Vying for Truth - Theology and the Natural Sciences Hans Schwarz,2014-06-18 The emancipation of the natural sciences from religion was a gradual affair during the last four centuries Initially many of the leading scientists were churchmen indicating a symbiosis between faith and reason Due to the increasing specialization in the sciences this close connection came to an end often leading to antagonism and mutual suspicion This book traces this historical development with its twists and turns in both Europe and North America It depicts the major players in this story and outlines their specific contributions The main focus is on the 19th and 20th centuries with figures such as Darwin and Hodge but also Beecher and Abbott in the 19th century In the 20th century the narrative starts with Karl Barth and moves all the way to Hawking and Tipler Special attention is given to representatives from North America Great Britain and Germany In conclusion important issues are presented in the present day dialogue between theology and the natural sciences The issue of design and fine tuning is picked up and advances in brain research Finally technological issues are assessed and the status of medicine as a helpmate for life is discussed An informative and thought provoking book

The Routledge Handbook of Religious Literacy, Pluralism, and Global Engagement Chris Seiple, Dennis R. Hoover, 2021-12-27 This pioneering handbook proposes an approach to pluralism that is relational principled and non relativistic going beyond banal calls for mere tolerance The growing religious diversity within societies around the world presents both challenges and opportunities A degree of competition between deeply held religious worldview perspectives is natural and inevitable yet at the same time the world urgently needs engagement and partnership across lines of difference None of the world s most pressing problems can be solved by any single actor and as such it is not a question of if but when you partner with an individual or institution that does not think act or believe as you do The authors argue that religious literacy defined as a dynamic combination of competencies and skills continuously refined through real world cross cultural engagement is vital to building societies and states of neighborly solidarity and civic fairness Through examination reflection and case studies across multiple faith traditions and professional fields this handbook equips scholars and students as well as policymakers and practitioners to assess analyze and act collaboratively in a world of deep diversity The Open Access version of this book available at www.taylorfrancis.com has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives 4.0 license
