Agrarian structures and agrarian reform S.I. Cohen,2012-12-06 This study is an attempt to contribute to our understanding of one of the most important reforms currently advocated by development economists to reduce rural poverty in developing countries land reform Dr Cohen has based his study on models in which three social groups are acting these for brevity s sake are called land lords peasants and the groups who comprise the non agricultural sector Peasants include the so called landless peasants which western countries generally term agrarian workers The method can be extended to larger numbers of groups The actors are involved in various activities including production consumption and saving the latter being available either for physical or for financial invest ment This implies that various wealth components appear in the model alongside flows of goods and services Use is made of determinate models with linear and non linear equations of a dynamic character The models are employed to estimate socio economic development under alternative regimes Regimes differ on the one hand according to which group is in power and on the other hand according to the instruments of economic policy they use It is an attractive feature of Dr Cohen s study that the models are applied to two countries for which all the necessary statistical material has been estimated India and Chile For both countries a brief socio political sketch precedes the numerical application of the models For India five instruments of socio economic policy are considered land transfers measures to stimulate productivity credit policies taxes and tenure and wage regulations

The Political Economy of Rural Poverty M. Riad El-Ghonemy,2006-05-10 With the use of wide ranging case studies the author clearly illustrates the impact of schemes intended to re allocate land in developing countries Concluding that land reform can play a major part in stimulating rural economies this book explores the extent to which such policies can successfully reduce poverty and increase agricultural growth

El Salvador, Rural Development Study ,1998 Although El Salvador has recorded impressive overall economic growth in the 1990s during this period agricultural growth has lagged considerably below the rest of the economy which raises concerns about the long run capacity of the sector to raise incomes and employment in rural areas and contribute to overall growth The main objectives of this sector review are twofold to develop a strategy to revitalize the agricultural sector and realize its full potential for efficient and sustainable growth by enhancing competitiveness and to present the main findings of the analysis of rural poverty and develop its implications for the design of a strategy for poverty alleviation

Market-Led Agrarian Reform Saturnino Borrás Jr., Cristóbal Kay, Edward Lahiff, 2013-09-13 Three fourths of the world's poor are rural poor Most of the rural poor remain dependent on land based livelihoods for their incomes and reproduction despite significant livelihood diversification in recent years Land issue remains critical to any development discourse today Market led agrarian reform MLAR has gained prominence since the early 1990s as an alternative to state led land reforms This neoliberal policy is based on the inversion of what its proponents see as the features of earlier approaches and calls for redistribution via privatized decentralized transactions between willing sellers and willing buyers Its proponents especially those associated with the World Bank have claimed success where the policy has been implemented but such claims have been contested by independent scholars as well as by peasant movements who are struggling to gain access to land This book presents three thematic papers and six country studies The thematic papers address issues of formalisation of property rights gendered land rights and neoliberal enclosure These studies demonstrate the pervasive influence of neoliberal ideas on property rights and rural development debates well beyond the core question of land redistribution The country cases bring together experiences from Brazil Guatemala El Salvador Philippines South Africa and Egypt Common findings include the success of landowners in minimising the impact of reform and a lack of post transfer support translating into marginal impact on poverty The limitations of the market led approach and the implications of the studies presented here for the future of agrarian reform are considered in the editors introduction This book was a special issue of The Third World Quarterly

African Land Reform Under Economic Liberalisation Shinichi Takeuchi, 2021-10-10 This open access book offers unique in depth comprehensive and comparative analyses of the motivations context and outcomes of recent land reforms in Africa Whereas a considerable number of land reforms have been carried out by African governments since the 1990s no systematic analysis on their meaning has so far been conducted In the age of land reform Africa has seen drastic rural changes Analysing the relationship between those reforms and change the chapters in this book reveal not only their socio economic outcomes such as accelerated marketisation of land but also their political outcomes which have often been contrasting Countries such as Rwanda and Mozambique have utilised land reform to strengthen state control over land but other countries such as Ghana and Zambia have seen the rise in power of traditional chiefs in managing the land The comparative perspective of this book clarifies new features of African social changes which are carefully investigated by area experts Providing new perspectives on recent land reform this book will have a considerable impact on scholars as well as policymakers
