Studying School Subjects A Guide:

Studying School Subjects Ivor F. Goodson, Colin J. Marsh, 2005-08-04 School subjects and how they are viewed and positioned within education is the focus of this text. It argues that as part of rethinking the whole school curriculum there has been a failure to look at the historical and social background of school subjects. Studying School Subjects Ivor F.

Goodson, Colin J. Marsh, 2005-08-04 First published in 1996 Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis, an information company.

Handbook of Historical Studies in Education Tanya Fitzgerald, 2020-04-03 This book offers an in-depth historiographical and comparative analysis of prominent theoretical and methodological debates in the field. Across each of the sections, contributors will draw on specific case studies to illustrate the origins, debates, and tensions in the field and overview new trends, directions, and developments. Each section includes an introduction that provides an overview of the theme and the overall emphasis within the section. In addition, each section has a concluding chapter that offers a critical and comparative analysis of the national case studies presented. As a Handbook, the emphasis is on deeper consideration of key issues rather than a more superficial and broader sweep. The book offers researchers, postgraduate and higher degree students, as well as those teaching in this field, a definitive text that identifies and debates key historiographical and methodological issues. The intent is to encourage comparative historiographical perspectives of the nominated issues that overview the main theoretical and methodological debates and to propose new directions for the field. The Making of Geography as a Secondary School Subject John Mortimer, Tom O'Donoghue, 2021-06-02 No work has ever been produced previously that shows how historically geography has been constructed as a subject for the senior years of secondary schooling in Western Australia from 1917 to 1997. In doing so, this book contributes to the existing corpus of international research on the history of curriculum and particularly the history of geography as a senior secondary school subject. Much of it is based on primary sources including the textbooks and atlases used along with syllabus manuals and geography examination papers. It also provides a framework for investigating the construction of senior secondary school geography curricula in other constituencies and could act as a model for engaging in further research in curriculum history for other school subjects state-wide, nationally, and internationally. The book also makes an important contribution to the fields of curriculum design, curriculum development, and curriculum innovation. It will be of great interest to historians of education, comparative educationists, education leaders, policy makers, and librarians. The School Textbook William E.

Marsden, 2013-01-11 A study of the school textbook grounded in historical and comparative perspectives. The approach is broadly chronological, revealing changes in the theory and practice of textbook production and use. The book focuses largely on three associated subjects: geography, history, and social studies. Integrating Critical and Contextual Studies in Art and Design Jenny Rintoul, 2016-11-18 Integrating Critical and Contextual Studies in Art and Design examines the relationship between two aspects of art education that appear at times inseparable or even indistinguishable and at others isolated and in conflict Critical and Contextual Studies CCS and studio practice Underpinned by international contexts this book is rooted in British art and design education and draws upon contemporary case studies of teaching and learning in post compulsory settings in order to analyse and illustrate identities and practices of CCS and its integration The chapters in this book are divided into three sections that build on one another Discourse and debate Models types and tensions and Proposals and recommendations Key issues include knowledge hierarchies and subject histories and identities constructions of theory and the symbiotic relationship between theory and practice models and practices of CCS within current post compulsory British art and design education the reification of ubiquitous terms in the fields of art and design and of education intuition and integration approaches to curriculum integration including design and management and suggestions for integrating CCS in art and design courses including implications for pedagogy and assessment Integrating Critical and Contextual Studies in Art and Design offers a comprehensive analysis of the current drive towards integration within art education and elucidates what we understand by the theory and practice of integration It explores the history theory teaching and student experience of CCS and will be of interest to lecturers teachers and pedagogues involved in art and design as well as researchers and students of art education List of Courses of Study for Elementary and Secondary Schools, 1930-1935 Edith A.
