Classical Learning in Britain, France, and the Dutch Republic, 1690-1750 Floris Verhaart,2020-06-10 For much of western history the achievements of classical antiquity were seen as unsurpassable and works by Latin and Greek authors were viewed as treasure troves of information still useful for contemporary society By the late seventeenth century however the progress of scientific discoveries and the new paradigms of rationalism and empiricism meant the authority of the ancients was called into question Those working on the classical past and its literature debated new ways of defending their relevance for society The different approaches to classical literature defended in these debates explain how the writings of ancient Greece and Rome could become a vital part of eighteenth century culture and political thinking Floris Verhaart analyses these eighteenth century debates about the value of classics arguing that the Enlightenment though often seen as an age of reason and modernity in fact continuously sought inspiration from preceding traditions and ages such as Renaissance humanism and classical antiquity The volume offers an interesting parallel with the modern day in which the relationship between experts and the general public has become the topic of debate and many academics especially in the humanities face pressure to explain how their work benefits society at large Inventing the Louvre Andrew McClellan,1999-10-26 A narrative history of the founding of the Louvre that also explores the ideological underpinnings pedagogical aims and aesthetic criteria of this the first great national art museum The British Library General Catalogue of Printed Books 1976 to 1982 British Library,1983 The Geography of Perversion Rudi Bleys,1996-07 Exploring the

Western conceptualizations of non western patterns of same sex desire and the evolution of European attitudes to homosexuality this research particularly examines how the construction of sodomite identity was intertwined with essentialist definitions of so called racial identity

Calvin Meets Voltaire Jennifer Powell McNutt,2016-04-15 In 1754 Voltaire one of the most famous and provocative writers of the period moved to the city of Geneva Little time passed before he instigated conflict with the clergy and city as he publicly maligned the memory of John Calvin promoted the culture of the French theater and incited political unrest within Genevan society Conflict with the clergy reached a fever pitch in 1757 when Jean d Alembert published the article Gen ve for the Encyclop die Much to the consternation of the clergy his article both castigated Calvin and depicted his clerical legacy as Socinian Since then little has been resolved over the theological position of Calvin s clerical legacy while much has been made of their declining significance in Genevan life during the Enlightenment era Based upon a decade of research on the sources at Geneva s Archives d tat and Biblioth que de Gen ve this book provides the first comprehensive monograph devoted to Geneva s Enlightenment clergy Examination of the social political theological and cultural encounter of the Reformation with the Enlightenment in the figurative meeting of Calvin and Voltaire brings to light the life work and thought of Geneva s eighteenth century clergy In addition to examination of the convergence with the philosophes prosopographical research uncovers clerical demographics at work Furthermore the nature of clerical involvement in Genevan society and periods of political unrest are considered along with the discovery of a Reasonable Calvinism at work in the public preaching and liturgy of Genevan worship This research moves Geneva s narrative beyond a simplistic paradigm of decline and secularization offers further evidence for a revisionist understanding of the Enlightenment s engagement with religion and locates Geneva s clergy squarely in the newly emerging category of the Religious Enlightenment Finally the significance of French policy from the Revocat

Nature and Culture Lester G. Crocker,2019-12-01 Originally published in 1963 Perhaps the most generative ethical question of eighteenth century France was how to live a virtuous and happy life at the same time During the Age of Enlightenment Christianity fell out of vogue as the dominant and authoritative moral code In place of Christianity s emphasis on sin and redemption in light of a supposed afterlife present happiness became recognized as an appropriate end goal among French Enlightenment thinkers French intellectuals struggled to find equilibrium between nature a person s individual goals and needs and culture the political economic and social organization of humans for a collective good Enlightenment discourse generated a unique cultural moment in which thinkers addressed the problems of humans moral coexistence through the dichotomy of nature and culture Lester Crocker addresses these questions in an overview of ethical thought in eighteenth century France

Untheories of Fiction Mark Axelrod-Sokolov,2021-01-20 This book takes a closer look at the diversity of fiction writing from Diderot to

Markson and by so doing call into question the notion of a singular theory of fiction especially in relation to the novel Unlike Forster's approach to Aspects of the Novel which implied there is only one kind of novel to which there may be an aspect this book deconstructs how one approach to studying something as protean as the novel cannot be accomplished To that end the text uses Diderot's This Is Not A Story 1772 and David Markson's This Is Not A Novel 2016 as a frame and imbedded within are essays on De Maistre's Voyage Around My Room 1829 Machado de Assis's Posthumous Memoirs Of Braz Cubas 1881 Andr Breton's Nadja 1928 and Elizabeth Smart's By Grand Central Station I Sat Down And Wept 1945

Scientific Institutions and Practice in France and Britain, c.1700-c.1870 Maurice Crosland, 2023-05-31 This second collection of studies by Maurice Crosland has as a first theme the differences in the style and organisation of scientific activity in Britain and France in the 18th and early 19th centuries Science was more closely controlled in France notably by the Paris Academy of Sciences and the work of provincial amateurs much less prominent than in Britain The most dramatic change in any branch of science during this period was in chemistry largely through the work of Lavoisier and his colleagues the focus of several articles here and the dominance of this group caused considerable resentment outside France not least by Joseph Priestley The issue of authority in science emerges again within France under the rule of Napoleon in a study of the exceptional power exercised by the great mathematician Laplace both in theoretical science and in academic politics This exploration of organisation and power is complemented by a comparative study of the practice of early physics and chemistry and their different reliance on laboratories This raises the question of whether chemistry provided a model for later experimental work in other sciences both through the construction of pioneering laboratories and in establishing early schools of research
