Derrett,2023-10-09 Matthew's Bible M. J. J. Menken,2004 What type of Old Testament text did Matthew use as editor of his Gospel On the one hand the editorially inserted fulfilment quotations with their peculiar textual form may be expected to represent Matthew s biblical text On the other hand the remaining OT quotations are mainly Septuagintal and it is often assumed that Matthew reinforced the Septuagintal character of the quotations which he found in his sources In the first part of this study the fulfilment quotations are examined Their textual form is best explained as a Septuagint text that was revised to make it better agree with the Hebrew and to improve the quality of its Greek the evangelist took these quotations from a continuous text In the second part Matthew s remaining OT quotations are investigated If Matthew borrows quotations from his sources he does not adjust them to the LXX but he simply copies them or edits them in his usual way if he inserts quotations into his sources he makes use of his revised Septuagint On the whole this revised Septuagint seems to have been Matthew s Bible All Wonders in One Sight Theresa M. Ollenburger,1987-07-01 While previous research has illuminated the origins and development of the Zion tradition this book is the first to make a thorough study of Zion as a theological symbol within the larger Jerusalem cult tradition Drawing primarily on the Psalms and Isaiah of Jerusalem Ollenburger shows that Zion serves pre eminently to symbolize the kingship of Yahweh on Zion as creator and defender of world order As such Zion serves also to symbolize security and refuge particularly for the poor This study constitutes a powerful argument against the tendency of Old Testament theologians to devalue the cosmic Zion symbolism in favour of the historical theology of the exodus especially when assessing the contemporary import of Old Testament theology Zion
