The Future of Coptic Studies R. MCL. Wilson, 2023-07-10 Stability, Variation and Change of Word-Order Patterns over Time Rosanna Sornicola, Erich Poppe, Ariel Shisha-Halevy, 2000-12-21 The issue of permanence and change of word order patterns has long been debated in both historical linguistics and structural theories The interest in this theme has been revamped by contemporary research in typology with its emphasis on correlation or harmonies of structures of word order as explicative principles of both synchronic and diachronic processes The aim of this book is to stimulate a critical reconsideration of perspectives and methods in the study of continuities and discontinuities of word order patterns Bringing together contributions by specialists of various theoretical backgrounds and with expertise in different language families or groups Caucasian Hamito Semitic and among Indo European Hittite Greek Celtic Germanic Slavonic Romance the book addresses issues like the notions of stability variation and change of word order and their interrelations the interplay of syntactic and pragmatic factors and the role of internal and external factors in synchronic and diachronic dynamics of word order The book contains a selection of papers presented at a workshop held at the XIII International Conference on Historical Linguistics D sseldorf August 1997 and additional invited contributions

The Japanese Copula T. Narahara, 2002-08-21 In this innovative study Professor Narahara offers a multi disciplinary description of the Japanese copula revealing it to be at the interface of morphology syntax semantics and pragmatics Most striking is her discovery of the copula s function to express the speaker s knowledge or ignorance about the proposition of the sentence She provides a new morphological feature analysis to derive this modal function and further proposes a series of unified accounts for a wide range of discourse phenomena

Elam Elizabeth Carter, Matthew W. Stolper, 1984 Haoma and Harmaline David Stophlet Flattery, Martin Schwartz, 1989-01-01 Intransitive Predication Leon Stassen, 2003 This book investigates cross linguistic variation in one of the core domains of all natural languages Leon Stassen views this domain as a cognitive space the topography of which is the same for all languages It is assumed to consist of four subdomains which correspond to a four way distinction between the semantic classes of event predicates property predicates class predicates and locational predicates The book offers a typology of the structural manifestations of this domain in terms of the nature and number of the formal strategies used in its encoding The author discusses a number of abstract principles which can be employed in explaining the cross linguistic variation embodied by the typology In the final chapter he brings together the research results in a universally applicable model which can be read as a flow chart for the encoding of intransitive predications in different language types

Crossroad Gertie Englund, 1986 Coptic Bibliography, 1992 Syntactic and Lexico-semantic Aspects of the Legal Register in Ramesside Royal Decrees Arlette David, 2006 Analysis of the legal register of a corpus of some fifty Ramesside royal decrees dating from 1300 to 1100 B C in the wider context of forensic discourse analysis of the legislative genre in an attempt to establish constants in forensic linguistics that span time and space The general character and formulation of these normative documents reveal a remarkable homogeneity and represent a specific linguistic register that has a common textemic pragmatic and narratologic structure as well as a coherent syntactic and lexico semantic usage as modern legal dialects do today Furthermore the research tries to enrich the understanding of Egyptian legal terminology and legal categories by a systematic semantic analysis of the classifiers used in the legal lexicon classifiers in the hieroglyphic system represent iconic elements that have no phonetic value but assign words to semantic classes The extremely interesting Egyptian graphic categorization set of classifiers present in these texts offers some invaluable insights into the Egyptian conceptual organization system
