Study Of The Manuscript Troano:

A Study Of The Manuscript Troano Cyrus Thomas, Diego de Landa, 2025-05-22 A Study Of The Manuscript Troano Volume 5 delves into the intricacies of one of the most significant surviving documents of Mayan civilization This work offers insights into the glyphs and symbols contained within the Troano Manuscript also known as the Madrid Codex The study contributed to by Cyrus Thomas and drawing on the work of Diego de Landa explores the potential meanings and cultural context of this ancient text The book presents a detailed examination of the manuscript s content providing researchers and enthusiasts with a valuable resource for understanding Mayan writing and culture This volume serves as a critical piece in the ongoing effort to decipher and interpret the rich historical legacy of the Mayan people Discover the secrets held within the pages of the Manuscript Troano and gain a deeper appreciation for the intellectual achievements of this remarkable civilization This work has been selected by scholars as being culturally important and is part of the knowledge base of civilization as we know it This work was reproduced from the original artifact and remains as true to the original work as possible Therefore you will see the original copyright references library stamps as most of these works have been housed in our most important libraries around the world and other notations in the work This work is in the public domain in the United States of America and possibly other nations Within the United States you may freely copy and distribute this work as no entity individual or corporate has a copyright on the body of the work As a reproduction of a historical artifact this work may contain missing or blurred pages poor pictures errant marks etc Scholars believe and we concur that this work is important enough to be preserved reproduced and made generally available to the public We appreciate your support of the preservation process and thank you for being an important part of keeping this knowledge alive and relevant A Study of the Manuscript Troano Cyrus Thomas, D. G. Brinton, 2013-12 An excerpt from the beginning of the first chapter THIS manuscript was found about the year 1866 at Madrid Spain by the Abb Brasseur de Bourbourg while on a visit to the library of the Royal Historical Academy and named by him Manuscript Troano in honor of its possessor Don Juan de Tro y Ortolano So far as I am aware nothing more is known in reference to its history we are not even informed by its last owner where or how he obtained it In ordinary cases this would be sufficient to arouse our suspicions as to its genuineness but in this case the work itself is sufficient to dispel all such suspicions a fact which will become apparent to the reader before reaching the end of the present paper This work was reproduced in facsimile by a chromolithographic process by the Commission Scientifique du Mexique under the auspices of the French Government Brasseur being the editor The original is written on a strip of Maguey paper about 14 feet long and 9 inches wide the surface of which is covered with a white paint or varnish on which the characters and figures are painted in black red blue and brown It is folded fan like into thirty five folds presenting when these are pressed together the appearance of an ordinary octavo volume The hieroglyphics and figures cover both sides of the paper forming seventy pages the writing and painting of the figures having been executed apparently after the paper was folded so that this does not interfere with the writing The facsimile edition is divided into two parts paged separately the first part containing thirty five pages or plates numbered with simple Roman numerals from I to XXXV the second with Roman numerals accompanied by a star thus XII but this part has only thirty four pages numbered I to XXXIV the first plate which appears to be as Brasseur has designated it the title page is not numbered The two parts I presume are made to correspond with the two sides of the original the title page being at the end of one side and forming the page on the first fold The lines and columns of written characters are uniformly black some of the numeral characters red others black the pictorial portions are usually red brown or blue but occasionally varied with black and often simply outline figures The background of the compartments or spaces on which the figures are painted is usually white but in some cases it is blue in others brown or red Several of the plates are more or less damaged all of the imperfections as it is claimed being reproduced in the facsimile edition
