excuse for reprinting it now is that so few writers in English at least have dealt with architecture from the point of view of the aesthetic spectator Our books on architecture treat of this art in the first place from the builder's and then from the religious person's standpoint but except by accident never from any other And yet one who is neither an architect nor an antiquary nor a churchman may look at a church and although he be none of these time honoured personages he nevertheless may enjoy the church with the acuteness of a physical sensation He will carry the remembrance of it with him and reviving his emotion in tranquillity will delve and delve until he fancies he has had a glimpse into the cause of his pleasure Being this kind of mere spectator I spent happy years as a youth wandering over the length and breadth of Italy About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works
