 5ft 8in wheeled 4 6 0 for mixed traffic duties in 1901 and it was seriously considered in 1905 but it took until 1936 before his successor Charles Collett realized the plan by persuading the GWR Board to replace many of the 43XX moguls with modern standard mixed traffic engines that bore a remarkable likeness to the Churchward proposal David Maidment has written another in his series of Locomotive Portfolios for Pen enthusiasts for whom these capable machines are favorites will definitely want this volume on the bookshelf Railway Modeller
